President Works on '62 Talk

Readying Jan. 10 Congress Message

PALM BEACH, Fa. (AP)—President Kennedy gave priority today to work on his State of the Union Message, with Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman joining the conference sessions.

The President, basking in the warm sun of his seaside White House, continued a hoiday schedule of relaxation, conferences and hospital visits to his ailing 73-year-old father.

$3 Billion Increase

Advisers here let it be known Wednesday that work has been concluded on the 1963 budget, that Kennedy has approved it and that it is balanced. It is expected to be in the neighborhood of $92 billion, about $3 billion above this year.

Today, the President turned to the important State of the Union Message which he personally will deliver to Congress shortly after it convenes on Jan. 10.

Pierre Salinger, White House press secretary, said Kennedy probably will spend the rest of the week working on this review of the nation's progress in the past year, both foreign and domestic. It also traditionally includes a prediction of what may lie ahead.

Dillon Joins Talks

Five top-level advisers have been sitting in on the daily sessions with Kennedy. The latest was secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon, who drove here Wednesday from his winter home at nearby Hobe Sound.

After looking in on the elder Kennedy, whose illness has been the center of family attention during this holiday season, the President returned for his own year-end medical check-up.

Dr. Preston Wade, a New York specialist, reported the health of the President, 44, was generally excellent and that his troublesome back condition had improved. But he added that Kennedy will have to wait several months more before he can once again resume vigorous physical activity, such as playing golf.

Back Progress Good

And, said Dr. Wade, the President "must expect to experience, as do all people with similar back troubles, ups and downs and occasional setbacks."

Dr. Wade said the exercises Kennedy has carried on in the past 2½ months have made his back much stronger than it was last summer, and he is "making good progress."

Guilty Plea Is Made by Man in $817,000 Swindle

NEW YORK (AP)—Samuel Rubin, accused of mushrooming a forged $10,000 promissory note into an $817,000 swindle, pleaded guilty Wednesday to three counts of grand larceny.

General Sessions Court Judge George Postel released Rubin, 49, in $5,000 bail pending sentencing Feb. 16. Rubin could get up to 10 years on each count. Asst. Dist. Atty. Leonard Newman had described Rubin as cooperative with investigators.

Rubin's first forged note, for $10,000, occurred in 1945 while he was working for a commercial finance company.

During the next 15 years, the state said, Rubin poured more than $10 million in false notes through a bank account he had set up as a cover.

Principal victims of Rubin's operations were the Chemical Bank New York Trust Co. branch at Broadway and 38th st., which lost $475,000. Other losers were listed as Pam & Co., 370 Seventh Ave., and Cohen-Manheimer Co., 131 W. 30th St., both commercial finance concerns, $47,656 each. Stockholders in Rubin's firms were said to be out $249,288.

Rubin told authorities he always hoped to cover any larcenies with profits of his legitimate businesses, but he added, "I never quite did."

Rubin resided with his wife in a $90,000 home in Atlantic Beach, N.Y. The couple have a married daughter and a son in college.

Last October Rubin, learning that the Chemical Bank was thinking of reviewing all its notes,

VOLUNTEERS ACT TO SAVE HOME — Volunteer firemen of Rifton, St. Remy and Tillson fire companies work furiously Wednesday afternoon to extinguish a fire in the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Duffy and their eight children on Main Street, Rifton. According to Capt. Roy Melbert, the home was heavily damaged and much of the furniture and clothing were destroyed. The home was empty at the time. Duffy was at work and Mrs. Duffy and the children were visiting. An appeal for food and clothing brought almost instant response from neighbors and other Ulster County residents. The family is living in temporary quarters at Rifton Firehouse. (Lakeside photo). Other photo on page 12.

10 Homeless After Fire At Rifton

A Rifton family of 10 was made homeless Wednesday afternoon when flames swept through their 11-room house at Main and Market Streets, virtually destroying the lower floor and causing severe smoke and water damage to the upstairs area.

Mr. and Mrs. John Duffy and eight children: Eileen 16, Ralph 14, Kathleen 12, Michael 11, Mary Anne 7, John 5, Maureen 4, and baby Susan aged one year, are staying in temporary quarters at Rifton Firehouse until they can find a place to live.

Mrs. Duffy told the Freeman that she has received many offers of food, clothing and in some instances money. She said offer of at least one place to live has been made, but she doesn't expect to contact the person until this evening. Among those sending food to the stricken Duffys was the Kingston Lions Club. Duffy is a truck driver for Forst Packing Company, Inc., 113 Abeel Street, here.

Family Out at Time

According to Mrs. Duffy, the family was away when the fire started in the living room near the Christmas tree, about 1:45 p. m. She added that firemen hadn't definitely decided just what caused the blaze, which swept through the five rooms on the first floor of the two-story structure, destroying the interior and contents. She added that the six rooms on the second floor were badly damaged by smoke and water.

Firemen under the direction of Acting Chief Harold Bailey fought the flames. Rifton Vols were assisted by apparatus and men from Tillson and St. Remy.

Rocky Has Door Open For Presidential Bid

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Gov. Rockefeller is keeping a door open for a possible bid for the Republican nomination for president in 1964.

At the same time, he is beginning a formal campaign with a declaration that his sole object is "re-election as governor of the state."

Gives His Views

From what he said at a news conference Wednesday, Rockefeller is entering his campaign for re-election on the premise that:

1. Voters will re-name him governor on the basis of his record.

2. They would have no objection and would even encourage him if he later had an opportunity to win the presidential nomination.

3. A pledge to serve a full, four-year term is therefore unnecessary to win next year.

Plan for 6 Hours

The governor discussed his political future at a joint news conference with several other Republican leaders after a six-hour conference at which they began planning the 1962 campaign.

Rockefeller said this three-year record included economic expansion that produced more jobs, record public works construction and higher state aid to education.

The 1962 Republican state convention would be held in Buffalo, Syracuse, Rochester or Utica, Rockefeller said. No date was given.

Jury Convicts 11 In Heroin Ring; Feb. Sentencing

NEW YORK (AP)—Eleven defendants in a $150 million international narcotics smuggling conspiracy trial have been convicted.

A federal court jury had deliberated over a two-day period before returning its verdict last night. Judge William B. Herlands ordered all 11 held without bail pending sentencing Feb. 1.

10-Year Activity

The 11 men were accused of being members of a ring which smuggled heroin into this country in the last 10 years.

Before sentencing, Judge Herlands said, he will conduct a hearing on the same date on the question of whether wiretapping

Two Local Youths Die In Crash

Senor, Fiore Are In Trailer Mishap

Two Kingston youths, heading homeward after the Kingston-Mont Pleasant basketball game Wednesday night in Schenectady, were killed early today when a big tractor-trailer rammed into the rear of their disabled car on the Thruway between Catskill and Saugerties.

State police identified the dead boys as Charles Edward Senor, 18, son of Jacob and Alma Senor of 35 Grove Street and Peter Fiore Jr., son of Peter and Edna Fiore Sr. of 71 Lindsley Avenue. Peter would have been 18 next month.

Truck Driver Critical

The truck driver, Francis DiDonna, 36, of 22 William Street, Seneca Falls, is in critical condition in Greene County Memorial Hospital, Catskill, with a compound fracture of the arm, severe shock, lacerations and abrasions and severe scalp injuries.

The Senor boy died of a fractured skull and a fractured neck, while the Fiore boy's death was due to a skull fracture, Coroner Henry Millspaugh of Catskill, reported.

According to Sgt. W. E. Ebel of Kingston Thruway barracks, the double tragedy occurred about 1:15 a. m. today at the 106 mile post on the southbound lane of the Thruway, almost eight miles south of the Catskill interchange, in Greene County.

Apparently Out of Gas

He said the two boys apparently ran out of gasoline and stopped, and the tractor-trailer plunged into them. The terrific impact wrecked the automobile. The big van jackknifed and the corner of the trailer ripped the cab from the tractor, wrecking it. DiDona's log books and wallet were hurled into the snow and state troopers were some time finding them.

The body of the Fiore boy, the sergeant said, was found lying in front of the wrecked automobile, while that of Senor was wedged in the trunk of the vehicle along with a smashed empty gasoline can. He said it took several hours to remove the body of the Senor boy from the wreckage.

Traffic Held Up 5 Hours

Traffic, the sergeant added, was tied up almost five hours

Civil Service Plan Is 12 PC; Police, Firemen Make Separate Bids

Radel Budget Would Raise City Taxes

$3.28 Thousand, $12,000 Library Cut

Hearing Wednesday night on the 1962 city budget fixing $2,555,664.74 to be raised by taxes and a tax rate of $63.38 per $1,000 assessed valuation, revealed that bids for departmental pay raises are left for consideration by the administration of mayor-elect John J. Schwenk.

The hearing, as it did in the airing of this year's budget, dealt largely with the sum listed for the Kingston City Library, which is some $12,000 less than the total allowed for 1961.

Mayor Edwin F. Radel's reply to a bid by Francis T. Arguiewicz, as president-elect of the Kingston Uniformed Firemen's Association, Local 461, for consideration of its Career Incentive Plan, revealed that all requests for salary increases are to be dealt with by the in-coming administration.

Has File of Requests

The mayor said he has a file of requests for pay boosts which are to be left with Mayor-elect John J. Schwenk and the 1962 Common Council for consideration.

These, it was learned today, include a general bid from civil service employes for a 12 per cent increase, with separate "plan" bids from the police and fire departments.

Spokesmen for the library, including members of its board of trustees, emphasized the need for providing the $32,000 asked for, instead of the $22,000 provided in the 1962 budget. The 1961 library budget was $34,005.93.

Rate $3.28 Higher

The 1962 tax rate, as fixed last week, is $3.28 higher than the $60.10 rate in 1961.

The nine items listed totaled $116,000. They included as increases over 1961 of $31,600 in the retirement fund; $6,000 in social security; $13,000 in the fire department, $3,000 in the police department, $2,000 for refuse collection; $22,666 for snow removal due to last winter's heavy snow, plus $15,000 in the regular snow removal fund; $20,000 due to damage by Hurricane Donna, and $3,500 for repair of a broken steam line in the municipal heating system.

There were other lesser additional sums, he said. Last winter's snow removal cost was actually $67,000, but under a plan permitted by the state, it may be paid in installments, and the city's share for 1962 is $22,666

Asks for More

Bids for an increased library budget were made by J. R. Shults, who heads the library board, its trustees, Attorney Hugh R. Elwyn, Chester A. Baltz Jr. former Mayor Frederick H. Stang, and several others, including Harry M. Thayer, general manager of Radio Station WGHQ.

The hearing, which drew an attendance of some 50 persons, including heads of city departments, ended with no specific complaints against the $3.28 tax rate increase.

Schwenk Attends

Mayor-elect John J. Schwenk attended, but did not speak. Among city department heads attending were: Police Chief Robert F. Murphy, Fire Chief James M. Brett; City Assessor James D. Devine; City Treasurer Orrie R. Riehl; City Clerk Raymond A. McAndrew; Public Works Superintendent Charles J. Cole; Building Inspector Joseph F. Smith; Recreation Superintendent Andrew J. Murphy 3rd and Elmore C. Yallum, planning board chairman.

J. R. Shults, who indicated he will not again be president of the library's board of trustees, held that the city actually needs a better library than it has, and he failed to see how the library could function on a budget of $22,000.

Shults emphasized the comparative library budgets and per capita cost for operation in Newburgh, Poughkeepsie and Ellenville, and copies of a full report on the library's finances were passed out to the audience.

Makes Comparisons

Newburgh ,it was noted, with a population of 30,979, has a library budget of $74,723 and a per capita cost of $2.41. Poughkeepsie, with a population of 38,330, has a library budget of $116,327 and a per capita cost of $3.03, and at Ellenville, with a population of 5,003, the library budget is $39,783 with a per capita cost of $7.95. Kingston, with a population of 29,260, has a library budget of $22,000 and a per capita cost of 75 cents.

Attorney Elwyn said he was sympathetic with the desire to cut taxes, but he felt it should

Suspend Cop In Probe of Shakedown

NEW YORK (AP)—Police Captain Vincent J. Mansfield, 43, has been suspended and ordered to appear before a grand jury on complaints that he shook down merchants for Christmas gifts and chiseled money from policemen under his command.

He is accused of telling members of his command that he would overlook infractions of regulations if they paid him.

While under investigation, Mansfield submitted an application for retirement to be effective Friday. This will be held in abeyance until the charges have been disposed of.

Mansfield's suspension from his $10,581-a-year job was announced Wednesday night by Police Commissioner Michael J. Murphy.

Disputes GOP Contention Of Congress Conservatism

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., disputed today Republican contententions that a wave of conservatism threatens administration programs in Congress.

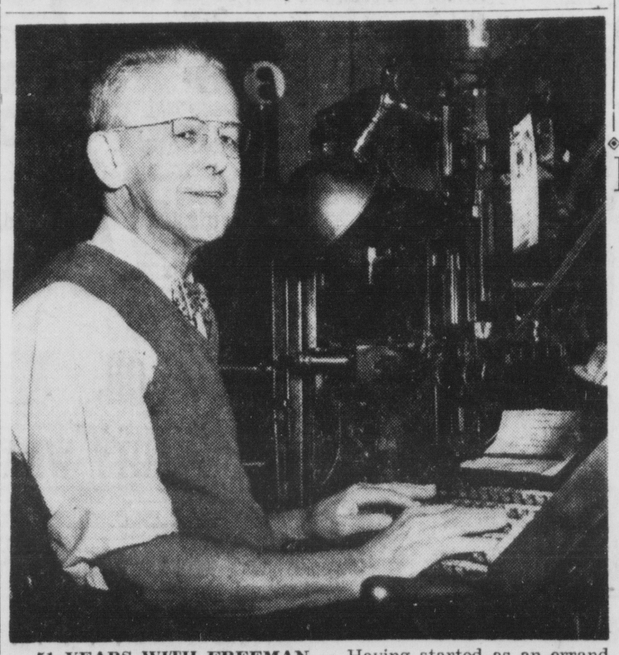

Mansfield, the Senate Democratic leader, said in an interview his travels during the recess of Congress have convinced him the country "is still on the middle road, politically, and is going neither to the extreme right nor the extreme left."

"There is a need and a place for conservatives in our scheme of political things," he said. "But I would separate the real conservatives from the extreme right wingers who feel that they have the only answers to our problems —those who insist on dealing in black and white when all the world's problems are gray."

Senate Repubican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois told a news conference Wednesday he agrees with House Republican Leader Charles A. Halleck of Indiana that there is a revival of conservatism which could affect Democratic control of Congress in next year's elections.

Halleck previously had said a

51 YEARS WITH FREEMAN — Having started as an errand boy with The Kingston Daily Freeman at the age of 15, Edward J. Perry, a linotype operator, finishes his last story and retires after 51 years and two months Wednesday. He holds the record of being the youngest man to retire from the company with the most years of service. (Freeman photo).

Edward Perry Retires From 51 Years as Freeman Printer

An employe who spent 51 years with the Freeman publishing Company retired Wednesday at the end of the working day.

Edward Steeger, president of Local 322, Kingston Typographical Union, presented him with a gift in cash from the organization.

It was an occasion for sentimentality, and Mr. Perry thanked his co-workers, but stressed that he was "sort of lost for words at a time like this."

Making a tour of The Freeman plant earlier in the day, he said he would have many fond memories for the future. His plans? "I'm just going to take it easy."

Mr. Perry joined The Freeman as an errand boy. The plant was in a portion of the present Cornell Building on Ferry Street. "When it went to the present address 1-3 Broadway, I followed right along," he said.

Moving up as time passed, Mr. Perry learned the printing trade and is familiar with every phase of it.

First he was with the job department which did commercial printing, including books, and legal documents.

When the job department gave way to an expanding newspaper circulation and was discontinued, Mr. Perry became a compositor on the paper and was a linotype operator at the time of retirement.

"I've seen many changes in the Commission Convenes

Wagner Assails School-Aid Plan, Urges Revision

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The state's Diefendorf Commission met today to receive reports of its study of state aid to education in the wake of a renewed demand by New York City's mayor for a new formula for distributing the aid.

Mayor Robert F. Wagner reiterated Wednesday his dissatisfaction with the present formula for state-aid to communities, which he termed outmoded.

He called for "an entirely new formula, based on modern knowledge and needs" as a permanent base for future appropriations.

Wagner said, "We will stand no longer for the system which allows $117 less per year per pupil in state aid for education in New York City and which allows inequities all along the line throughout the state. The time for a change is long overdue."

The state presently allocates $800 million a year in aid to education. Law prescribes that $389.40 a year be spent for elementary pupils and $486.75 for high school pupils.

Under the present system, the state pays 42 per cent of the total education costs and the local districts raise the rest themselves through property tax.

The commission, established by Gov. Rockefeller and headed by Charles H. Diefendorf, a Buffalo banker, will make recommendations to the 1962 Legislature on the state aid to education formula.

Trial Is Ordered On Lottery Rule Concerning Bingo

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—A State Supreme Court justice has ordered a trial next month to determine the validity of a State Lottery Commission rule against the running of bingo games more than three times a week in one hall.

A stay on the enforcement of the rule was continued Wednesday by Justice Russell G. Hunt, who acted on a move by 19 New York City veterans' organizations which sought an injunction against the commission.

The rule was issued by the commission last June, in an apparent attempt to prevent profit-making enterprises from capitalizing on renting halls to charitable groups.

At a September hearing on the motion by the 19 organizations, Hunt accused the commission of "trying to do by indirection what you are afraid to do directly."

Presiding at the January term of court will be Justice Kenneth S. MacAffer.

Staatsburg Water Rates Going Up

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The Staatsburg Water Co. has Public Service Commission approval today to raise its rates by an estimated $5,950 annually to meet increased operating costs and taxes.

Effective January 1, the minimum rates charged unmetered customers will be increased from $4.75 to $6.30 each quarter. Minimum quarterly rates of metered customers will increase from $6.75 to $9.90.

The company reported an operating loss of more than $1,500 for 1960 to the PSC.

No Carrier Service After January 13 Where Dogs Bite

By LOUIS G. PANOS

WASHINGTON (AP) — Unless you have one that's really sure-fire, don't bother to send the Post Office Department any ideas for solving its dog-bite problem.

It has enough. They've been streaming in ever since the department announced last month that it would change its policy on dogs with a yen for mailmen's shank.

The present policy of warning the offending dog's owner—by mail—was adopted three years ago after more than 6,000 carriers reported canine attacks in 1957.

The Post Office said today its new policy, under which the owner will be telephoned to pick up his own mail, will become effective Jan. 13.

But the mailmen's plight caught the imagination of many concerned and inventive citizens and of many who apparently don't much care for dogs. They came up with batches of suggestions, most of them urging the use of special equipment ranging from bats to cats.

A Valier, Mont., man preferred the subtle approach. Give the carrier a cat, he suggested. When the dog attacks, turn the cat loose and "while the dog is chasing the cat, the mailman can get his work done."

Others proposed less dramatic equipment—a water pistol filled with ammonia, a tear gas gun "which is painful but harmless," electric shock canes like those used by livestock auctioneers, dogbite-proof leather boots or even dogbite-proof pants made of aluminum thread.

But a Highland Park, Mich., man would shun these purely defensive measures in favor of the tooth-for-a-tooth philosophy. The Post Office should set up centers for dogs of its own, he said, and these should "be trained to attack any dog attacking a postman."

As in any great pubic debate, even the experts clashed.

But a carrier in Jamaica, N.Y., rebelled in rhyme:

"There was a mailman in Frankfort
"Who fed dogs more than he ort.
"He tendered a strudel
"To a friendly poodle,

Pathologist Is Cleared of Acts In Weiner Case

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—A committee within the Philadelphia County Medical Society has cleared the city's former chief pathologist of any wrongdoing in connection with autopsy reports and testimony at the manslaughter trial of Dr. Albert L. Weiner.

The report Wednesday by the Professional Relations and Grievance Committee stated "there is no evidence that Dr. Campbell improperly altered or falsified any of the autopsy reports in the case of Joseph Brooks."

Campbell was fired Dec. 1 after he testified at Weiner's trial in Camden, N.J. Weiner was convicted of 12 counts of manslaughter in the alleged serum hepatitis deaths of patients. Brooks was one of Weiner's patients.

Campbell has appealed his dismissal from the $22,049-a-year post to the Civil Service Commission.

Katrine Man Stabs Self With Bread Knife

A Lake Katrine man, who according to state police was despondent over personal matters and stabbed himself in the diaphragm this morning in the kitchen of his home, is reported in apparently serious condition today at Kingston Hospital.

Kingston state police identified the man as Raymond Barten, 40, of Dogwood Lane. BCI Senior Investigator Edward Shannon reported that Barten stabbed himself with a bread knife inflicting a wound in the diaphragm.

Barten's wife summoned Fatum Ambulance, who notified troopers at about 8 a. m. The Bartens have three children, a girl, eight, and six-year-old twin girls. Aiding in the investigation were BCI Investigator Joseph Ventriglia and Troopers Thomas J. Crowley and W. E. Wiedemann.

Did Not Reopen

After Lincoln was shot in the Ford Theater, public indignation prevented John T. Ford from reopening the theater. He sold it to the government which rebuilt it for War Department offices and storage. In 1893 the floors collapsed, killing 22 people and injuring 68.

Middle Income State Housing Largest in '61

NEW YORK (AP)—New York State in 1961 has had "the largest single middle-income housing program ever developed in any one year anywhere," State Housing Commissioner James W. Gaynor reports.

In a year-end report to Gov. Rockefeller Wednesday, Gaynor also said:

"As a result of our endeavors during the year, we now list 16,984 middle-income apartments in 30 projects valued at $299,738,653 either under construction or planned for construction in 1962."

The report said this figure was part of the aid given by the state to low-rent and middle-income housing under construction or in the planning stage, together with contributions toward urban renewal programs. This made a grand total of $511,518,653 for all the state-aided projects.

MODIFIED ENTHUSIASM

Business forecasts for 1962 remain on the optimistic side There are a number of good signs. A government bureau, for instance, predicts that auto production in the coming 12 months may exceed this year's output by nearly 25 per cent. In the steel sector, orders are heaviest since 1958. A private economic survey finds that 1962 promises to be the best year in history for American business.

These happy prospects would hardly contribute, under normal circumstances, to any unease on the part of the investing community. But recent dividend trends in the stock market give cause for some concern. Anxiety springs from a steep rise in share prices more than offset by a concomitant decline in yields.

To explain, it should be pointed out that stocks are ordinarily bought to permit the holder to participate in earnings. These earnings, as expressed in divided payments, generally run higher than the interest return possible from investment in bonds. This is the market's way of compensating for the capital risk assumed by the stockholder. But when yield figures for stocks decline, as they have recently, to a low average of 3.03 percent, market sophisticates suspect that many issues may be much over-priced. For it is hard to understand the comparison of the foregoing yield with a 3.10 per cent yield obtainable from the safest investment in the world, U.S. Treasury bonds.

This inverse yield ratio has existed before—in 1928, for instance, in the last full year of the great market boom of that decade. It is this knowledge which dampens some of the enthusiasm Wall Street feels over the coming year.

Efforts are being made to keep scientists in government service. What we need is more men skilled in the science of government.

TO BOOST PRODUCTIVITY

The old argument as to whether there should be more automation has become largely academic. Automation of industry through the use of computers and machines that do what used to be the work of men is swiftly growing. The only question now is how we can best use automation to strengthen our economy.

The importance of strengthening our economy—making it more productive, better able to compete with industry in other countries and to undergird foreign aid that will invigorate free societies abroad—cannot be over-emphasized. If the United States is to compete successfully with the burgeoning productive strength of Europe and Japan, and beat the Communist bloc in the economic race, automation is mandatory.

The reason for this, fundamentally, is that America's economic strength and high standard of living are based on high production per man-hour. The only way to retain that preeminence is to increase production. History shows that this can be done by putting more and better machines to work.

There is a big complicating factor in the rise of automation, however. As machines and electric brains assume more and more of the productive burden, serious disruption may occur in the labor force. Technological unemployment accounts for a substantial part of the nation's present high jobless total.

Any unemployment over and above a normal percentage is a deplorable waste, quite aside from the hardship it inflicts on those unemployed. Somehow, the problem of boosting productivity without fostering such waste and hardship must be solved if our economy is to be as strong as it can and ought to be. The problem is a challenge to the best minds in industry, labor and government. Only their combined efforts, made with the broad public interest in mind, can effectively meet this challenge.

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

GENERAL WALKER AND THE U.N.

In the current troubles which face the United Nations, none is more disturbing than the case of General Edwin A. Walker who has resigned from the American Army and blames the United Nations for his plight.

This comes at a time when Nehru has kicked the United Nations in parts unmentionable and left it lying bruised and weeping. General Walker, before the Nehru occurrence, said:

"Today, our relation and subordination to the United Nations puts every man signing the oath under a double standard. We are sworn to defend America but have to abide by UN decisions. Under these conditions, the oath becomes falsified and fictitious. I could no longer serve in uniform and be a collaborator with this release of our sovereignty to the UN."

This is entirely a new issue. It was assumed that the Pentagon sought to discipline General Walker because he had used permissible military indoctrination to advocate unpermissible domestic politics. On this issue men differed and Congress was to hold a hearing. But General Walker in his statement raises altogether different issues, for his accusation is that he, an American general with a notable record, was punished because the United Nations desired his punishment; that he could not reconcile his moral obligations to the United States with the demands of the United Nations. In effect, the strongest view of this statement than can be taken is that the United Nations expects the American general to betray his own country. General Walker states this in his own words, thus:

"I was not able to continue in the military service with a General's command responsibility since I could make no compromise with the oath of office after censorship had prevented me from giving my troops the training that I was responsible for."

General Walker further said:

"There is a continuous program every night from Moscow, in English, directed at our troops in Europe. The voice is called 'Moscow Molly' by the troops. Her propaganda is immoral, unscrupulous, corrupt and destructive. My responsibilities for training included off-setting this, the Overseas Weekly, and other harmful images of our country and way of life."

Most of us know nothing about this. When the Nazi or the Japanese conducted anti-American propaganda by radio to our troops, we knew all about it and articles appeared in our newspapers telling the American people about it. But there has been silence about "Moscow Molly" just as there is silence about most things anti-American that the Russians do. For some reason, our government propaganda aimed to silence her? Why Soviet Russia despite its outrageous conduct. Why ernment finds it necessary and wise to protect are we not informed about "Moscow Molly"? Why is our press silent on the subject? Why is not govdon't we have an Ivan Ivanovich to tell the Russians how vulgar Khrushchev is and how he disgraces the Russian people in the eyes of the world?

Or if we are doing jobs of this nature, why are the American people not informed? Maybe the USIA is doing a wonderful service, but we would like to be let in on it. Why does one have to wait for an angry general to issue ancient news items from Dallas, Texas, which should have come to us from Washington, or Berlin or Moscow? Our reporters have become diplomats. It is time that employes of the American people ceased to protect the Russian intrigue against the United States.

It would seem that it is policy of our government and has been since Franklin D. Roosevelt recognized Soviet Russia to keep from our people the truth about Russia lest our anger grow so violent that it make peaceful negotiations impossible. The virtue of such a policy is obviously the desire to prevent war, to maintain peace, to wait for the inevitable day when negotiations must come. On the other hand, it has given to Soviet Russia the tremendous advantage of time and opportunity which the Kremlin has understood and not neglected. This has cost us dearly.

The historical question is how much more time are we going to give the Russians. And how long will the disappointment and the anger of the American people contain itself. Should it burst forth at an unexpected time and for unrelated seasons, the damage can be enormous. Nothing is sounder than the truth.

Skin Is Wondrously Sensitive Mechanism

By HAROLD T. HYMAN, M.D.
Written for
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

As you probably know, that portion of the skin that's visible to us is not the true skin at all. It's called the epidermis because it is a covering for the true skin or dermis (epi—means on top of.)

Actually the epidermis consists entirely of layers and layers of heaped up bloodless and nerveless cells that are constantly being shed and reformed. Most of the time we're unaware of this shedding process unless we happen to pare a callus or collect flakes of what we call dandruff on a comb.

If we raise a blister and lift off the cap, we expose a bright red base that's sensitive to the touch and that bleeds easily if we irritate it. That's the true skin or dermis that contains all the working parts through which we keep in contact with the world around us.

Here's part of the inventory of a single square centimeter (2/5 by 2/5 of an inch) of the true skin:

A yard of coiled blood vessels containing perhaps some three million circulating blood cells at any given moment.

Four yards of nerve twigs ending in some 3,000 sensory cells that act as signal boxes to alert us to what's going on in the vicinity of the particular skin precinct.

Some 25 special apparatuses that let us know when the spot is touched, another dozen to make us aware that we're being exposed to heat, another pair for the registration of cold and perhaps 200 to warn us that the contact is sufficiently unpleasant or dangerous to produce pain.

Then there are about 100 sweat glands to keep the epidermis moist and a few more than a dozen oil glands (sebaceous) to keep it lubricated. Add to these, in hairy regions, some 10 hair follicles that extend deep into the loose tissue below the skin.

Finally, there's this below-skin tissue that permits our skin to have mobility and character that is lacking in the bark of a tree, the equivalent of our epidermis. The subcutaneous tissue contains fat globules that give the attractive plumpness to an infant's cheeks and the unattractive belly roll for those of us who have grown obese; muscle fibers that permit us to give expression to our emotions as when we laugh, cry, wrinkle our brows or sniff with disdain; and scattered elastic bands that make it possible for the dermis to slide over underlying bones, joints and muscle bands or to be stretched, wrinkled or lifted off when such action is necessary for its function or protection.

Washington News

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — The American Committee for Aid to Katanga Freedom Fighters, referred to in this space previously, is worth a follow-up to anyone interested in how lobby organizations get started and what makes their wheels go round.

On Saturday, Dec. 9, publisher William F. Buckley Jr., of National Review, its editor, James Burnham, and Marvin Liebman, a public relations counsel, had lunch in New York.

NATIONAL REVIEW IS ONE of the more conservative United States magazines, to put it mildly. James Burnham is best known as the author of "The Coming Defeat of Communism." Marvin Liebman has been associated with the Committee of One Million against the admission of Red China into the U.N., and similar groups.

Batting the ball around as three men do at a leisurely lunch, someone commented on the fact that an American student volunteer organization had been formed at Yale to go fight for Katanga.

If a bunch of youngsters could do that, their elders should do more and support them, the three agreed.

Thereupon was born the American Committee For Aid to Katanga Freedom Fighters. It was to have two principal objectives. One was to register opposition to the U.N. in Katanga. The other was to give moral support to Moise Tshombe.

THE THREE DRAFTED A telegram there at the table. Then they drew up a list of people to send it to, asking them to join. "I usually go to the country on weekends," says Leibman, "but this time I stayed in town to get the committee going."

The first 140 names on the list to get the telegram were of people who came immediately to mind as identifiable with conservative causes. But to this list they add the names of 40 well-known liberals whom they thought might go along for purely idealistic reasons. Not one of the 40 replied.

But 80 out of the other 140 to whom wires were sent replied, accepting membership. They include a score of writers and editors, as many professors and smaller numbers of businessmen, organization men, retired government officials.

They got four women, two ministers, Actor Adolph Menjou and two U. S. Senators, Everett M. Dirksen, R-Ill., and James O. Eastland, D-Miss. Dirksen later withdrew.

Some retired generals and editors also declined membership because the original telegraphic invitation referred to buying arms to support Katanga. The military couldn't see doing anything like that against their own country, even though they disapproved the U.N. military action.

ENOUGH MONEY CAME IN with the acceptances to pay for a full page ad in a New York morning newspaper. That got the committee some publiciy. Others groups, on their own, organized local committees to finance re-publication of the ad in eight other cities. It was to be published in the Paris edition of another New York morning newspaper.

Altogether, says promoter Liebman, in the first 10 days of their campaign they received about 2,500 letters and $10,000 in cash contributions. That was enough to finance one shipment of medical supplies to Katanga by air.

The committee has stayed away from Michel Strulens, a Belgium operating the Katanga Information Service in New York. Fortunately for the committee, he has stayed away from them and offered them nothing. This way they won't have to register with Department of Justice as agents of a foreign government.

LETTERS WERE TO GO out to 15,000 more people whose names were obtained from selected mailing lists, asking them to join and contribute.

If, after having made their protest and paid their expenses they have any money left they don't know what to do with, the present intention is to give it to Protestant and Catholic missionaries still operating in the Katanga area and to close out the committee's affairs.

Today in National Affairs

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — President Kennedy says he favors a balanced budget for next year. Does this make him a "Right-winger?"

There's a good deal of carelessness nowadays in characterizing persons with whose views one may disagree. Not so long ago the late Sen. McCarthy was accused of making blanket indictments, but somehow today this type of attack is being duplicated in some of the expressions coming from the very people who often employed the term "McCarthyism" to describe it.

Thus, a few years ago, it was vigorously asserted that each individual should be judged on the merits of what he himself said or did and that there must be no "guilt by association." Unfortunately, today some of the writers of booklets who attack "Right-wing" doctrine tend to equate those who happen to be conservative on the matter of government spending with persons who, in their misguided way, make a fetish of attacking religious groups.

Names Calling

It's a far cry from conservatism as such to the views of those who fan the flames of religious bigotry. To see them all lumped together and called "Right-wingers," with an educational foundation financing the publication of such Tommyrot —though disclaiming responsibility for the views expressed— is disheartening.

Indeed, many persons who profess to be true conservatives are bound to resent being put into the same category with those groups that happen to be exponents of some conservative issues and yet associate themselves with movements which are basically anti-Catholic or anti-Semitic. Similarly, people who are truly liberal resent being called "Leftist" because it is a word often applied to Communists.

Conservatism is said to be on the rise in America today, and it may well be that some of the persons who dislike to see this happen are seeking to discredit the movement by calling it all kinds of names. A letter which this correspondent received the other day from a reader said he finds it hard to determine what is meant by "Left Wing" or "Right Wing." He declared that anti-Communism, for instance, is either "right or wrong," and that he can't understand why people who are against communism are often referred to as "conservatives."

Various Classifications

The mishandling of such classifications is not confined to this country. It appears in press association dispatches from abroad in frequent references to "Right wingers" and "Left wingers." Facism in the 1930s in Italy and Germany was called "Rightist" and still is, whereas communism is most frequently referred to today as "Leftist." Yet there isn't any essential difference in the operation of the two ideologies—both are totalitarian and undemocratic.

This writer has read with interest the various characterizations of his own writings by critics and finds it to follow the classifications used. Thus, this correspondent favored the Roosevelt foreign policy throughout the '30s and '40s, approved the Truman decision in 1950 to intervene in Korea to repel outside aggression, applauded the Marshall Plan of aid for Europe from the hour of its inception and supported the reciprocal-tariff idea from the very day Cordell Hull launched his first proposal. Yet all this is brushed aside and the term "Right wing" is employed because of a continued opposition by this writer to Communist subversion, state socialism, and totalitarianism in any form.

If "Right wing" were to be used to denote true conservatism without associating it with the reactionary doctrines of those who don't believe the Federal government should ever intervene in the economic life of the country, then there would be something worthy in the term. Similarly, if "Left wing" merely denoted true liberalism and progressivism and didn't brand as illiberal, for instance, any vehement criticism of the courts, then "Left wing" would be an honorable term, too.

Right and Wrong

But somehow, in recent years, even criticism of the Supreme Court has been condemned as almost traitorous and as hardly to be respected as coming under the right of free speech. The Supreme Court itself was denounced most severely by Thomas Jefferson as late as 1822, but if his own words were quoted anonymously today, they would be called "extremist Right Wing."

This writer supported many of the Eisenhower policies but criticized the sending of Federal troops, instead of Federal marshals, to Little Rock in 1957. Anyone, however, who held that view about the Arkansas episode was at the time called a "Right Winger." But no less a person than Attorney General Robert Kennedy was quoted only a few months ago as saying it was a mistake to send troops to Little Rock and that, instead, Federal marshals should have been dispatched. Does this make him a "Right winger," too?

Perhaps the answer to the mixup over the terms "Right wing" and "Left wing" is to eliminate the "wing" in both classifications hereafter—for there is nothing angelic about them. Indeed, perhaps there would be less confusion if the terms "Right" and "Left" were also dropped. The adjectives "right" or "wrong" could then be substituted in appraising current issues, leaving it to the majority to render the national verdict at the polls.

Do You Remember by Sophie Miller

Since Captain Andrew Hickey, author of book, Story of Kingston first brought to my attention, the perhaps Ming dynasty, blue and white porcelain companion vases in the Kingston City Library, given by Charles L. Freer, I tried to find out more about the giver. These vases can be seen during the regular hours at the library.

I wrote to the Freer Gallery of Art of the Smithsonian Institution, Washington, D. C., and received a very interesting letter from its director along with a handsome illustrated booklet. It is strange, how a man of such achievement as Charles Freer, could be so easily forgotten in Kingston. I find nothing about him nor the vases not matter whom I approach.

They certainly never taught us in the Kingston schools in my time about such men as John Vanderlyn, the famous artist, nor about Charles L. Freer. Perhaps if Judge Clearwater had something to do with teaching us history we would have been more knowledgeable. At this moment I have a great deal of information of Mr. Freer, but nothing in connection with the vases. I found his death notice (he is buried in Kingston) and Judge Clearwater's tribute to him, and other Freeman write-ups in 1919, so perhaps he gave the vases later. All I need is the date of the gift.

The following is part of the "Founder" (of the million dollar Freer gallery) "Charles L. Freer was born in Kingston, Feb. 25, 1856, the son of Jacob R. and Phoebe Jane Townsend Freer, of French-Huguenot ancestry. His first American ancestor was one of the original patentees of New Paltz."

As a boy of 14, after having attended public school, Charles Freer went to work in a cement factory in his neighborhood. At 16 he was a clerk in the general store of John C. Brodhead at Kingston. In the same building with the store were the offices of the New York, Kingston, and Syracuse Railroad of which Col. Frank J. Hecker was the superintendent. Mr. Hecker was attracted by the ability of the young clerk and in 1873, took him into his employ, thus beginning an association that was to endure for life.

After several years of railroad work, Charles Freer went with Colonel Hecker to Detroit, where, in 1880, he took part in the organization of the Peninsular Car Works and became assistant treasurer.

Between 1880 and 1900, Mr. Freer was associated with this company and those which succeeded it. In 1900, after completing his work in the merger with the American Car and Foundry Co., he retired at the age of 44 from active business."

After 1900, to the end of his life, Mr. Freer devoted the greater part of his time and interest to the study and development of his art collections begun during the early eighties. His first field of acquisition was that of etchings and lithographs. Among the earliest objects in the present collection is the set of Whistler etchings, "Venice, Second Series," bought in 1887. A brief period of interest in Japanese prints led to the older arts of Japan—screen paintings and pottery, and later to the classic arts of China. During this period he made frequent trips to Europe, the Orient, Egypt, India, Ceylon, Java, China and Japan. Will have more in a later column.

6 Katanga Deputies Seated, Tshombe Charges War Plans

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP)—Six Katanga deputies took their seats today in the national Congo Parliament. They were expected to demand revision of the Congo's provisional constitution to relax the control the basic law gives the central government over Katanga and the other provinces.

Nine More Due

Nine more Katanga deputies were due from Elisabethville today.

Seeing the first group off from Elisabethville, Katanga President Moise Tshombe said they would hold out for a Congo confederation that would give his rich province considerable independence despite the Kitona unity pact. The central government contended the terms Tshombe put on his deputies' mission were at sharp variance with the agreement he reached a week ago with Congo Premier Cyrille Adoula.

Tshombe charged in Elisabethville today that U.N. troops are preparing for a new military offensive against Katanga and that the U.S. ambassador in Leopoldville, Edmund A. Gullion, is behind it.

Calls News Conference

Tshombe told a hurriedly called news conference that the United Nations is planning to renew hostilities if the Katanga National Assembly fails to meet Jan. 3 to discuss his agreement with Adoula.

His charges against Gullion were apparently prompted because the U.S. envoy, acting on President Kennedy's instructions, helped bring Tshombe and Adoula together at Kitona last week.

Tshombe said in his secessionist capital that the delegates were sent to bargain for a change in the Congo provisional constitution, which provides for a strong central government, and not to sit in the National Parliament.

Basis of Talks

"Our Katanga constitution is the basis of the coming Leopoldville talks," Tshombe declared. "It foresees integration in a federation or a confederation of the Congo. We still insist on a confederation."

This indicated Tshombe had sent the delegation in compliance with Article 5 of the Kitona agreement, in which he agreed "to the participation of representatives of the province of Katanga in a government commission to prepare a new constitution."

Adoula's government, however, expected the Katanga representatives in fulfillment of Article 6 of the agreement, in which Tshombe agreed "to take all measures to permit senators and deputies of Katanga Province to exercise the national functions (that is, participate in the National Parliament)."

The central government said in a communique it hopes the Katangan deputies "will participate actively in the parliamentary debates and that they will accomplish their duty until the close of the session."

The Congo's draft constitution—still to be ratified 18 months after independence—calls for a strong central government.

George Ivan Smith, senior U.N. representative in Katanga, said the Katanga Provincial Assembly will meet in Elisabethville Jan. 3 to debate the Kitona declaration.

"President Tshombe has asked us (the U.N.) to provide guarantees for the delegates during the meeting and also safe conduct privileges as they travel to Elisabethville for the session," Smith said.

Tensions Remain High

As Tshombe maneuvered, tensions remained high in Elisabethville.

Katangan gendarmes Wednesday arrested seven Swedish soldiers of the U.N. task force, charging members of Katanga's security forces had been seized since the informal cease-fire was reached a week ago.

The U.N. reacted cautiously, a spokesman declaring: "We are not taking any military action to get them (the Swedes) returned because we do not want to upset the poitical situation."

In the United States, the Kennedy administration cranked up a campaign in defense of its support of the U.N. effort to end the secession of Katanga.

Sees Danger of War

Speaking in Detroit, G. Mennen Williams, assistant secretary of state for African affairs, said if the Katanga secession becomes permanent, "there is the danger of civil war which may well degenerate into a war of genocide between different tribes in the Congo. Outside military intervention would all too probably follow."

A Negro State Department official, Deputy Assistant Secretary Carl T. Rowan, charged in a speech in Philadelphia that a pro-Katanga propagandist operating in New York had spent at least $140,000 this year getting "some extremely vocal help in dispersing a string of myths and a stream of misinformation about Katanga and the Congo."

Rowan said the propagandist was "a former Belgian civil servant, Michel Struelens, who operates out of some rather plush quarters in New York." He implied that Struelens has the backing of the European-owned Union Miniere Company, whose copper and cobalt mines in Katanga are the chief reason why the Leopoldville regime wants to end the province's secession.

Struelens was not available for comment but a spokesman for his "Katanga Information Service" said, "We are accountable to the Department of Justice and all our records are on file there."

The U.N. civilian operations staff in a report published today said some semblance of administrative order is returning to the Congo after 18 months of chaos.

Profits Went to Bring Cheer

Kindhearted Newsboy Gets Rewards for Yule Giving

KINGSPORT, Tenn. (AP) — Kingsport's "littlest Santa," the newsboy who put his profits into the Salvation Army Christmas cheer kettle, had no idea how much goodwill his deed would generate.

The 9-year-old who denied himself to give to others moved hearts across the country — and from throughout the nation gifts and financial aid are pouring in.

The lad, identified only as Gary, was noticed dropping his 2 cents profit from each paper sale into the Salvation Army kettle. When questioned, he said the Salvation Army gave his family a Christmas basket last year.

Gary, one of five children in a family of very moderate means, was the guest of the Exchange Club. He was given a bicycle and a jacket and a savings account was started in his name.

That was only the beginning.

Newspapers and radio stations throughout the nation used an Associated Press story telling of Gary's heart-warming contributions.

Good wishes and contributions for his savings account and Christmas presents for him and his family have been sent to him from throughout the United States. They were addressed to the newspaper, the Exchange Club, the Salvation Army, the Chamber of Commerce, and some bore only the address: "Gary, the newsboy, Kingsport, Tenn."

The fund for him now totals $275.

A Colorado resident sent a $50 check for the youngster's savings account and another check for $25 for his family "for having brought up a boy with such high thoughts."

A man in Fargo, N.D., sent this message, accompanied by a check: "One of the most touching human stories I've ever heard of. Please accept this check to be added to the fund building up for this unusual, remarkable boy."

And from New Brunswick, N.J., came a letter addressed to the Exchange Club, which read: "Dear Sirs, if that newsboy can go for his newspaper profit, we can certainly go for a couple of bucks for his education. Merry Christmas and happy New Year."

It contained four dollars and was signed, "four broken-down horse-players."

AF Probes Buying

VANDENBERG AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP)—The Air Force says investigators are checking reports of alleged purchasing irregularities at this West Coast missile center.

A spokesman disclosed the probe Wednesday and added that the liabilities—if established—are not expected to exceed $2,500.

Dogs Take Big Bite

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Dogs are biters in Los Angeles, with more than 6,000 victims in 1961, says the Department of Animal Regulation

But other creatures from coatis to kninkajous have also gotten in on the feast. Four persons were bitten by apes, say the statistics, with others providing the fare for ocelots and opossums.

Second and third on the list are cats and hamsters, with more than 900 and 150 victims respectively.

COMPROMISE — The Coast Guard is erecting a plywood baffle around its Point Pinos., Calif., foghorn to divert its noise and permit Pacific Grove residents to sleep again. Monterey fishermen want it to stay its own noisy self.

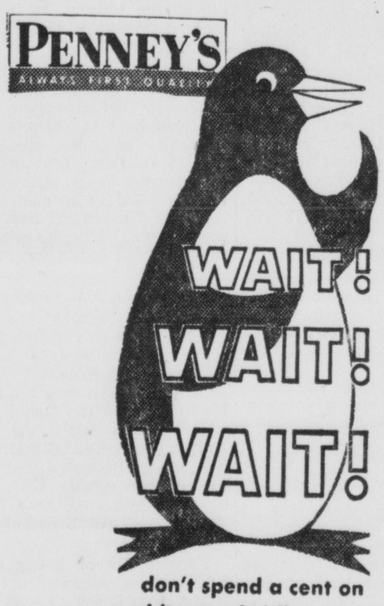

Would Reduce Term

WASHINGTON (AP) —Lawyers for Irvin C. Scarbeck, former Foreign Service officer convicted of giving U.S. secrets to Polish agents, have filed a motion asking reduction of his 30-year prison sentence. They described it as "harsh and unjust."

Scarbeck, married and the father of three, was convicted two months ago in a trial that brought out his involvement with a dark-haired Polish girl, Ursula Discher, while he was serving as second secretary to the American Embassy in Warsaw.

Book clubs of the U.S sell more than 80 million copies of books by mail annually.

Radel Leaves Pay Raises to Schwenk

Activity Increases

Elwyn said he "had not expected such treatment from this administration" which he regarded as a "friend of the library." When he first became a trustee, he said the library budget was $17,000. Since then, he noted, activity at the library has increased until now it is a "beehive of activity."

In 1961, he said, because of a "book-matching" grant, the city was not required to spend money for books. The library, he said, has a "wonderful staff" and the budget should provide for adequate pay increases. Book circulation, he emphasized, in 1961, to date, was the highest (73,000) since 1949.

Future Service Doubtful

If the library budget is left at $22,000, he held, it is doubtful if service could be maintained. The city must not go backward, but forward, in dealing with its library.

The city, said Harry M. Thayer, should consider its "intellectual health" as well as its physical. More money was provided for other departments, he noted, and even for the collection of refuse. He noted that while Kingston has four permanent library employes, Newburgh has 11 and Poughkeepsie 14.

Thayer said he felt there probably was some lack of misunderstanding in the preparation of the general city budget, perhaps because sufficient facts on the library were not provided in advance. Proper consideration of the library, he held, would bring a better standard for the city's young people.

73,000 Books Circulated

Trustee Baltz felt that many of the city's residents would be amazed at activity and improvements at the library. Work on the children's room, he said, was done by members of the staff. He could not understand, as a business man, he said, "how we can operate on the 1962 budget." He emphasized the 73,000 books circulated, the larger reference section, and the greater general use of the library. Many times, he said, "there is not an empty chair."

John P. Heitzman, retiring 12th Ward alderman, who was among several aldermen attending, said he was amazed to find when he attended the county budget hearing, that only one department head attended. At the city buudget hearing, he said, some 10 department heads were represented. This, he considered "a very good indication of interest."

Would Ask County

Heitzman recalled that some $12,000 extra was included in the 1961 budget because of past debts and was intended "to more or less get them over the hump." He noted that the Radel administration had raised the library budget sum from $17,000 to $22,000, and he proposed that Kingston, as the county seat, should move to get assistance for the library from the Board of Supervisors.

Former Mayor Stang said he had been a member of the library board for "some years," said he realized that budget-making was not easy, and added, "I've had some experience." Questions to be considered, he said, are: "Is this worth while?" "Is expansion warranted," and "Is the money being spent wisely?"

Stang said he did not feel there was a man or woman in the city who wanted "to see us or our children go backward." The library, he emphasized, was a necessity and it has "no expensive employes."

Mayor Radel said it was "not binding" upon him to comment on statements made at the hearing, but in view of some reports he felt a reply was in order.

From 1941 to 1956, he said, the library budget went from $7,500 to $13,400. This period, he noted, included four years in which Stang was mayor. In 1954, he said, the budget was raised by $300, in 1955 there was no raise, and in 1956 $1,000 was added followed by $1,500 in 1957. In his administration, Radel said, the budget was raised to $16,000 and then to $22,000.

Helped Pay Debts

The mayor noted that he had fixed the sum at $22,000 in 1961, but the aldermen, raised it by some $12,000 to cover certain indebtedness. The mayor said it was his understanding that the $12,000 was for meeting commitments, and that after that the library could "operate on regular standard." The sum fixed in the 1962 budget, he said, would not be binding upon the incoming administration.

Trustee Shults said he wanted it understood that the library board had not been profligate with funds. It had asked for $28,000, which it felt was needed in 1959, he reported, but $22,000 was approved. More had been asked for in August, he said, because of added debts, and in 1961, he said, "we stated the full case."

Mayor Radel said the 1962 budget could have been prepared by including all requested pay raises, but he chose to prepare it as a minimal basis. He said he asked department heads in presenting budgets to note proposed salary raises. His 1962 budget, as submitted, he noted, contains no provision for "general department raises."

Deficit Explained

Explaining the indicated deficit of $110,000, the mayor said his administration has been criticized for it, but it was not an actual deficit but a sum due to a change in bookkeeping procedure as required by the State Department of Auudit and Control.

The sum formerly included in debt service is now shown elsewhere. The actual deficit, the mayor noted, is $4,623. A reported $50,000 deficit, he said was made a "campaign gimmick, which apparently worked." Finally, he said, the "opposition party" agreed that the item was a matter of bookkeeping. An item of similar status during the Stang administration, he said, was for $214,000.

Alderman Edward J. Schrowang (R) First Ward, wanted to know why the estimated revenue from parking meters was still $80,000 despite the increased meter rates. The mayor said some $22,000 required for changing the meters, made it about right.

Other Speakers

Others who spoke at the hearing were Robert F. Fitzmaurice, local high school teacher, who said he was embarrassed at being there, because the need for an adequate library sum is an obvious one; Albert E. Feldman, of Fairview Avenue, who proposed an annual improvement program for the library, and Joseph Schneider, of Henry Street.

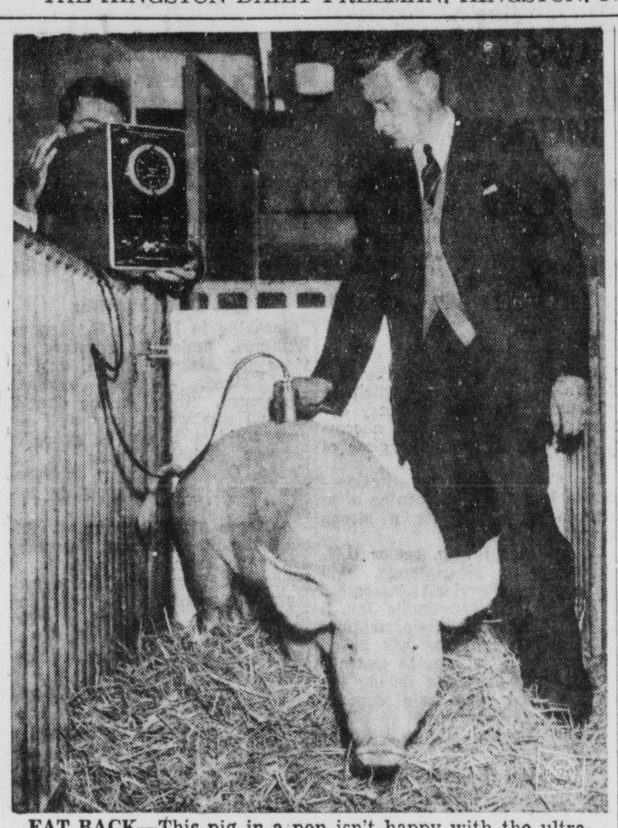

The latter said he was hopeful of arriving at the hearing and seeing all actual figures in the budget in full detail through to the end of the year. This, the mayor said, could not be done because of regular procedure in dealing with legal notices and other detail pertinent to preparation of the budget.

8 Are Employed

The library report, in listing expenses, included an item of $1,509.29 for salary increases, noting that there have been "no salary increments for two years." The library has eight employes, including a custodian, and some are not on full-time schedule.

The report also notes that Kingston is listed 39th among 42 cities, with population ranging from 20,000 to 55,000, in support given public libraries.

Kingston's 1962 general budget lists $2,826,521.10 in total appropriations with $2,555,664.74 to be raised by taxes. State and county charges listed at $659,449.30, are $3,728.18 under those for 1961. Total appropriations for 1962 are $140,867.13 above 1961, and the amount to be raised by taxes is $137,219.30 higher.

Kingston Savings Adopts 4 PC Rate

The State Banking Department on Wednesday gave permission to Mutual Savings Banks to pay the extra ¼ per cent special annual dividend on funds on deposit one year or longer (instead of two years as previously).

Kingston Savings Bank trustees immediately adopted this newest benefit for depositors. The bank anticipates paying 4 per cent a year on every dollar on deposit one year or more, effective with the quarter beginning Jan 1, 1962, with continuance of favorable earnings. Rate on deposits less than one year is anticipated at 3¾ per cent.

What's behind the 4% headlines?

All of a sudden, many banks in town are advertising four percent on savings and time deposits held for one year or more.

WHAT'S BEHIND IT?

Interest rates at commercial banks are regulated by state and federal authorities. They put a top limit on the amount of interest that the banks may pay. Recently, they raised that limit, effective January 1, 1962.

So some of the banks are increasing the interest they pay on savings and time deposits.

AND SO ARE WE.

In three ways.

One: We'll pay 4% a year at the end of each quarter on savings deposits up to $25,000 that have been in your account one year or more.

Two: We'll pay 3½% a year at the end of each quarter on savings deposits that remain in your account less than one year. Interest will be paid on a savings deposit received during the first 10 calendar days of any calendar month from the first day of such calendar month.

Three: We'll pay 4% per annum on any time deposit having a maturity date 12 months or more after the date of deposit, and 3½% per annum on any time deposit having a maturity date less than 12 months and not less than 6 months after the date of deposit, without limitation on the amount of the deposit.

It's always our policy to give our customers the latest and the best.

Rocky Is Much More Subdued as He Embarks on Fourth Year in Capital

By ROBERT T. GRAY

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Three years as governor of New York State have worked many changes in Nelson A. Rockefeller.

He has been schooled in the hard lessons of practical politics, has learned a good deal about the workings and power of political organizations and has been subdued by personal problems and tragedy.

Awareness Greater

The governor is beginning the fourth and final year of his current term with a greater awareness of what can be done under the governmental-political structure of the state.

He is also more aware of what cannot be done and he is unlikely to espouse publicly again such controversial proposals as mandatory construction of fallout shelters in all private homes.

Rockefeller was inaugurated three years ago Monday after winning an upset victory over incumbent Averell Harriman a Democrat, by 573,000 votes.

Rockefeller's victory while Democrats were winning elsewhere projected him immediately into the ranks of potential candidates for the Republican nomination for president.

Tax First Outbreak

"New York's first, urgent need is to put its financial house in order," the governor told the Legislature in his first annual message. He set out to achieve this by raising taxes to balance the budget without borrowing.

But an angry band of Upstate Republican assemblymen brushed aside arguments about "fiscal integrity" and revolted. Rockefeller's first major proposal as governor bogged down in the councils of his own party.

The tax increase eventually was approved. But relentless pressure on the rebellious lawmakers from state and local GOP leaders, rather than the governor's appeals for orderly fiscal procedures, was credited with bringing about the final approval.

Task Force Troublesome

Rockefeller ran into trouble with another non-political approach to government—the use of the "task force."

The Rockefeller task forces were groups of private citizens assigned to study state methods of dealing with specific subjects—juvenile delinquency, highway safety, power and others—and recommend improvements.

Republican legislators, including the GOP leaders, grumbled that the task forces were supplanting legislative committees.

Recommendations of the task forces, lawmakers complained, showed a complete ignorance of the political realities of government.

The governor dropped the task force approach and soon was dealing with legislative committees and their chairmen.

Rockefeller became a source of concern to Republican leaders in the state and nation during 1959-60. He darted about the country delivering speeches on national and international affairs. His approach frequently conflicted with that of his party's national leaders.

He was looked upon by many Republicans, including some in his home state, as a troublemaker, a frustrated presidential aspirant.

Approach No Asset

As expected, Vice President Richard M. Nixon won the GOP presidential nomination, with Rockefeller holding the New York delegation from Nixon until the very end.

Rockefeller campaigned for Nixon but there remained an undercurrent of opinion that the governor's overall approach to the 1960 national election was not an asset to the GOP.

As a result of his governmental and political lessons in recent years, Rockefeller has become the very model of an organization man—solicitous of the views of the national leadership, a public champion of the patronage system and a more experienced political practitioner.

He no longer expounds from national forums that there is a need to revitalize and reinvigorate the Republican party. He advanced this argument, ironically, before the party lost the national election.

Less Exuberant

Rockefeller's personal life came to the fore as 1961 ended. He and his wife, who had been married 31 years, separated and announced they would be divorced.

And the governor's youngest son, Michael, 23, disappeared into the sea last month while exploring a jungle area of New Guinea.

The governor now is less exuberant in public, does not produce the big grin and wave that had become standard.

He has limited his news conferences to questions "in the public domain" and will not discuss his private life.

Ahead of him is an election year in which he must defend his record, the good and the bad of it, and must await to see whether his impending divorce will affect his vote-getting appeal.

The question of whether he still has a chance of winning the presidential nomination despite the planned divorce also could be answered by the state voting next year.

The governor embarked on his first year in office with a lavish, inaugural ball that included two orchestras, a ballet company, drum- and -bugle corps, singers and other performers. The last year of that term is beginning on a far different note.

Fatal Collision

LAKE PLEASANT, N.Y. (AP) —Roy Wilson, 70, of Buffalo, was killed and his wife injured critically Wednesday in a head-on collision on an icy section of Route 8-10, about seven miles west of this Adirondack Mountain community.

Wilson's wife, Marjorie, 63, was taken to Nathan Littauer Hospital in Gloversville.

Urges Candidates For Governor Be Primary Choice

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Democratic congressman has urged Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller to recommend that candidates for governor and U.S. senator in New York State be chosen at primary elections rather than at state party conventions.

New York State Republican and Democratic party organizations now are preparing for next year's conventions where delegates will pass on candidates for those posts.

Rep. Victor L. Anfuso of Brooklyn has written Rockefeller and the state's legislative leaders to recommend support of legislation for direct primary elections, which he called "more democratic" than the present system.

Rockefeller and New York Senator Jacob K. Javits, both Republicans, are up for reelection next year.

"The people of New York State will no longer tolerate" the selection of candidates in a smoke-filled room by a few politicians," Anfuso wrote.

Utica Mayor Is For Water First, Check Cost Later

UTICA, N.Y. (AP) — Jess L. Hall, father of eight, went to city hall to put an end to two weeks of having to lug water from neighbors' homes —and high laundry bills.

He went away with Mayor Frank M. Dulan's promise Wednesday that the city would repair a pipe damaged by workmen razing a condemned house, which was supplied by the same water line as the Hall home.

The mayor overruled the city water board, which had maintained it was the home owner's responsibility to link with city mains. The repair cost was estimated at $200.

Rather than accept the board's decision, Hall, a tool company employe, chose lugging the water. He appealed to the Mayor.

"Let's get water in there first and then find out whose responsibility it is," the mayor said. "We can't have eight children without water."

Mrs. Hall had complained that, because she had to send the family washing to a laundry, the bill for the last two weeks came to $30.

Traffic Death Toll . . . Count Passes 2,000 . . .

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—The Traffic Death toll this year is approaching the 1960 mark of 2,077, which was the lowest in a decade, the State Motor Vehicle Department reports.

The unofficial count shows that the 1961 toll has passed 2,000. An official count of the December total to date was not available.

The 227 traffic deaths recorded in November sent the 1961 toll to 1,902 by Dec. 1. The final month of the year usually produces a high number of highway deaths, the department said.

Conference Starts On Plans About Bistate Program

TRENTON, N. J. (AP)—Democratic Gov. - elect Richard J. Hughes of New Jersey sent two representatives to New York City today to start hammering out details of an agreement he says may end a year-long bistate stalemate.

In an unusual step, he sounded out the sentiment of the State Assembly's Democratic majority on the bistate arrangement Wednesday, with newsmen present.

Representing Hughes at the meeting today Dwight R. G. Palmer, state highway commissioner, and Stephen B. Wiley, Gov. Robert B. Meyner's personal counsel. They will confer with aides of New York Republican Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller.

Their meeting is the aftermath of another held last week between Hughes and Rockefeller. Once the aides have worked out the details, Hughes and Rockefeller will meet again, in hopes of settling the long dispute over two projects proposed for the Port of New York Authority—purchase of the Hudson & Manhattan railroad and construction of a world trade center in Manhattan.

FOOD FOR AMERICANS

This 'Toddy' Uses Soups and Pickles

ONE FOR the road—in safety. This Midnight Toddy of canned soups and relish is delicious as well as sensible.

GAYNOR MADDOX
Newspaper Enterprise Assn

For a New Year's Eve party that stays happy all the way home, try serving a large tureen of steaming hot punch made with canned soups spiced with sweet pickle juice just before guests hit the road. Tastes great. Better serve hot hero sandwiches with it. Then all can face 1962 well fortified.

Midnight Toddy
(Makes 8 to 10 servings)

1 can (10½-ounces) condensed beef broth
1 can (10½-ounces) condensed tomato soup
½ cup sweet pickle liquid
4 cups water
2 tablespoons prepared horseradish
¼ teaspoon tabasco
1 cup heavy cream, whipped
¼ cup sweet pickle relish, well-drained
Lengthwise sweet gherkin slices

Combine condensed beef broth, condensed tomato soup, pickle liquid, water, horse-radish and tabasco; mix well. Cook over low heat, stirring frequently, until serving temperature is reached. Turn into punch bowl. Fold pickle relish into whipped cream. Top punch with cream mixture. Serve in punch cups or mugs garnished with sweet gherkin slices on wooden skewers.

Hot and Hearty Hero Sandwiches
(Makes 8 to 10 servings)

1½ cups diced cooked chicken
1 can (4½-ounces) deviled ham
¾ cup mayonnaise
1 cup grated Swiss cheese (about 4-ounces)
⅛ teaspoon pepper
½ cup chopped dill pickles
1 15-inch loaf French bread
Dill pickle strips
Canned pimento strips

Combine chicken, ham, mayonnaise, cheese, pepper and ½ cup chopped dill pickles; mix well. Cut bread in half lengthwise. Spread pickle mixture on cut surfaces of bread. Top with pickle strips and pimento strips. Place on ungreased baking sheet. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 20 minutes. Cut into serving pieces.

News on Foreign Trade, Tariffs, Europe Market Can Be a Bit Confusing

By GEOFFREY GOULD

WASHINGTON (AP) — Like a football game without a scorecard, the current welter of news about foreign trade, tariffs and the European Common Market can be a little confusing.

Great upheavals are taking place in world trade, and new forces are changing the map. They may affect millions of Americans, from the cotton farmer in southwest Arkansas to the man who puts spokes in the wheels in a New England bicycle factory.

The major factor that is changing old patterns of trade in the free world is the European Economic Community, or Common Market. Here is an attempt to provide a scorecard on the Common Market, with basic answers to basic questions:

Q. What is the Common Market?

A. It is an agreement between six European nations — France, West Germany, Italy, the Netherlands, Belgium and Luxembourg —to lower tariff barriers between each other over a period of years to the vanishing point. At the same time they are setting up a common external tariff to deal with the rest of the world as a unit.

Q. How is it doing?

A. It is doing rather well. The six nations are ahead of schedule in lowering their internal tariffs, and business is booming under the stimulus. So much so that Great Britain, which stood aloof from the Treaty of Rome, now wants in even though it would disrupt the British Commonwealth and cause other changes in the British way of life, such as converting its ancient currency system to a decimal system. Denmark, Ireland and Norway are likely to join too. Sweden, Austria and Switzerland would probably like to join, but must tread carefully to preserve their East-West nutrality.

Q. What does this mean to us in the United States?

A. It means that if we want to continue trading in the rich common market, we must negotiate a low external tariff for the Common Market countries. Proponents of liberalized foreign trade, with the Kennedy administration as a chief drumbeater, say we must be able to offer the Common Market reduced United States tariffs in return. This, in simplified terms, is what the big, bloody fight shaping up in Congress next year is about. Protectionist, or high tariff sentiment is strongly represented in Congress. Almost every congressman or senator has plants in his district that might be hurt by freer entry of foreign goods.

Canal Wall Collapses

ST. CATHARINES, Ont. (AP)— A 150-foot long section of tie-up wall on the Welland Canal collapsed Tuesday and canal authorities estimated the damage at $50,000.

The wall, part of the 1959-60 program to speed up ship movements through the canal, consists of cement piers on pilings. The mishap is not expected to hamper traffic when the canal reopens in the spring.

The canal was drained for inspection and repairs last week for the first time since the 1959-60 work. The wall, near Lock 3, was for ships to tie-up while awaiting lockage.

The Welland carries all ship traffic between Lakes Erie and Ontario and has had heavy use since the opening of the St. Lawrence Seaway.

$170,000 Yield Seen

NIAGARA FALLS, N.Y. (AP)— The Niagara Falls City Council has passed a five per cent room-occupancy tax intended to raise $170,000 in revenue from hotels, motels and rooming houses.

The council voted 3-1 Tuesday night for the tax, which will go into effect Jan. 1.

The $170,000 that the tax is expected to produce was appropriated in the city's $12,057,947 budget for 1962, which was adopted last July.

Examiner Urges Union Declared Red-Infiltrated

WASHINGTON (AP) —A hearing examiner has recommended that the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers be declared a Communist-infiltrated organization, Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy announced today.

If the recommendation of Francis A. Cherry, the examiner is adopted by the Subversive Activities Control board, the union will be ineligible to bargain for or represent employes under the National Labor Relations Act.

The Labor Department directory of labor unions lists the union as having 200 local unions with a total 100,000 members. Its national headquarters are in Denver, Colo.

Cherry's recommendation came after more than four years of hearings ended last May, during which nearly 150 witnesses were heard.

Cherry, a member of the five-man Subversive Activities Control Board, held that the union was "substantially directed, dominated or controlled by individuals who are (or have been) actively engaged in giving support to the Communist party of the United States."

English has been adopted as the second language of Indonesia, former Dutch colony in the East Indies.

Voters Apathetic To Amendments On Nov. Ballot

ALBANY — Because so many of the 5,745,231 voters in New York's November 7 election overlooked or did not bother with the seven proposed amendments to the State Constitution, none of the amendments was decided by a majority of those who actually went to the polls.

Amendment No. 6, calling for state-backing of $500 million in Dormitory Authority construction loans to colleges generally was regarded as the most controversial of the proposed amendments. The Citizens Public Expenditure Survey, a tax research organization, reported that official returns show 3,316,257 voters, or 52.7 per cent of those who went to the polls, did not vote on the proposal. It was defeated by the "NO" votes of 25.1 per cent of those who went to the polls, with 22.2 per cent voting in favor of it.

Although more people voted on Amendment No. 1 than on any of the others, a majority of 51.1 per cent left it blank. The amendment, which provided for the reorganization of the state's court system, became law with only 40.1 per cent of those going to the polls indicating they favored it.

Defeated Amendment No. 5 was left blank by 57.7 per cent. A total of only 22 per cent of those who went to the polls voted against it and 20.3 per cent voted for the proposal. If approved, it would have permitted the state, in time of economic recession to by-pass the constitutional restriction against more than one single purpose bond issue being submitted to the people in a general election.

Of the other four amendments, Amendment No. 2 enabling a reorganization in the executive branch of the state government was passed by the 32.3 per cent favoring it, against 12.2 per cent opposed and 55.5 per cent leaving it blank;

Amendment No. 3 authorizing the state to back a $100 million Port Authority bond issue was passed by the 28 per cent who favored it against 17 per cent opposed and 55 per cent who ignored it;

Amendment No. 4 authorizing $50 million in state-backed loans for a Job Development Authority was passed by the 27 per cent favoring it against 16.6 per cent opposed and 56.4 per cent leaving it blank;

Amendment No. 7 involving use of forest preserve lands for a highway relocation was defeated by the 25.3 per cent opposing it against 17.8 per cent favoring it and 56.9 per cent who ignored it.

matter of Fact

Ever look at the meat counter at the supermarket and wonder why one type of meat is so much redder than another. For example, why is beef darker than pork? The color of meat is due to the amount of hemoglobin in different animals. Cows have a greater amount of hemoglobin than pigs do.

Patton Critical of Study

Freeman Criticized By Farmers' Union

WASHINGTON (AP)—The leader of a national farm organization which in general has been friendly to Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman has criticieed a recent study by the department.

In his first year in office, Freeman generally has had the support of the National Farmers Union and the National Grange. A third group, the American Farm Bureau Federation, has opposed his programs based on more price supports and more regulation of production. The Farm Bureau wants the government out of farming.

Now the secretary is running into criticism from President James G. Patton of the Farmers' Union over a department study of long range farm plans.

This study—which may or may not become the basis of the Kennedy administration farm policies—proposes to balance farm production with demands by withdrawing land from production and imposing limits on marketings. These programs would offer farmers price supports and payments to help offset income lost from idled land and marketing limitations.

The study also emphasized proposals for training low-income people to leave farming for other work. Patton described this as a "negative approach."

"What is really needed," he said, "is much more credit at reasonable rates to enable young people to enter the modern, highly capitalized business of farming and to enable perfectly fine farmers to expand their less-than-economic operations into units which would return a fair standard of living."

Indict Senator, Two Others in Clergy Wiretap

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP)—A federal grand jury has indicted a state senator and two other Baton Rouge men in connection with the wiretapping of telephones of two clergymen who had signed a declaration denouncing racial discrimination.

The indictments were returned Wednesday after a long investigation.

Lawrence A. Hall, a private detective, was cited in two counts alleging he intercepted phone conversations and made them public. One conversation was between Rabbi Marvin Reznikoff and Wade Mackie, executive director of the American Friends Service Committee. The other was between Mackie and The Rev. Benjamin Irvin Cheney, former pastor of the Broadmoor Baptist Church and now a resident of Atlanta.

Sen. Wendell Harris, a leading segregationist and a member of the state sovereignty commission, and Leon Patterson, head of a Baton Rouge equipment firm, are charged with transmitting the information to various persons, including Frank Voelker, chairman of the sovereignty commission; John Deer, its chief investigator; and Sargent Pitcher, East Baton Rouge Parish district attorney.

Burglary Attempt

Police were notified at 9:04 p. m. Wednesday of what appeared to be an attempted burglary at Myers Electric, Inc., 779 Broadway. Special Officer Joseph Myers reported that a glass had been broken at the rear of the building and a screen had been ripped. Mrs. George Ballou, of 202 West Chestnut Street yesterday afternoon reported the theft of a sled which had been given her son as a Christmas present. It was taken from a porch, she said.

matter of Fact

Ever thought of a sea star as a glutton? Sea stars begin to eat voraciously when very young. One less than 3/8 of an inch across ate over 50 young clams of half that length in six days. Mussels and oysters are their favorite food. They open the shells of these animals by attaching their arms to each valve and pulling steadily.

NEW YORK (AP)—The yearend rally in the stock market continued early this afternoon with trading heavy.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up 1.20 at 263.40 with industrials up 2.10, rails up .40 and utilities up .50.

Advances of most key stocks were fractional but here and there was a gain of a point or better.

Brokers saw the rise as essentially technical in nature. The rally began Wednesday as the list posted its first clear-cut advance in 10 sessions. Many stocks were low enough to become more active as buys again. At the same time, most yearend tax selling was apparently out of the way

High quality issues paced the continued upsurge. Investment funds replenished their supplies of blue chips to dress up their annual reports.

Industrials carried the burden of the advance. Rails and utilities were ahead on balance. Some of the best early prices were shaded as trading wore on.

A number of issues were unchanged and there was an assortment of small losers.

Douglas Aircraft fell more than 3 points before paring a point from the loss.

Cluett, Peabody spurted more than 4 points. General Foods held most of an early 3-point rise. DuPont lost more than a point.

The leading steels were all ahead fractionally. Among motors, Chrysler and General Motors held fractional advances while Ford lost more than a point.

Most of the top chemicals displayed fractional gains but Air Reduction was down about a point.

A rise of about a point by United Air Lines highlighted airline issues which were unchanged to slightly higher.

Electronics were narrowly mixed. Oils showed a slight upside tendency on balance. Nonferrous metals were mixed.

LIVING ROOM WRECKED — Two volunteers, Arthur Saari and John Grady of Rifton Fire Company survey the damaged living room of the John Duffy home on Main Street, Rifton, which according to fire officials was heavily damaged by fire Wednesday afternoon. Capt. Roy Melbert said the fire apparently started in the living room where a Christmas tree, presents, furnishings and clothing were destroyed. Firemen from Tillson and St. Remy assisted the Rifton Vols. Acting Chief Harold Bailey of Rifton was the officer in charge at the scene. George Kidd of Rifton called in the alarm. printing trade," the retiring compositor said. "It sure is a far cry now from the days when I started and type was set by hand. I've seen a lot of machinery come into The Freeman, and the working staff grow."

He recalled installation about four years ago of teletype setters which set type by means of punched tape. They're okay, he remarked, but he preferred setting copy manually to tending one of the "iron monsters."

Two brothers learned the printing trade at The Freeman also, Leo and Aloysius, both of whom are deceased.

Youngest With Most Years

Mr. Perry is proud of his continuous service record. "Others had more time in the trade than I, but not with the same firm for 51 years," he said.

"I'm proud of the fact that I'm the youngest man with the most years of service ever retired from The Freeman," he smiled. He's 65 having been born September 1, 1896.

Mrs. Perry is the former Margaret K. Scherer of Connelly. They were married June 25, 1922 at St. Peter's Church by the Rev. John P. Neumann, pastor, now deceased. His daughter Mildred married Herman Seelbach. The Perrys have two grandchildren, Alan Seelbach, a senior at Kingston High School and Joanne Seelbach in the third grade at St. Peter's School.

Mr. Perry is a veteran of World War I, having seen action overseas with the 51st Pioneer Infantry in all of the battles that glorify its records in service.

He is a member of the 51st Pioneer Infantry Association, Kingston Post 150, American Legion and Joyce-Schirick Post 1386, Veterans of Foreign Wars, also Local 322, Kingston Typographical Union and the Freeman Social Club and the 20-Year Club of the Company. He also belongs to Weiner Hose Company No. 6 and the Holy Name Society of St. Peter's Church which he attends.

Disputes GOP

"wave of conservatism apparent throughout the country" might sweep the GOP into control of the House.

Dirksen was a little more cautious in his political estimates.

But he agreed with Halleck's contention that younger people are becoming more interested in Republican policies than they have in the recent past.

Concern About Spending

Asked why this was, he replied: "The young people have been watching all of these spending programs and they are getting concerned about the debts they are going to have to pay. There is an amazing interest among them in politics."

Dirksen made it clear that Republicans will bear down in the new session on efforts to balance the budget. He said he would be ready to vote for higher taxes if that is necessary to bring about a balance. But he added that Republicans will want to concentrate first on cutting non-essential spending.

In a lengthy discussion of Kennedy's projected request for broad authority to negotiate tariff reductions, Dirksen indicated he would support only a one-year trial program. He left little doubt he thinks Republicans will insist on inserting escape clauses to protect threatened industries.

gressman Samuel S. Stratton of Schenectady as the first declared candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor.

The governor entered a discussion of national politics by saying, as he has in the past he would not pledge a full, four-year term.

But he added a new note to that explanation when he stated that "the peope of this state have their tradition of interest and concern in national affairs."

Asked to elaborate, the governor said that national and international affairs "affect very importantly the lives of the people here in this great state."

He added, however, "Let me say that I have but one plan and one object and that is to seek renomination and re-election as governor of the state. I have no other plans for any other office."

Rising Multiple Pushes Shares Up

From time to time, readers ask me just how the spectacular market gains in some growth stocks occur. Earnings progress is, of course, of prime importance in value increases but there is another factor which gets less attention despite the fact that it has a powerful effect on prices, too. This item is the price-earnings ration or the so-called "multiple" of earnings at which a common stock sells.

American Home Products has been a fine example of the effect of a rising multiple. Eleven years ago AHP sold in the five-dollar range on earnings of $0.50 for a multiple of ten ($5 divided by $0.50). Only recently, though, the shares sold at $80 on earnings projections of around $2.15 for a multiple of about 38. In other words, during the past 11 years, AHP's earnings rose an impressive 330 per cent, but investors who owned the shares saw the value of their holdings soar a spectacular 1,500 per cent.

Clearly, the upward revision of the earnings multiple from 10 to 38 was the factor contributing most to this performance. And the revision was the result of increasing recognition given the shares by the financial community.

Management's efforts to raise earning power began to be more widely appreciated as sales pushed ahead, profit margins improved and finances strengthened. Investors became more and more eager to buy such a promising issue and the shares continued to climb.

Of course, all growth stocks haven't had as splendid a record as AHP but a number have done at least as well, and it is this fact which keeps my staff, plus hundreds of other investment groups, constantly on the lookout for still unrecognized situations. The good ones are few and far between, but if you can uncover unusual values in their early stages, you may be handsomely rewarded.

Earnings gains will help push your share prices up but a potentially more important factor will be the rising multiple—a sign that many other investors have recognized your stock and are willing to pay increasingly higher prices for it.

The two boys, he said apparently had been to the basketball game between Kingston High School and Mont Pleasant High School in Schenectady. They evidently had gone to the Amsterdam area following the contest since their Thruway ticket indicated they had entered the highway from that interchange between 11 p. m. and midnight.

According to Coroner Millspaugh, the truck driver was heard to mutter as he was being placed in an ambulance that he saw no lights on the automobile

The bodies of the two youths were taken to the morgue at Greene County Memorial Hospital where Dr. Joseph Bellamy of Hudson, hospital pathologist, performed autopsies.

State police said the automobile was the property of Constantine Boulokos of Kingston, an uncle of the Senor boy and the tractor-trailer was owned by Francis and George Souhan of Seneca Falls.

Identified by Ring

State police said they were delayed in identifying the Fiore youth since he had no papers or wallet on his person, but added that relatives gave the first clue when they identified a ring on the body as that of Fiore.

Assisting Sgt. Ebel in the investigation were Troopers R. A. Miller and R. L. March, both of the Kingston Thruway barracks.

School Board Hears Plan for Civil Defense

NEW PALTZ—The New Paltz Central School Board at its recent meeting had as its guest Major Edgar Timmerman, director of civilian defense for Ulster County.

The board had invited him to speak on what action should be taken by the school in case of a bomb attack. He said that "the Go Home Movement is no longer in effect, since there is no way of knowing in advance whether there would be time for the children to reach their homes." He further said, "the schools should be prepared to house them for from two hours to two weeks, and shelters at the schools should allow at least 10 square feet per person. It would be necessary to keep the shelter well stocked with food and water in case the two week period was necessary."

The board approved a one-year Sabbatical leave for Mrs. Loretta Dimsey, a fourth grade teacher.

As the citizens' committee has unanimously approved the need for more classroom space in the school, the board agreed to work closely with the committee on any plans under consideration. It was decided to meet with Flemming and Silverman, Newburgh architects in January to begin planning another building program.

The $500,000 invested on a time deposit at the State of New York National Bank will become due in January. The board voted to leave it for another three months.

It also approved the purchase of an overhead projector for classroom and study use at a cost of $400.

Fredrick Dippel, supervising principal, read a letter from Morris Osborn, chief of the bureau of school business management saying that the New Paltz Central School will be one of 60 schools in the state which has been chosen to have the new accounting system next year.

Anniversary Service

The conclusion of the 175th anniversary year of the New Paltz Methodist Church will be observed with a special service 11 a. m. Sunday, Jan. 7.

The guest speaker will be the Rev. Dr. Ralph Sockman, pastor of Christ Church, Methodist, New York City. Dr. Sockman is well-known for his long series on the National Radio Pulpit and for his distinguished pastorate of 45 years at Christ Church. This will be a return to New Paltz for him, having preached at the dedication of the present church building in 1929.

Area Activities

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Alan Klinert of 52 Chestnut Street are the parents of a daughter, Rafiella Nefer Diez, born Dec. 16 at Kingston Hospital.

Frederick Foertsch of 74 Church Street has again, as he has done for the past 28 years, set up a Christmas tree surrounded by a miniature village filled with houses that are lighted; figurines; streets with miniature replicas of cars and trucks and other vehicles. The display is composed of more than 500 pieces and it requires two weeks to set it up. Also an old electric train circles the village. Included is an airport and ice skating pond. The public may come to his home to view the display.

The Rev. and Mrs. Willett Porter of the Methodist Church announce the traditional parsonage open house to be held New Year's Eve beginning at 8:30 p. m. Friends may join in the games, singing, visiting and refreshments.

At 11:30 p. m. there will be held in the sanctuary of the church, a watch night service, with the tower bells ushering in the New Year at midnight. All persons of the community may attend.

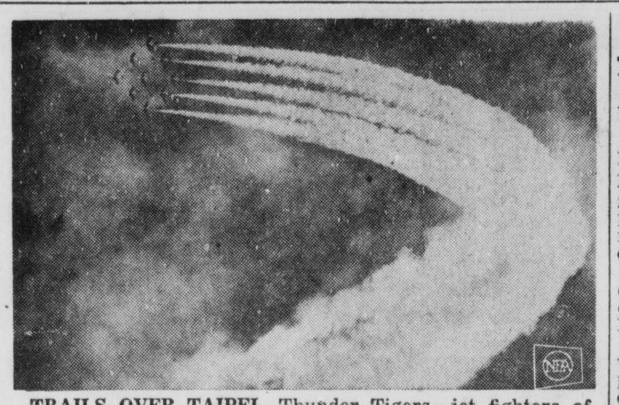

Efforts are being made to improve articulation between the campus school and the central School. Miss Judith Mosher of the high school modern language department observed French classes recently at campus school in grades 4 to 9. Clifford Van Valkenburgh of the high school mathematics department has also visited for the purpose of studying the Illinois Mathematical Program.

Alvin Beatty recently attended the Ulster County Volunteer Fire Police Association, Marlboro when he was elected to the advisory board.

Leland Heinz director of publicity for the college here, was recently called to LaCrosse, Kansas, due to the serious illness of his father.

To Propose Nuclear Spending

Rockefeller Will Encourage Nursing Home Use in Message

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) —Gov. Rockefeller will place before the Legislature a plan to encourage greater use of nursing homes by persons who are illl but not in need of the more costly facilities of a hospital.

The proposal will be one of several recommendations in the governors annual message to the Legislature Jan. 3.

At the same time, Rockefeller will recommend that the state expand its participation in the field of atomic power by creating a public authority with power to spend up to $30 milllion on nuclear projects.

The projects would include a $5-million, nuclear-powered facility on Long Island to convert sea water to fresh water for domestic use.

The authority also would operate some facilities on a stated owned site in Cattaraugus County to reprocess nuclear fuels and store atomic wastes.

Other roles for the authority include the construction of a facility at a yet unchosen site to serve the electronics and other industries using nuclear techniques. The authority would redeem its bond issues with feees received for its services.

In his nursing home plan, the governor will propose:

1. That an interdepartmental state committee on health and hospitals and the Joint Legislative Committee on Problems of the Aging draft a program for improving the physical facilities and medical services available in nursing homes.

2. That the state help those homes, possibly through a plan of low interest loans, to improve their quarters.

3. That prepaid hospital-insurance plans, such as Blue Cross, allow subscribers to use the lower cost nursing facilities, when possible rather than regular hospitals.

The plan drafted by the state will set up standards for nursing homes but will not be mandatory. Existing laws now set basic safety standards that must be observed.

The governor's atomic-development program represents a greater role for the state than envisioned when the Office of Atomic Development was created in 1958.

The authority will take over from the atomic-development office jurisdiction of the Western New York Nuclear Research Center at the University of Buffalo but actual direction of the center will remain the responsibility of the school.

Bank Officials Attend Banquet Marking Merger

The Highland Savings and Loan Association introduced the officers and directors of the Savings and Loan Association of Kingston to the guests at a well-attended dinner at the Hotel Di Prima Wednesday evening.

The dinner was given by the Highland Savings and Loan Association in recognition of the merger of the two associations effective Jan. 1.

Many guests representing the organizations and civic groups of the Highland community were represented, along with the members of the boards of directors of both associations.

Following the dinner, Walter R. Seaman, president of the Highland Savings and Loan Association, welcomed the visitors. He then presented the directors of the Highland Savings and Loan Association to the group.

Reviews Highlights

Mrs. John F. Wadlin, treasurer of the Highland Association, gave some of the highlights of the background of the association which was organized on April 29, 1920. She reviewed former managers and directors of the association and discussed the start of the school savings program, which was an important milestone for the association.

Seaman then introduced the officers of the Savings and Loan Association of Kingston; Alfred D. Ronder, president; H. Van Wyck Darrow, executive vice president; S. D. Scudder Jr., secretary and Edward M. Huben, treasurer.

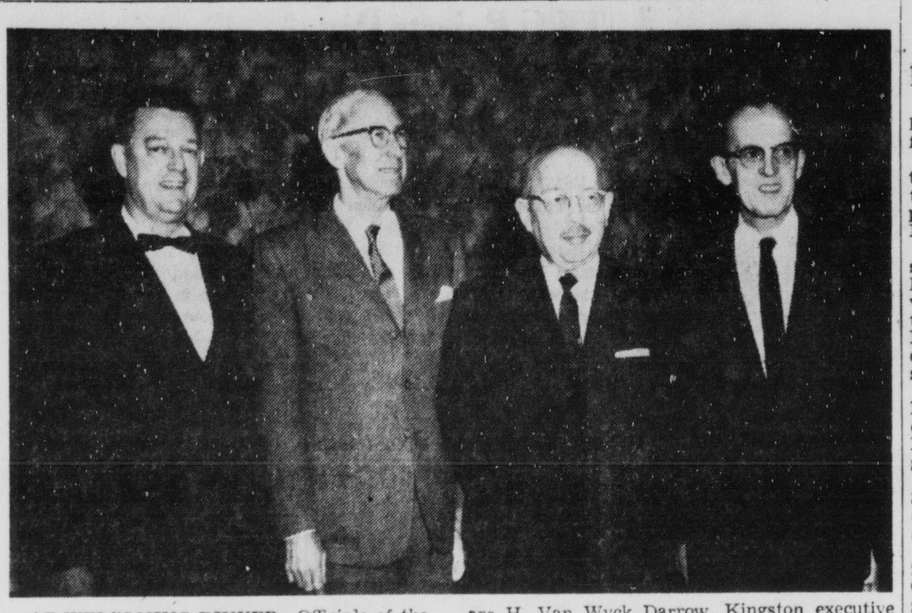

President Ronder spoke about the benefits of the merger to both associations and to the community. He indicated some of the background and growth of the Savings and Loan Association of Kingston in the past. He then introduced the directors of the Savings and Loan Association of Kingston.

Introduces Staff

Darrow, executive vice president, was called on to introduce the members of the executive staff and the staff at the Highland office. At that time, he announced that Eugene Noe would be the manager of the Highland office.

He then introduced William R. Stall, assistant vice president; Edward R. Dunn, assistant treasurer; and H. Edward Carter, assistant secretary. He also introduced Mrs. Ann Raible and Mrs. Daisy Mackey presently at the Highland office.

The combined assets of the merged association on Jan. 1 will be approximately 19 million dollars, Ronder said. It was also announced that 1962 would be the 70th anniversary of the Savings and Loan Association and that appropriate celebrations are being planned.

Collapse Could Mean Laos War

Aims to Keep Negotiations Up on Coalition Government

By RENE-GEORGES INAGAKI

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP)—Neutralist Prince Souvanna Phouma met with King Savang Vathana today and said he would try to keep alive negotiations to form a coalition government.

Souvanna Phouma, who has been designated to head the new unity regime, warned collapse of the talks could plunge Laos into an East-West war as well as civil conflict.

Souvanna and his pro-Communist half-brother, Prince Souphanouvong, were given the brushoff by pro-Western Prince Boun Oum Wednesday when they arrived here for talks. But they remained in the capital under heavy guard.

Boun Oum challenged Souvanna's self-proclaimed neutrality and bluntly declared he was not prepared to bargain over cabinet posts in the proposed new government intended to ensure Laos' neutrality.

Souvanna Phouma and Souphanouvong, whose military forces won control of more than half of Laos earlier this year, had come to Vientiane expecting to dicker with Boun Oum over the distribution of cabinet portfolios among their three factions. They already had agreed the 16-man cabinet would include four Boun Oum adherents, eight neutralists and four Pathet Lao men.

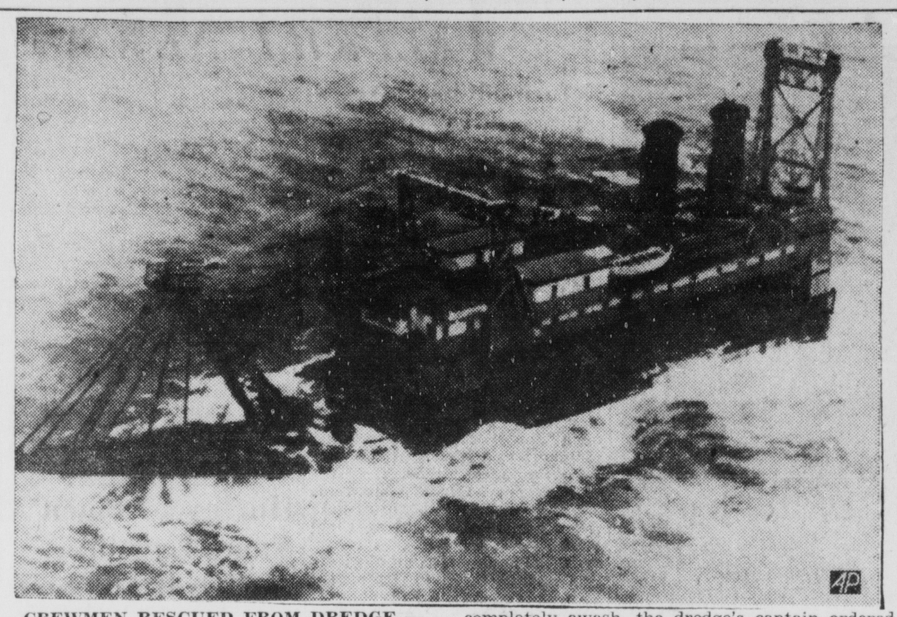

After a meeting of less than an hour, Boun Oum said Souvanna should draw up a coalition cabinet and submit the list to the other political groups for their approval. He also demanded that the eight neutralists be divided equally between "Vientiane neutralists" and "Souvanna neutralits" and that the key posts of defense and interior be given to his own conservative faction.

Some officials of Boun Oum's government said the premier was angered by Souphanouvong's airport speech on arrival, in which he made a violent a ttack on Boun Oum and his American backers.

Souvanna conferred with King Savang Vathana for half an hour and later was visited briefly by Ngon Sananikone, economics minister in the Boun Oum government. Prince Souphanouvong also went to the palace for a 45-minute audience with the king.

Western diplomats and International Control Commission officials were openly concerned that failure of the three political princes to come to an agreement would lead to new hostilities with international ramifications.

The three princes were brought together in the capital only after strong pressure from the 14-nation Geneva conference that has agreed on a policy of neutrality for the Southeast Asian kingdom.

TWU Rejects Pay Package, Vote to Strike Jan. 1st

NEW YORK (AP)—Members of the Transport Workers Union rejected a money package offer Wednesday night and voted a strike New Year's Day of all bus and subway lines.

About 5,000 transit workers attended the mass meeting, called to consider a Transit Authority offer totaling about 16 cents an hour in a two-year contract.

Prior to the meeting, TWU President Michael J. Quill raised the possibility of a wildcat walkout in advance of midnight New Year's Eve, when the present contract expires.

"Even church meetings get out of hand," Quill said. "People get carried away."

The TWU seeks a reduction of the five-day, 40-hour work week, to four days and 32 hours—plus a 15 per cent wage increase.

The Transit Authority has refused even to consider the shorter work week.

Talks to avert a threatened electrical workers' strike got nowhere Wednesday. The deadline also is midnight New Year's Eve.

Employers have rejected the electricians' demand for a five-day, 20-hour work week with no reduction in pay. The workers currently receive $4.40 an hour in a five-day, 30-hour week.

Every Home Hit In Va. Explosions

NORTON, Va. (AP)—A series of explosions wrecked a powder plant and destroyed or damaged every home in the tiny mountain village of Sutherland Wednesday. Twenty-six persons were injured.

Five explosions were touched off by a fire in the Whitaker Atlas Supply Co. The company sells blasting powder for mining operations.

The final explosion — which shook buildings and broke glass as far away as 10 miles—knocked down five nearby houses and heavily damaged the remaining 15 in Sutherland.

Twenty one persons were treated and released at Norton Hospital. Five others were admitted with serious injuries.

At Norton, six miles away, the explosion shattered plate glass windows along the city's main street.

Feels Teachers' Will Benefit by Collective Talks

CHICAGO (AP) — The head of the teachers union predicted today that in the next five years public schools will attain new, higher standards under collective bargaining.

Carl J. Megel, Chicago, president of the AFL-CIO American Federation of Teachers, made the forecast at the annual midyear meeting of the federation's executive council.

A national pattern was set, he said, when New York City teachers elected by a nearly 2-1 vote the United Federation of Teachers, Local 2 of the AFT, as their bargaining agent.

"It is only logical now that other large and small American federation of teachers' locals will take similar steps," Megel said. "The public will find that teachers who walk upright in their own behalf are better teachers."

Sees Cancer Rise SmallFromBombs

By FRANK CAREY
Associated Press Science Writer

DENVER, Colo. (AP)—Only a small percentage rise in the incidence of cancer may be expected from bomb test fallout, a British researcher said today.

Dr. Philip R. J. Burch also offered the concept that fallout-type radiation may, in most instances, help produce cancer only if nature has paved the way.

He said there is suggestive evidence that in many instances where radiation is linked with cancer, it acts merely as a supplement to spontaneous changes which have occurred in body cells of certain people leaving them vulnerable.

Burch, a University of Leeds scientist, is doing visiting research at the Atomic Energy Commission's Oak Ridge, Tenn., laboratory.

He told the American Association for the Advancement of Science that studies among people exposed to wartime bomb radiation at Hiroshima and Nagasaki suggest:

1. Radiation may hasten the development of cancer in a vulnerable person whose spontaneous cellular changes have not reached the critical point.

2. Radiation might provide the final trigger to touch off cancer in persons who have some vulnerability but who otherwise might escape cancer.

He said that at the low levels of radiation provided by the natural "background" of the earth—and by fallout—the most important cancer-producing effect of radiation is likely to be this "supplementary" one.

But he estimated that for "background" radiation this would mean a responsibility for only between a tenth of one per cent to one per cent of all spontaneous tumors. And, he added, if nuclear testing in the future does not exceed the rates of the past, cancers linked with fallout should not produce more than a 0.04 per cent rise above the level of spontaneously caused cancers.

Mice have six to ten litters of young a year, with six to eight mice in each litter.

1962 Plates Not Lawful Till 1st

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—The Motor Vehicle Department reminded motorists today that 1962 registration plates must not replace current plates before Jan. 1.

The department made an exception for buses and taxicabs, and this had led to some confusion, a spokesman said. The new plates may be used on those vehicles anytime after Friday.

The spokesman explained that the exception was made because many buses and cabs would be on the road the night of Dec. 31 and they must display the new plates Jan. 1. Passenger cars and station wagons need not display them until Jan. 31. The deadline for commercial vehicles is Jan. 15.

U.S. Will Export Steroids to Reds For Medical Use

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Atomic Energy Commission has approved the export to the Soviet Union of a small quantity of radioactive steroids for use in medical research.

Steroids are a group of chemicals which include such compounds as cholesterol, the sex hormones and cortisone. Those in the approved shipment, the AEC said Wednesday, are made radioactive with carbon 14. This will permit the movement of the compounds to be traced through the bodies of experimental animals. The substances are used in studies of metabolism.

The export license was granted to the Worcester Foundation for Experimental Biology at Shrewsbury, Mass. The materials, involving 60 microcuries of carbon 14, will be shipped to Dr. Nicolai A. Yudaev of the U.S.S.R. Academy of Medical Sciences in Moscow.

The AEC emphasized that the material to be exported has no military value.

Day-to-Day Headaches Confronted Latter

Kennedy's First Year More Subtly Perilous Than Ike's

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) —The biggest difference in the first White House year of Presidents Kennedy and Eisenhower was in the kind of world they inherited.

Eisenhower's first year had more day-to-day headaches; Kennedy's a more frightening core of danger.

At home Eisenhower had to contend with Sen. Joseph McCarthy and, overseas, with the Korean War. As a result of both the country was frustrated, torn apart, full of suspicion.

Mild Year for JFK

That whole year was a badly troubled one for the new President.

Kennedy, in his first year, has had comparatively a mild time of it at home. The extreme right-wingers were his only McCarthy-like problem. And so far they've been just a petty annoyance.

But overseas, while he had no Korean War to settle, he had to face a situation far more subtly perilous than Eisenhower encountered.

When the latter became President in 1953 the United States, with its hydrogen bomb, was still the most powerful nation. The Russians made trouble but not enough to risk a war.

They didn't have their first hydrogen blast until August, 1953. By the time Kennedy moved in this year, they not only had hydrogen bombs but the missiles to deliver them.

Some Temporary Relief

Thus the whole American-Russian relationship was different for Kennedy. War, death and annihilation now had an immediacy only imagined when Eisenhower took over the White House.

Eisenhower even got a temporary relief from Russian pressure —with Stalin's death in March, 1953—when the Kremlin leaders became more concerned with themselves than with the American President.

It was the opposite for Kennedy, as a result of Stalin's death. By the time he took office Premier Khrushchev was the new, unchallenged, and extremely self-confident Russian boss.

There was another difference, too.

The old-fashioned Stalin, while he lived, relied more on muscle than he did on propaganda or persuasiveness. He pushed only where he thought he had a quick chance for gain, as in Korea and the Berlin blockade.

Heat From Reds Limited

So the heat from communism was limited for Eisenhower. Its real effort at the time, aside from the fighting against the French in Indo-China, was concentrated in Korea.

The more imaginative Khrushchev, able to feel more confident than Stalin because of his bombs and missiles, is poking at Kennedy around the world with propaganda, trade, aid, militant local Communists.

Through all this both Kennedy and Eisenhower have exhibited one trait in common: A well-controlled restraint, a non-belligerency, in dealing with their adversaries at home and overseas.

Thus, instead of starting fires or adding to them through emotion, lack of self-discipline or immaturity, they have tried to keep the ones created for them under control.

Of the two men Kennedy seems more the master in his own house. The outstanding example is in the conduct of foreign affairs.

Same Future Beckons

Kennedy does the important talking for his administration on foreign policy. His secretary of state, Dean Rusk, acts as his technician and adviser but says little.

While Eisenhower personally was restrained in foreign affairs, he let his secretary, John Foster Dulles, do such belligerent and flamboyant talking that the administration seemed to have two voices.

For Eisenhower his first year turned out to be just a comparatively mild forerunner of much worse to come in the years ahead. Kennedy probably has no illusions it will be any different for him.

SAIL-PLANE—A small drone version of the experimental Flex Wing aircraft is being investigated by the U.S. Marine Corps at its desert facilities at Twenty-Nine Palms, Calif. The plane would be powered by a gasoline engine in the rear. Launched by troops in the field, it would serve as a reconnaissance or spy plane. Like its larger counterpart, the drone has a "wing" of fabric and is a light armful for Ryan Aeronautical Co. employe Cecil Craigo to carry.

U.S. Approves Dobrynin As New Envoy for Reds

WASHINGTON (AP) — Anatoly Fedorovich Dobrynin, who is fluent in English, knows the United States well and likes international politics, will be the new Soviet ambassador to Washington.

The State Department said Wednesday that Dobrynin's appointment to succeed Mikhail A. Menshikov had been approved here. As a matter of courtesy, the host nation is asked to approve the envoy of another nation and consent is usually a formality.

Officials here said the appointment probably means no change in the basic Soviet policy toward the United States.

Dobrynin, 42 to Menshikov's 59, spent about eight years in the United States, both with the embassy here and the United Nations secretariat in New York. He speaks French as well as English, and in 1960 became head of the American countries division of the Soviet foreign ministry.

State Department officials who kno him say Dobrynin is an intelligent, able diplomat who has an excellent background on U.S.-Soviet problems.

Dobrynin is not a high Communist party official. He has been a career diplomat since 1946. Menshikov is a member of the party's central committee.

Menshikov announced earlier this week that he would return to Moscow next month, completing almost four years as ambassador here. His new assignment has not been announced.

Bullet Wound Fatal To Young Sodus Boy

SODUS, N.Y. (AP) —Charles Wood, 14, died today of a bullet wound suffered during target practice with two other youths.

State Police said the boy and his companions were firing a rifle Wednesday at ice in a creek near this Wayne County village east of Rochester. A piece of ice flew up and hit a youth holding the .22-caliber rifle. He slipped, the rifle discharged, and the bullet struck Wood, police said.

The dead boy was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Wood of Sodus.

Economists Must Relax From Life In Their Schools

NEW YORK (AP) — College economists, dealing with the hard facts of monetary life, must relax too. Some of them go about it through art mediums — such as painting, wire and wood sculpting, and drawing.

An exhibition, in which a dozen economists are taking part, opened Wednesday at the Commodore Hotel, presented by the American Economic Association.

Prof. Abba P. Lerner of Michigan State University, in his spare time works in aluminum wire mobiles and other wire and tube sculptures.

One of his most enthusiastic fans is his wife, Daliah, who noted: "What you see (in the sculptures) is not even half of it. You must see the fantastic shadows the shapes create."

Another exhibitor is Prof. William J. Baumo, chairman of economic study at Princeton University. He specializes in free-form sculptures from wood blocks "as I whittled with a knife when a boy."

Baumo's economics' colleagues regard him as a "ringer," since he has studied for years at the Arts Student League here. Baumo also is showing some of his paintings.

Prof. Harry G. Johnson of the University of Chicago is a "whittler" who turns out wood caricatures.

One of Johnson's efforts is an ant-eater with its snout high in the air. He named it "Eager Student."

Fat Airmen Are Told to Reduce

LONDON (AP) — Fat American airmen at two U.S. air bases in Britain have been ordered to slim down.

The order has gone out to more than 100 flight crews and about 2,000 ground crewmen to reduce to 10 pounds below the maximum permitted weight.

"If you stick to the figures in the book and take a man off a diet as soon as he reaches the permitted maximum, he'll be five pounds overweight again in a couple of weeks," said Lt. Col. James Asher, flight surgeon at Bentwaters Base in Suffolk.

Asher said the reducing drive was a precaution against coronary heart disease.

"We've had one man 28 suffering from the disease and he was overweight," the doctor expained.

The average day's menu at the bases serves a man about 3,000 calories, but "where necessary we will put men on a diet which will cut the calorie intake by half," Asher said. As a start, the fatties have been told to cut out bread, potatoes, candy and liquor.

Ulster Savings Will Pay 4 PC Interest

Ulster County Savings Institution, following Wednesday's action by the State Banking Board, took action to pay 4 per cent on all funds already on deposit a year.

Prior to yesterday's action by the state board, savings banks were limited to payment of the 4 per cent interest rate on deposits of two years or more.

Action of the State Banking Board yesterday places savings banks, under state jurisdiction, on a par with commercial banks which are under federal jurisdiction.

Bank Promotes Business With Its Decorations

A train portrays how savings come in handy for vacations.

In another display Indians attack a stage coach as a reminder that savings must be secure as they are in safe deposit boxes at the bank, not like the valuables carried in old stagecoach strong boxes.

Wonder if the reindeer could ever replace the dog as man's faithful, best friend? Well, a start has been made by the Lapps. The inhabitants of Lapland have domesticated reindeers and made them common, useful household animals.

Today's Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON

AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)— Businessmen worried about profitless prosperity are turning increasingly to mechanical brains to help them cut costs.

Prosperity for Some

And that can spell increased prosperity in 1962 for the makers of electronic computers and for some 1,300 data-processing centers.

This trend is on the authority of these makers and of the operators of centers who have a stake in fostering it. But they say that the majority of the 25,000 or more firms using this way of doing their figure work say it helps cut operating costs as well as being time-saving and convenient.

Production and sales for industry and trade as a whole are mounting just now faster than profits—and sometimes even while profits are falling. So the urge is strong to find any means of improving the profit margin.

Computer experts who have been to the Soviet Union say that the Soviets also have turned to their big computers as aids in industrial production and more recently are using them in the bigger state-owned department stores —where you wouldn't expect profits to be an objective.

Western Europe increasingly is leaning on the electronic devices to guide its spectacular drive to greater prosperity.

Predict Big Jump

A big jump in the sale and rental of computers, and of their use in the many data centers around the nation, is predicted by the leading makers. To name only a few: International Business Machinese, Remington Rand, Burroughs, National Cash Register, General Electric, Thompson Ramo Wooldridge.

The makers' sales and rentals this year topped a billion dollars. Rentals next year are expected to hit $1.3 billion.

Operators of independent data-processing centers (those not run by makers of the machines) predict that by the end of 1962 about 10,000 computers of various sizes will be installed at rentals of at least $100,000 a year per unit. Among such operators on a large scale are, to name only a few: Automated Procedures Corp.; C-E-I-R, Inc.; Statistical Tabulating Corp.; and Sessions Co.

Profitless prosperity is a big reason for the larger companies turning to electronic machines to help them control inventories and keep up with or ahead of the The producer or merchant who changes in the economic cycle. The producer or merchant who knows, before his competitor, how sales are going and stocks piling up or running out has a big edge in holding down costs—and turning a profit instead of a loss.

Expect Big Things

Payroll processing, and all the other mushrooming clerical work of modern industry and retailing also sends clients to the data centers.

Both the computer makers and the center operators expect big things soon from the newest move toward information retrieval. Computers can store vast quantities of data, instantaneously available.

20 States Oppose AEC Control Over Nuclear Wastes

WASHINGTON (AP) —Twenty states, including New York, have registered strong opposition to an Atomic Energy Commission suggestion that it may retain control over the burial of radioactive wastes and shipment of nuclear products.

Such a provision would be in the first of a series of agreements in which the commission will yield control of some peaceful nuclear activities to states.

The first agreement will b e signed with Kentucky early in 1962. It will apply to nuclear materials of less than critical mass.

The commission it said had not reached a final decision on retention of controls.

The states contend dual federal-state control of nuclear industries would impede peaceful development of nuclear energy. Several industry spokesmen, however, have urged continued federal control.

States, in addition to New York, opposing the dual controls include Kentucky, Connecticut, Vermont, Pennsylvania, and Delaware.

New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller is planning to expand the state's participation in the field of atomic power. The plan includes development of a site in Cattaraugus County to reprocess nuclear fuels and to store atomic wastes.

Outlook Is Bright

PITTSBURGH (AP)— An increase in business is in prospect for electrical manufacturing industry in 1962, according to president Mark W. Cresap Jr. of Westinghouse Electric Corp.

Cresap said Wednesday that his firm should receive an eight to 12 per cent increase in orders and a slightly lower boost in billings next year.

The bright outlook, Cresap said, is based on three potential conditions—greater defense expenditures, greater increase in consumer sales, and a larger outlay for capital equipment.

Glancing Over TV Bill of Fare

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—It took a ot of advance planning and plotting, but Betty White has grounded herself for almost 10 days in Los Angeles and is celebrating the holiday season at home.

Miss White, almost a regular panelist on CBS' "To Tell the Truth," and one of Jack Paar's favorite guests on his NBC show, is pursuing the travelingest career in television. Last year she made 34 flying roundtrips between Hollywood and New York. This year she managed to cut the trips to about 20—mostly by making longer stays at the New York end.

Betty, a pretty TV performer who grew up in Los Angeles, finds transcontinental commuting a stimulating and (financially) rewarding experience. Recently she stayed put on the West Coast long enough to play a woman senator in her first movie, "Advise and Consent," and is in the market out there for acting roles.

Betty's holiday at home isn't entirely a leisure period, however. On New Year's day she will act as NBC's commentator during the two-hour Tournament of Roses parade—an assignment now becoming an annual special job.

CBS is thinking seriously about breaking up that old "Gunsmoke" gang. On the network's planning boards now for next season is a weekly variety show, "TV Tonight," which would star Dennis Weaver as host. Obviously, Dennis can't keep on paying Chester, Matt Dillon's lovable sidekick. But on the other hand, what is "Gunsmoke" without Chester to provide the chuckles?

And speaking of "Gunsmoke," perhaps the program-pickers have been announcing the demise of the Western too soon. In the most recent Nielsen ratings, the three most popular shows are, in the following order, "Wagon Train" "Bonanza" and "Gunsmoke."

Recommended tonight: "Years of Crisis," CBS, 10-11 (Eastern Standard Time)—a round-table year-end review by the network's top correspondents.

Cleary Becomes New Buffalo City Editor

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)— James R. Cleary, 42, will become a city editor of the Buffalo Courier-Express effective next Monday, executive Editor Cy King has announced.

King said Cleary would share the dual editorship with James R. Schrader. The new city editor succeeds Edward H. Lewis, who is retiring Jan. 1, 1962 after 20 years with the morning newspaper.

Donald T. Barry, 34, has been named an assistant city editor in the appointments made Wednesday.

Contract Worth Risk of Set

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

One of the basic principles of expert dummy play is that it is worth-while to risk going down an extra trick in order to give yourself a chance to make your contract.

In the Lenz system, the opening bid of three of a suit was the strongest bid and the opening bid of two merely a very good hand. Hence, his opening two heart bid. With no score, I might well have passed that bid, but we had 30 to our credit and I responded two spades whereupon he closed the bidding at three hearts.

Mrs. Culbertson opened the deuce of clubs. Sidney played low from dummy and Ely won the trick with the king.

This established Sidney's queen of clubs as a good trick, but Sidney promptly threw it away.

As it was, when he got around to a further club play Sidney was able to finesse dummy's ten and discard a losing diamond on the ace.

He still had to lose one trick in each suit, but the bid was only three and he made it.

Note that if Ely had held the jack of clubs, Mr. Lenz would have been down.

The Junior Leader Training Course awards were presented by Saugerties Assistant District Commissioner Harry Slobodian to Jerry White, Peter Wells, Thomas McCullough, Fred Ickes, Herbert White, Richard Scism, Harold Liberty, and Ralph Shapiro.

To open the Court of Honor an impressive Tenderfoot investiture was given for Wayne Havens, John McSpirit, Robert Stingle, James Hall, and Charles Buboltz.

First Class rank was awarded to Donald Burnett by Assistant Scoutmaster Liberty.

Star rank recipient was Fred Ickes.

Russell Witkowski and Michael Greenwald received Life Rank from Assistant Scoutmaster Gerald Sampson. During his Scouting career Robert has held every junior leader position in the troop, served as senior patrol leader on two National Jamborees, was vice president and president of Post 12, as well as being honorary mayor of Kingston. He also received the troop and post honor awards for outstanding service. In the Order of the Arrow, Robert has held the offices of Kingston chapter chief, Half Moon Lodge vice-chief, and this year was chief of the lodge. He is a vigil honor member of the Order of the Arrow. This past summer he served as activities director at Camp Tri-Mount Scout Reservation.

Recognized by Troop

A 30-year veterans pin and tie clasp was presented to Committee Chairman Floyd L. Spencer by Ralph Shapiro for his dedicated service to Troop 12 as scoutmaster, seascout skipper and founder of Troop 12 Drum and Bugle Corps. He is also recipient of many Scouting awards including the Silver Beaver, which is the highest award a council can bestow upon a volunteer scouter.

Christmas gifts were given to the troop and post leaders, first by the Mother's Club and then also by the scouts. After a game which entertained everyone present, an echo taps ceremony brought the party to a close. Refreshments followed.

2 Teamster Unions Ordered to Open Books for Probe

DETROIT (AP) — Two Teamsters Union locals, including Teamsters President James R. Hoffa's home Local 299, are under orders to open their records to federal investigators starting Jan. 3.

An order that government investigators be given full access to records of Local 299 and Local 614 at Pontiac, Mich., was signed Wednesday by U.S. Dist. Judge Thomas P. Thornton.

Thornton specified, however, that inspection would be allowed only on records from Jan. 1, 1959 to Dec. 27, 1961. The order specified that inspectors be given adequate quarters at both locals to examine the records "without interference from the presence of" union members.

The order apparently ended an 11-month batte by the Teamsters against new authority for the secretary of labor to inspect union reports under the Landrum-Griffin Act.

Wash Every Mountain

ANAHEIM, Calif. (AP) — Cleaned many mountains or washed down a few rockets lately? It's a daily job at Disneyland.

The park's maintenance chief says he just rolls a fire truck up to the attractions and aims its hose at the daily collection of grime.

CommutersWould SaveMoneyUnder Central Proposal

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Central Railroad has asked permission to consolidate all monthly commuter tickets into one "flash type" ticket, effective Feb. 1. The plan would result in savings for some commuters.

The railroad asked in its application Wednesday to the State Public Service Commission that it be allowed to combine present restricted (five days a week) tickets and unrestricted (seven days a week) into a single monthly unrestricted ticket.

The new ticket would be sold at the present restricted ticket fares. This would mean the same cost per trip to those who already use restricted tickets. It would mean slight savings for present holders of unrestricted tickets.

The 26-trip ticket would be discontinued. Holders of these tickets would be able to buy the new unrestricted ticket. Some commuters would pay a little more per trip, some a little less.

The railroad also asked that its Manhattan trip tickets be invalid for use on trains leaving Grand Central Terminal between 5 p.m. and 6:30 p.m. each weekday. These tickets are sold at a 25 per cent discount and are designed to stimulate travel outside of the rush hours.

On weekdays the tickets will continue to be restricted to use on trains scheduled to arrive at Grand Central after 10:30 a.m. The tickets are used without restrictions on Saturdays, Sundays, and holidays. There would be no change in this.

Group Asks JFK Permission to Buy Surplus Masks

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP)—The field secretary for the Congress of Racial Equality — CORE — has asked President Kennedy to let Negroes buy surplus gas masks so "we might continue our peaceful demonstrations here in the Southland."

The CORE official, the Rev. B. E. Cox of High Point, N.C., said after his release from jail Wednesday that he made the request to Kennedy in a telgram.

Baton Rouge police used tear gas Dec. 15 to quell a demonstration by about 1,500 Negroes protesting racial discrimination.

Favors Milk Dating

NEW YORK (AP) — Lew Wallace, a former professional fight manager, of Staten Island, has filed a taxpayer's suit in the State Supreme Court seeking an order directing the state to allow reinstatement of milk dating.

An affidavit filed with the suit Wednesday challenged Gov. Rockefeller's signing of the legislative bill which wiped out New York City's requirement of dating milk containers and bottle caps.

Wallace contended that the signing of the bill was "arbitrary, capricious, frivolous and a sham." He said the law is against public policy and prevents necessary protection of consumers against "sour, spoiled and stale milk."

GOPPlansProbe Of Pa. Colleges

HARRISBURG (AP)—Pennsylvania Republicans are planning to call on the 1962 legislature for a sweeping investigation of alleged pressures at the Commonwealth's 14 state colleges.

House Minority Leader Albert W. Johnson, R - McKean, said Wednesday the GOP would introduce a resolution asking the General Assembly to set up a special bipartisan committee of six House members and six senators to conduct the probe.

The resolution, Johnson explained, would vest the committee with subpoena powers and appropriate $20,000 for expenses. The committee would be directed to report its findings by Sept. 1, 1962, two months before Pennsylvania elects a governor and U.S. Senator.

"Our call for an investigation is based on charges by Dr. T. Noel Stern following his dismissal Sept. 13, 1961, as president of West Chester State College for what the trustees called 'a lack of confidence in his administrative performance'," Johnson said, adding:

"Four days after his dismissal, Dr. Stern issued a white paper concerning his disputes with the politics-minded board of trustees, and called upon the Department of Public Instruction to investigate the charges.

"Dr. Stern's request for justice got a cold shoulder from the Department of Public Instruction and from the Lawrence administration."

The annual report showed the library in a flourishing condition with an increase in circulation and many new books added.

Weekly Food Review

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A wide variety of pork cuts will be served at many American dinner tables this weekend to help usher in a happy new year.

Pork Top Attraction

Pork loin will be the top attraction in many supermarkets in the Northeast, Southeast and Midwest, although traditional regional favorites also play a part in pork's popularity. Fresh ham, for example, is an old favorite in the Northeast, but in the Southeast it's hog jowls and blackeye peas.

Other pork items on sale include fresh picnic shoulders, smoked ham, sausage and bacon.

All this gives the housewife who produced a turkey for Christmas Dinner a chance to vary the holiday menu a bit. For those who chose ham a week ago, turkeys remain an outstanding bargain in many areas. The biggest birds are the biggest bargain in the Southwest. Broiling and frying chickens also are a top buy in the Southwest., but are higher in the Midwest and Southern California.

Beef Bargains Scattered

Beef bargains are scatttered this week, although chuck roast finds favor in parts of the Southeast and Midwest. Ribs of beef are 8 to 9 cents a pound higher in the San Francisco area because of big demand from hotels and restaurants.

Bargain prices for a variety of salad makings make green salads a good bet to go with whatever meat is selected. Supplies of lettuce are plentiful from California, Arizona and Texas, while tomatoes from California and Florida and California avocados also are plentiful and cheap. Cabbage for cole slaw also is abundant, with Texas offerings running above normal.

Other outstanding buys among vegetables include carrots, onions, potatoes, celery, squash and lettuce. Good buys in some sections are broccoli, eggplant, green onions, spinach, green beans, corn, cucumbers, peppers, radishes and sweet potatoes.

Fruit counters boast of apples, avocados, grapefruit, oranges and cranberrries, while the good buy list includes limes, coconuts, bananas, lemons, pears and tangerines.

Philly on Alert For Snow Threat

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The city declared an emergency alert today following weather bureau predictions of a heavy, day-long snow fall throughout the state.

Emergency coordinator Donald C. Wagner said emergency headquarters was to open at 7 a.m. to organize standby snow removal crews.

The weather bureau said a deepening storm in central north Carolina would move northeastward off the Virginia coast bringing rain mixed with snow to the southeastern Pennsylvania.

In the east, snow fell most of the night in Hazleton and Scranton.

What About I.Q. Tests?

If you think your child is brighter than his I.Q. score shows, the man to talk to is Dr. Henry S. Dyer, Vice President of the organization which prepares many of the standardized tests used in American schools and colleges, the Educational Testing Service in Princeton, New Jersey.

Surprisingly enough, Dr. Dyer is on your side. At least he will give you the benefit of the doubt.

"Tests," he says, "are not infallible." He will even agree that they are sometimes erratic, up one day and down the next, and that there are many individual talents and traits—such as creativity and ambition—that they do not measure at all.

As a consequence, Dr. Dyer attaches at least as much importance to your estimate of your child's potential, based upon long experience, as he does to a teacher's or psychologist's, based only upon test performance. A combination of the two — personal evaluation and impersonal testing—is so far, he believes, an unbeatable formula for predicting what kind of mark your child will make in school and later on in a career. Colleges that use both in selecting students for admission have been able to reduce their academic failures to about two per cent, Dr. Dyer says. This compares with colleges in general with an academic failure rate of about 50 per cent.

Questioned in connection with the publication of an article—"Let's Look Again at Those I.Q. Tests"—in the December Reader's Digest, Dr. Dyer takes strong exception to the writer's contention that, because standardized tests are fallible, they should be abolished.

"The problem is not one of doing away with tests," he explains, "but getting people to use them intelligently, and creatively, as well as cautiously.'

Although tests are fallible they are not nearly so much so as a teachers grades which, Dr. Dyer believes, may reflect not only her mood of the moment but her opinion of the child, his academic history, the color of his skin, his social habits, and the way he is dressed.

"Ordinarily," Dr. Dyer says, "a good intelligence test, running for an hour or perhaps two hours, is 40 per cent more accurate than teacher's grades for purposes of assessing a student's basic skills."

A common cause of confusion about testing is the conviction that I.Q. tests measure "Innate ability," and that learning, as a result of experience at home and in school do not effect I.Q. scores. Learning, Dr. Dyer believes, very definitely effect I.Q. scores.

"I.Q. tests," he says, "are not the mystical, magical things that many people have supposed. They are designed simply to measure the basic skills that a student needs to do ordinary, academic work in school and college; the verbal and the mathematical skills.

"They don't tell you how well a pupil will cope with his subjects, or how well he can manage people, or sell soap, or captain a football team. They were never intended to do these things."

Confusion also arises over tests failure to measure the special qualities of genius which are often exhibited in rebellion against school work of any kind, including the kind that I.Q. tests score.

Although Dr. Dyer insists that I.Q. tests are not designed to pick out Einsteins and Edisons, both notoriously poor students, he doubts very much that students of this type are uniformly poor-scorers. In fact, he feels that tests have often helped teachers to "discover" students whose ability was not apparent in their academic work.

"If you have ever been in the company of a group of students who were top-notch scorers on intelligence tests, I think you have found that they are not the docile type, that they are not just the glibe type, that many of them are deeply reflective thinkers."

Myers, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Myers of Wall Street, West Hurley, on Sunday, Dec. 24 at 1:30 p. m. in Church of Messiah, Rhinebeck.

Officiating during the double ring ceremony was the Rev. Robert Creech, cousin of the bride. Mrs. Ella W. Caffey was soloist and George Hull was the organist.

The church was decorated with red and white carnations.

The bride was given in marriage by her grandfather. She wore a gown of creme colored brocade fashioned with a fitted bodice, long sleeves tapered to points over the wrists and a Sabrina neckline. The full skirt which featured side panniers and a peplum swept back into a chapel length train. The wide illusion veil was shirred to a princess crown of pearls. She carried white carnations on a prayer book.

Miss Lois Blackwell of Sawkill served as maid of honor in a pink nylon gown. She carried blue and white carnations. Miss Leta Blackwell of Sawkill served as bridesmaid and Miss Mary Myers was junior bridesmaid. They wore blue nylon dresses with lace headpieces and carried pink and white carnations.

Lou Egbertson of West Hurley was best man and ushering were Dan Purfield of Rhinebeck and Ronnie Every of West Hurley.

The bride was graduated from Kingston High School and is employed by Bib Scot. Her fiance was graduated from Onteora Central and is employed by Universal Road Machinery Company.

COFFEE KEEPS HER AWAKE

Q: I find that I can no longer drink coffee late at night as it keeps me awake. When visiting friends in the evening and the hostess serves coffee and cake, would it be permissible to ask her if I may have tea instead of coffee?

A: You should not ask your hostess for tea which she may not even have in the house. All you can do is to say, "No thank you, I find it keeps me awake" and hope that she will offer you something else.

A Come-and-Go Party

Q: My husband and I will soon be celebrating our 25th wedding anniversary and we would like to give a reception on that day for our many friends and relatives. As our house is not large enough to accommodate all of them at the same time, we thought of making it a "come-and-go party." Will you please tell me how we can word the invitations so that the guests will do just that and not remain throughout the afternoon?

A: If you invite guests to come in between certain specified hours—say four to six o'clock—It should be taken to mean that they are expected to come in any time between these hours, stay a short while and leave. Some guests may come early and stay late but a majority of them will "come and go."

Difficulty in Eating Peas

Q: I find it very difficult to eat peas. They always slide all over the plate and very often wind up on the tablecloth. Would it be proper to mash them between the tines of the fork and eat them that way, or would this be considered bad table manners?

A: Correctly, you push the ends of the tines of the fork under the peas and lift a not-too-big mouthful onto the fork. If you find this difficult to do, it would be permissible to mash a few peas with the tines of the fork and eat as you would mashed potato.

Over 100 Attend Girl Scouts 1st Campers Reunion

Over 100 Ulster County Girl Scouts assembled at the Old Dutch Church Wednesday for the first annual campers' reunion of Camp Wendy, Ulster County's Girl Scout camp.

Many of the 1961 staff members, led by Mrs. Mary Groft, Camp Wendy's 1961 director, were on hand to meet the campers. Mrs. Groft, who directed one of the most successful seasons in the history of the camp, has recently agreed to return to Camp Wendy for the 1962 season.

During the afternoon, the girls had an opportunity to renew many of the friendships made during the past season. Also, plans were outlined for the 1962 camping season.

Camp Wendy, near Wallkill, is ideally suited for a girl's camp. Over 64 acres of fields and woods surround picturesque Lake Louise. Housing at Camp Wendy includes tents, cabins and Adirondack shelters. There are facilities for every kind of summer sport and recreation. A healthy program of education including camping skills, nature study, and getting-along-with-others highlights every camper's day.

During the six-week 1961 season, 300 Ulster County Girl Scouts attended two-week sessions at the camp. Among the recreational facilities they participated in were archery, swimming, boating, cook-outs, sleep-outs, campfire-sings and many others.

Camp Wendy is directed according to the rules established by the National Girl Scouts' Division of the American Camping Association. Waterfront regulations are planned to meet the requirements of the American Red Cross. Experienced counselors supervise every activity.

The first annual Camp Wendy reunion was planned by Mrs. George Markow and Mrs. Eugene Abramsky. Assisting them was a committee of girls elected by the campers of the 1961 season.

On the committee were Bonnie Thoben of New Paltz; Barbara Hoffman, Saugerties; Pamela Mattice, Highland; Sharon Hoffman, Saugerties; Mary Dixon, Ellenville; Patricia Craft, Ellenville; Lynn Faurie, Milton; and Tory Burkhart, of New Paltz.

Refreshments were served by members of the committee.

New Broadway Play Gets Good Review

By WILLIAM GLOVER
Associated Press Drama Critic

NEW YORK (AP) —Clear the track for "Subways Are for Sleeping."

Big, fast and funny, the musical roared into the St. James Theater Wednesday night with Sydney Chaplin and Carol Lawrence as star performers.

Crowding them closely in the applause department are Orson Bean and Phyllis Newman, a pair of hilarious cutups, and the batch of brilliant dances created by director and choreographer Michael Kidd.

A trio of veteran Broadway hitmakers—Jule Styne, Betty Comden and Adolph Green—base the show on Edmund G. Love's book about a bunch of screwball New Yorkers.

The Styne score includes a couple of haunting ballads, and the dialogue and lyrics by Comden and Green are slickly witty.

Winsome Miss Lawrence is cast as a magazine writer sent out to examine those denizens of the big city who resourcefully devise complex schemes for avoiding steady work and fixed residence.

Among them she discovers Chaplin, a provider of tips on odd jobs and warm basements; Bean, an ex-millionaire who gleefully rotates among fiends for room and board; and Miss Newman, who has solved the money problem by never leaving her unpaid-for hotel room.

"Subways Are for Sleeping" will keep you wide awake.

School District Merger Approved

Proposed merger of the Staatsburg Union Free School district and the Hyde Park district has been approved by the State, according to Walter G. Clifford, superintendent of the Hyde Park district.

Approval was a layout of the proposed Central School District 1, Towns of Hdye Park, Clinton, Rhinebeck, Poughkeepsie and Pleasant Valley. The layout was prepared by State Commissioner of Education James E. Allen Jr.

Superintendent Clifford said the next step will be submission of petitions for a referendum on the merger and a request that polls be open in both districts and the ballots mixed before counting.

Petitions for the referendum will require only 100 signers in each district. The superintendent said the districts expect to submit them on Tuesday and voting probably will take place in January, 1962.

The Hyde Park district obtained 1,000 signatures on its petition seeking the merger.

Staatsburg Union Free School district had 600 signatures of qualified voters.

ASK THE DESIGNER by gaile dugas

Dear Gaile: I would like to know what part of my present wardrobe is suitable and what I should plan for in arranging for our first trip to Florida the latter part of February. (We will be attending my brother's wedding at the University of Miami campus chapel at 8 p. m., a candlelight service.)

I seem to favor black in my dress clothes but delight in colorful shoes and hats. I have a black peau-de-soie, a strapless black lace sheath with jacket and a black silk shantung sheath. Are these suitable? I have a white winter coat with white fox collar and a black faille dress coat.

My mother has a problem, too She is in her 60s with beautifully styled silver hair. What should she wear? The bride's mother is wearing ice blue. — Mrs. S. D.

Dear Mrs. S. D.: It is the expert opinion of designer Harvey Berlin that black would Not be chic in the South. He says:

"Rather than black, I suggest you consider orange sherbet, misty blue, bluish pink, raspberry or cafe brown. Either chiffon or Chantilly lace would be a good choice but nothing beaded, please.

"As for a wrap, at that time of year you could use a little mink stole or jacket. Or, a lined cashmere sweater, a lacy or silk chiffon stole. Any one of these could pick up or match the color of your dress. As for your shoes, they should be dyed to match your dress.

"Your mother might consider a Chantilly lace in a wonderful shade of pinky mauve, a true mauve or a mint green. Any of these would set off her hair beautifully."

Dear Gaile: Our vacation for January 15th to Februrary 15th presents some problems. I would appreciate your advice. We will spend one week in Arizona, one week in Las Vegas and a week in southern California. We are driving so luggage is no problem.

I have sweaters, skirts, slacks in beige and a pale blue, beige wool dress, beige cotton brocade dinner dress. I also have a gray wool suit, black knit dress, black silk dinner dress, navy afternoon dress, white wool coat, mink jacket and accessories for all those things. What bothers me is: will my clothes be right for Arizona?—Mrs. C. H. H.

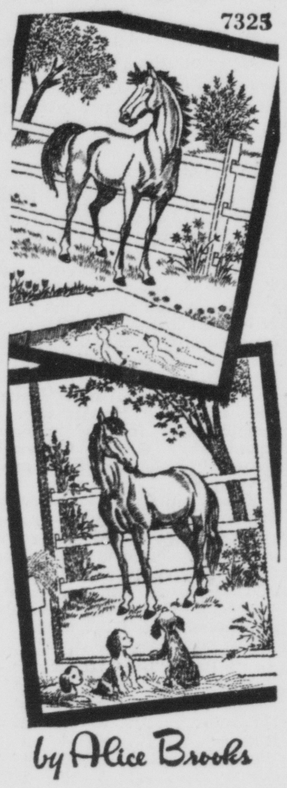

Dear Mrs. C. H. H.: Designer Hannah Troy says they will not. She suggests that you leave those black things at home since they are too citified for Arizona — or southern California. She says:

"You will need some cocktail dresses in vivid colors for southern California. But these will do for dinner, too; you won't need real evening clothes for any of these places.

"You will want shorts and slacks in white to be worn with white, low-heeled shoes and silk shirts or sweaters in turquoise, deep coral, citron and orange. Buy some turquoise shoes to wear with those beige dresses. And have your shoes dyed to match your new cocktail clothes."

Mont Pleasant Drubs Kingston High, 67-44, in Cage Tilt

Winners Gain Command Late In 2nd Period

Mont Pleasant of Schenectady broke a 19-19 tie with a run of nine straight points late in the second period and went on to trounce Kingston High, 67-44, last night in a contest that looked as if it might be held on a gridiron.

A total of 43 fouls were called by the referees but most of them were'nt tooted until final stages of the game when both sides were sprinkled with reserves. Until then, John Duffner and Mike Ferraro of Kingston had been banished on five personals and more than once, players from both sides did some heavy pushing under the boards.

A great first period by Ferraro kept the locals in contention. But the superior manpower of the home side started to assert itself late in the second quarter. The final half was a romp for the winners.

Kingston might have made a closer game of it if the Maroon players were able to connect at the charity stripe. They made only 10 conversions in 30 attempts. Ronnie Thomas, who finished with 16 points, missed seven of nine foul shots.

The clubs will meet in a return engagement Friday night at the Kate Walton Field House. Pleasant has lost only to Linton in six outings. Kingston has a 3-2 mark. John Falvey, who has been injured, will not play in Friday's tilt.

SHS Tourney Postponed, Will Be Held Friday

The finals of the third annual Saugerties High School cage tourney, slated for tonight at the SHS gym, have been postponed until Friday.

Athletic director Bill Straub of Saugerties said that reports of poor driving conditions forced the postponement.

The schedule for Friday will remain the same as the one for tonight. Middletown will play Cairo in the consolation tilt, slated for 7 p. m., and Albany Academy will meet the Sawyers at 8:30 for the title.

Pleasant JV Cagers Stop KHS, 58-28

Arkansas Counts On Lance Alworth

NEW ORLEANS, (AP)—Nimble-footed Lance Alworth of Arkansas will help the Razorbacks even the odds against Alabama's formidable defense when the two teams meet New Year's Day in the Sugar Bowl.

Alworth, a native of Houston, Tex., was the big gun in Arkansas' attack this year. He's been timed in 9.6 seconds for the 100 yard dash and 21.4 for the 220.

The remarkable Alworth ran this year for 516 yards—an average of 4.69 per carry—and caught 18 passes for another 320 yards. He also punted 32 times for a 35.3 average and led the nation in punt returns with an average of 12 yards on 28 thrusts.

The Sugar Bowl is a sell-out for the Alabama-Arkansas clash. The 83,000 tickets were gone the day ticket sales began.

Byrne Defeats Hayes Five; Trailway Gains 52-46 Win

Byrne Chevrolet remained unbeaten in the YMCA Winter Basketball League with a 62-57 win over Hayes Lincoln-Mercury in the featured tilt last night at the "Y" gym.

In the other contest, hot shooting Marty Kaye taliled 23 points to pace Trailway Cafeteria to a 52-46 decision over the Hub Delicatessen.

Byrne had an apparently safe lead, 50-38, over Hayes starting the final period but it took a pair of baskets in the final 20 seconds by Fred Orr to clinch the decision after the losers had battled from far back.

Bruce Ruffner, Bruce Wiederspiel and Walt Harder were in double digits for the unbeaten squad while George Carpouzis, George Uhl and Tom Fiore paced the losers.

Kaye rimmed eight buckets and seven free throws to pace the Cafeteria quintet. The winners had comfortable margins at the quarter stops. Gary Barnes and Al Brown aided in the victory while Don Kamosa and Pvt. Jim Massa paced the losers.

Upstate Colleges Seeking To Win Cage Championships

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

From Bangor, Me., to Chicago, Upstate New York College basketball teams are seeking today to bring 1961 to a crowning end by copping the titles in holiday tournaments.

In the big Upstate tourney opening in Buffalo today, Drake University of Des Moines, the defending champion, is a slight favorite in the eighth annual Queen City tournament.

In other out-of-state play today, Colgate tangles in the Illinois Holiday Tournament at Chicago, and Buffalo appears in the Springfield College invitational at Springfield, Mass.

Also today, Union hosts the Holiday basketball tournament in Schenectady and Rochester tech is host to the Rochester invitational.

Seek Second Title

St. Bonaventure, winner of the Blue Grass Festival title, goes after its second tourney crown when it faces DePaul in the Motor City Tournament that opens Friday at Detroit. Syracuse also is featured.

In an Upstate tournament that opened Wednesday night, host Siena edged Alfred 57-54 and Albany State trounced Rensselaer Poly 79-49 in the opening round of the Capital City Round-Robin at Albany. Today, Albany meets Alfred and RPI faces Siena in the second-round of a three-day tourney.

At Buffalo, the Drake Bulldogs have speed and height to throw at St. Joseph's of Philadelphia in the first contest in Buffalo Memorial auditorium. each has a 4-2 season record.

In the second tilt of the opening round, Cornell, toppled from the undefeated ranks Tuesday night, faces Canisius. Cornell suffered its first setback in seven games against Bradley, 85-59. Canisius has a 4-1 record.

The opening round pairings in Schenectady are Hamilton vs. Union and St. Lawrence vs. Kenyon of Gambier, Ohio.

At Albany Wednesday night, the Siena-Alfred contest was decided in the closing seconds as Siena's Paul Thorpe and Gene Culnan each converted a pair of free throws to erase Alfred's 54-53 lead.

Arkansas Coach Picks Ole' Miss

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Mississippi generally is favored to beat Texas in the Cotton Bowl Monday but the Longhorns will be glad to know that a man thoroughly qualified to give an opinion thinks they have an even chance of victory.

The man is Frank Broyles, coach of Arkansas, a team that lost to Mississippi 16-0 and to Texas 33-7. Arkansas was the only mutual opponent.

"I took a poll of my football team and the players voted 50-50 but my coaching staff gave Mississippi a slight edge—with fullback Billy Ray Adams in there. But with Adams out, I would say the teams are about equal and I would call the game a tossup," said Broyles.

Adams, injured in an automobile after the season was over, will miss the Cotton Bowl.

The Arkansas coach said Mississippi had the finest line a team of his ever played against and that Texas had the finest backfield. Broyles declared that "Texas can move the ball on anybody and Mississippi will have to play great on defense."

RoseBowlCoaches Do Some Jabbing

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) —In what should be the touchy phase of practice for their New Year's Day Rose Bowl meeting, the two coaching rivals today drawled quips at each other.

"I couldn't stand a mutinous squad," cracked Murray Warmath of Minnesota when asked why he didn't limit his squad to two meals daily as UCLA's Bill Barnes is doing.

Told of Warmath's comment on his practice of feeding the Bruins a 10:30 a.m. breakfast and a 5:30 p.m. dinner, Barnes retorted:

"I'm doing better than Warmath. He doesn't feed his boys anything, trying to starve them for Rose Bowl revenge."

Barnes explained his two-a-day feeding program was an effort to keep his boys "on the lean and hungry side."

Warmath, who was snarling at his Gophers Tuesday following the Christmas Day layoff, said things went smoothly in Wednesday's two-hour session.

Barnes said the Uclans had a "very good workout" Wednesday. "Our passing was very good—all three tailbacks were passing effectively," said Barnes, once tutored by Warmath as a Tennessee assistant.

Ohio State, UCLA to Meet Tonight, But Not in Rose Bowl

By DON WEISS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Memo to Woody Hayes: Hey coach, Ohio State is going to play UCLA after all. But don't pull back those Christmas cards with the drooping roses. The game is not in your sport.

The Ohio State Buckeyes, stopped by a faculty committee from accepting a Rose Bowl football invitation to play the Uclans at Pasadena, will bring it off in basketball instead—tonight in the semifinals of the Los Angeles Classic.

The Bucks, unanimous choices as No. 1 among the college hoopsters again this season, made it eight in a row with a hard-earned 59-49 first round victory over Washington at the Los Angeles Arena Wednesday night. Jerry Lucas, the two-time All-America, led with 20 points and a bundle of rebounds for the Bucks, who'll meet a UCLA team that toyed with Army 86-72 in its tournament opener.

The other semifinal matches fourth-ranked Southern California, an 80-63 winner over Purdue, and unranked Utah, which whipped seventh-ranked West Virginia, 84-83.

Two Other Tourneys

Ten other major tournaments will be in action tonight, including such choice pairings as defending NCAA champ Cincinnati vs. LaSalle and unbeaten Dayton vs. Wisconsin in the Holiday Festival at New York; and Villanova vs. third-ranked Duquesne in a semifinal battle of unbeatens in the Quaker City tournament at Philadelphia.

The All-College matches Bowling Green, which knocked Seattle out of the unbeaten ranks 70-61 Wednesday night, against Wichita, 71-69 victor over Texas A&M in overtime; plus a game between Tuesday's winners, Houston and Utah State.

Los Angeles Classic—Lucas' 20 points and rebounding, John Havlicek's 12 points and solid defense by the whole club kept Ohio State in control against Washington, although the Huskies once got to within four points in second half. Southern Cal (8-1) got 19 points apiece from John Rudometkin and Chris Appel and held All-America Terry Dischinger to 12—less than half his average—in romp over once-beaten Purdue. Gary Cunningham's 21 points, 17 in first half, triggered UCLA's rout of Army; and Billy McGill, the nation's leading scorer, netted 39 points—a tournament record—as Utah (9-1) spilled West Virginia to its second loss in eight starts.

Big Eight—Mike Wroblewski's 20 points led fifth-ranked Kansas State (8-1) over Nebraska; and Missouri (5-4) upset Oklahoma State (7-2) 60-44 with a second half rally.

Far West at Portland, Ore.—Washington State, with Terry Ball scoring 23, spilled California 61-54, and Oregon State crushed Michigan 89-54. Tonight, it's Idaho-Portland and Oregon-Michigan State, completing the first round.

All-College at Oklahoma City—Bowling Green (6-1), down by 11 at the half, routed Seattle in second half, with 6-8 Nate Thurmond leading the way with 18 points. Then Wichita, with a 9-1 record including a one-point upset of Cincinnati, edged Texas A&M in overtime as Ernie Moore scored after swiping an Aggie pass with 11 seconds left.

Guf South at Shreveport—Richie Goldberg's 24 points led Mississippi Southern's 81-72 triumph over Louisiana Tech; and Centenary downed Murray (Ky) 81-69.

Kentucky, ranked sixth nationally, headed the teams playing in nontournament activity. The Wildcats, with Larry Pursiful hitting for 25 points and Cotton Nash and Carroll Burchett 16 apiece, thumped Yale 79-58 for their seventh victory in eight starts. Ralph Wells scored the ast four of his 21 points in overtime for Northwestern's 64-62 decision over Princeton; St. Louis snapped a four-game losing streak, 81-72 over Notre Dame; New Mexico State whipped Brigham Young 70-64 and Marquette branch, 930.

Aussies Finish Davis Cup Rout

MELBOURNE, Australia (AP) —Australians Rod Laver and Roy Emerson completed a 5-0 rout of Italy in the Davis Cup challenge round today, then settled back to await professional offers from tennis promoter Jack Kramer.

Both are reported interested in joining the Kramer troupe for a swing through Australia beginning next month.

Although Kramer hasn't spoken, he is expected to offer the two young Queenslanders contracts similar to those accepted by Americans Butch Buchholz and Barry Mackay right after the Davis Cup competition last year. They were guaranteed about $30,000 for three years.

Laver turned back Italian ace Nicola Pietrangeli in a five-set match after Emerson had routed Orlando Sirola, 6-2, 6-3, 4-6, 6-2. Laver finaly prevailed over Pietrangeli 6-3, 3-6, 4-6, 6-3, 8-6.

Laver and Emerson hold all the major amateur tennis titles of 1961. Laver won the Wimbledon championship and Emerson took the Australian and U.S. titles, the latter in an upset of Laver.

SCHOLASTIC CORNER

By ED PALLADINO

The best way to start a controversy is to sit down and try to select an all-star team. Whether the sport be a major one such as baseball, football or basketball or whether it be lacrosse, the avid fan and the armchair quarterback will find fault in the selection and attempt to make a better one.

After much soul-searching thought, we have attempted to select the ten best DUSO League basketball performers since the post-war period. Bear in mind, that when we say since the post-war period, we are not taking into consideration many of the top cagers in the league in the early 1940s. Frankly, basketball has changed by leaps and bounds since before the war and it's unfair to try and compare those performers with the later day ones.

We haven't been around since the post-war period began and many of the selections have been made only after some talks with the veterans of the hardwood sport, those who have been on the scene many more years than this observer.

We also took into consideration the fact that players were judged, not on one great season but on two or even three seasons of top grade high school basketball. Many performers at the schools didn't reach their peaks until they played college ball. To mention two from Kingston, they would be Frank Koenig and Marty Kaye.

In picking our top ten choices, we are not placing them on a first or second team or picking them by positions. They are our selections as the ten best cagers in the DUSO League and here they are:

FOUR FROM KINGSTON

Kingston is represented by four players. They include Ronnie Scheffel, Dick Bezemer, Skip Brodhead and Joe Uhl. From Newburgh we pick Dick Tyler and Mickey Burkoski. From Poughkeepsie our choices are Monty Stickles and Garry Mendez. Alex Osowick represents Port Jervis and Bob Laskowitz is our choice from Fallsburgh.

Why does Kingston have four representatives? The reason is simple. During the late 1940s, the early 1950s and then last season, the Maroon cage teams completely dominated the league.

Scheffel is the best known of the foursome. He scored 845 points in two full seasons and part of a third. Ronnie had great speed and tremendous shooting ability as a high school player. He later went to North Carolina State and was a backcourt star for Coach Ev Case.

Bezemer was a good player as a junior and tremendous as a senior. He tallied 454 points in his final year and totaled 714 for two seasons. Dick also starred in college, at Rollins in Florida.

Brodhead was the first KHS player to score more than 1,000 points. He had 1,066 for three seasons. Skip was fast and could shoot. He also played defense and did a good job. There's no doubt he would have been a good college player if he stayed in school.

Uhl takes a back seat to nobody in all-around ability. Joe tallied 1,282 points in two-and-a-half seasons, set all the modern scoring records at Kingston and was still a good team player. He's now at Boston University and is leading the frosh team in scoring.

POUGHKEEPSIE HAS A PAIR

Poughkeepsie, which came back into the DUSO in the early 1950s, has had two great players and they were members of the team which beat Kingston in that memorable thriller back in 1954. Stickles scored over 1,100 points for Poughkeepsie in three years of varsity play and had a single game high of 46. Though he didn't play basketball in college, he could have. That he became an All-American grid star is a tribute to his athletic abilities.

Mendez was a solid player for Sam J. Kalloch. He had a soft outside shot and was a good boy on the backboards. Garry played his college basketball at Hobart College in Geneva.

Tyler and Burkoski, the two NFA greats, will long be remembered. Tyler tallied 54 points in a single game for the Goldbacks. He was a teammate of Scheffel's at NC State. Burkoski scored 1324 points in four years of DUSO play. He made the Hilly City team as a freshman and started each season. Mickey played with Manhattan College and captained the Jaspers his senior year. He's now jayvee coach at Newburgh.

Osowick has the individual single game high in the DUSO with a fantastic 62 points, made during the 1957-58 season. He also holds the season record, getting 484 markers in 1956-57. Ossie's best shot was a rainbow hook but he also was deadly with a jumper. He's a junior at Manhattan and starts on the cage squad.

Laskowitz kept Fallsburgh in the limelight for three years. He was certainly one of the best ever to come from that small school, which no longer competes in the DUSO city league.

MANY OMISSIONS

In picking our top ten we have omitted many names. Such stars as Mendy Ringel of Monticello; John Lawrence of Liberty; Ed Mack, Jay Bauer and Dick Beams of Port Jervis; Leo Elwell, Lee J. Nelson, Jim Gordon, Deke and Charley Johnson and Steve Albrecht of Poughkeepsie; Ed Weaver, LeRoy Hooker, Joe Albany, Mike Rienzo and Bob Ghear of Kingston; Wayne Mauer of Liberty; Marty Tannenbaum of Ellenville; Jim Merritt of Middletown; Aaron Podhurst of Fallsburgh and Bob Spreer and LeRoy Riley of Newburgh come to mind. There are probably others we have overlooked.

However, we would like to have those ten stars and coach them through four years of college. They figure to win most of their games.

Injury Puts End To Schayes' Mark

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Dolph Schayes' record performance of 706 consecutive games during the regular season and 765, including playoffs, in the National Basketball Association has been halted by an injury.

The 33-year-old Syracuse veteran missed Wednesday night's game due to emergency surgery on his right cheek bone. It was shattered in a collision with Al Attles in a game in Boston Tuesday night.

A hospital spokesman said he doubted Schayes could play for several weeks. It was the first game the veteran forward missed since Feb. 17, 1952.

The Nats missed Schayes as they lost to Los Angeles 119-111. Elgin Baylor led the Lakers with 48 points while teammate Jerry West added 28. Lee Shaffer was high for the Nats with 23 points.

In the nightcap of the doubleheader Philadelphia defeated New York 131-119 as Wilt Chamberlain pushed in 53 points to go over the 50 mark for the 20th time this year.

In other Wednesday night games, Jack Twyman pushed in 34 points to highlight a 142-117 Cincinnati victory over St. Louis. Detroit beat Chicago 121-93 behind the scoring of Gene Shue, who collected 26 points.

New Paltz Five, Red Hook Beaten By Big Margins

Roosevelt Central and Valley Central raced to easy victories last night in the opening round of the first annual New Paltz Central School cage tourney. The Presidents swamped the host school, 66-42, in the second game after Valley Central had knocked off Red Hook, 55-42.

Roosevelt had too much height and manpower for the Huguenots. Art Bell, Pete Brenner and Jim Jeffrey, all standing well over six feet, controlled the backboards and did most of the scoring for the winners, who received limited service from Wes Bialosuknia, their injured star.

Ken Freer rimmed 16 points for New Paltz but his efforts weren't successful. The winners led 15-6, 35-17, and 48-29 at the quarter stops.

It took Valley Central more than a quarter to get warmed up but once the Vikings started to find the range, their match with Red Hook became lopsided. The Hookers led, 12-9 after the first period but by halftime the winners had a 28-17 margin. Red Hook scored a total of five points in each of the second and third periods.

13 Keglers Reach '600' Level

Area bowlers hit the strike zone without too much difficulty last night. In addition to the pair of 700 series, there were 13 bowlers above the 600 circle. It was quite a night.

Ken Boughton led the 600 hitters with a 675 blast in the Hi-Lo League. He slapped out games of 209, 211 and 255.

Shrine Games Clubs Lacking A Quarterback

By HARRY JUPITER
Associated Press Sports Writer

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The lineups for the 37th Shrine East-West football game Saturday are set—except for the quarterbacks.

Both head coaches, Joe Kuharich of the East and Jim Owens of the West, still were trying to decide today between a pair of outstanding quarterbacks on each squad.

Kuharich said he probably wouldn't decide until game time whether the East quarterback would be Roman Gabriel of North Carolina State or Ron Miller of Wisconsin.

Owens had a similar problem, trying to choose between John Had olf Kansas and Mel Melin of Washington State.

The West loaded its biggest men into its defensive line in hopes of halting East smashers Ernie Davis of Syracuse and Bob Ferguson of Ohio State, a sensational pair of All-America runners.

The East stacked up what might be an all Big Ten line for its defensive unit, with six Big Ten linemen and Nick Buoniconti of Notre Dame.

Kuharich still was undecided too on whether he woud use Angelo Daberio of Notre Dame or Gary Ballman of Michigan State as the East flanker back. Daberio is the smallest man on either squad at 5-foot-8 and 165 pounds but the ittle guy from Donora, Pa., is rugged.

Glenerie Bridge Club Results

Miss Dorothy Maroon and Dr. Habeeb Maroon of Kingston posted a fine 60 per cent game to take first place on the North-South side as the Glenerie Bridge Club held its monthly master point game recently at the Stuyvesant-Kingston Hotel.

On the East-West side, Steve Pauker and Dr. Murray Fletcher of Kingston turned in a fine 55 per cent game to take top honors.

Second on the North-South side went to Mrs. Sherman Kent and Mrs. I. H. Wheatcroft of Kingston with a 57 per cent game. Third went to Herbert Gartner and I. H. Wheatcroft of Kingston with a 56½ per cent game. Fourth was won by Mr. and Mrs. Robert Yallum, Kingston, with a 53 per cent game.

Second on the East-West side went to Mr. and Mrs. Stanley London of Kingston with a 54½ per cent game. Third went to Dr. and Mrs. John Olivet of Kingston with a 53 per cent game and fourth went to Harry Thayer of Kingston and Dr. Paul Perlman of Woodstock with a 52 per cent game.

LSU, Colorado Increase Tempo

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — "Pick up your feet, you big horse."... "Don't throw the ball away." ... "Come back and run that one again boys, you looked a little ragged."

These were the sounds of the practice field Wednesday as Colorado and Louisiana State picked up the tempo aimed at their Orange Bowl football collision Monday.

Cold Holds Icy Grip on Many Areas

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Cold weather held an icy grip across the Midwest today and some of the frigid air dipped deep into parts of the Southland.

Snow, sleet and rain created hazardous driving conditions in the north and middle Atlantic regions and parts of the South. Light snow fell in northern Alabama, North Carolina and eastern Tennessee.

Three inches of snow covered areas in northwestern North Carolina and in Tennessee, three inches of ice- and snow-slicked areas in the Cumberland plateau. Temperatures in most of the wet belt were near or below freezing.

Light snow also fell in the Middle Mississippi Valley, the eastern Great Lakes region and the extreme northern Plains.

Below zero again hit areas in Wisconsin, Iowa, Minnesota, Upper Michigan and Illinois. Temperatures dropped below zero in parts of northern Illinois as the cold air moved east and southward from the snow-covered sections of the Midwest.

Coldest air appeared centered in Wisconsin during the morning. It was -15 in Wausau, -12 in Green Bay and -10 in La Crosse. It also was -10 in Marquette, Mich., and -8 in Minneapolis.

Temperatures moderated to near normal levels in most of Florida after unseasonable cold earlier this week. Readings were mostly in the 50s and 60s, with Miami reporting 62.

Snow to Measure About 4 Inches Or More in N.Y.

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — Wet snow peppered much of New York State today, and the Weather Bureau forecast four or more inches by nightfall in parts of the southeastern portion.

The bureau said the snow would taper off to flurries tonight, except for scattered squalls. Tonight was expected to be windy and temperatures were likely to range from near zero in some mountain valleys, through the teens to the low 20s in New York City.

Wednesday night's overnight low temperatures were mostly in the 20s and 30s.

MSH Security Is Not Sufficient Baratta Insists

Security at Matteawan State Hospital for the Criminally Insane, Beacon, should be at least equivalent to that taken and utilized in state prison, Dutchess County District Attorney Raymond C. Baratta on Wednesday told Supreme Court Justice Leonard Supple.

Baratta's comment came just before Justice Supple discharged the June Supreme Court grand jury which investigated security at the Southern Dutchess institution after five inmates sawed their way to freedom with a smuggled in saw last July 28.

Baratta called the cost of enclosing the entire Matteawan property within a wall or fence financially prohibitive. He recommended that certain buildings on the hospital grounds should be completely secured by prison-type walls or fences.

The district attorney said his office found windows and bars on some of the Matteawan buildings were not adequate and without protection of steel screening, which would prevent illegal passage of articles and contraband from the outside.

The Supreme Court grand jury handed up a six-count indictment charging the five inmates involved in the unsuccessful dash for freedom with conspiracy and escape.

The five inmates who escaped and were captured by authorities are still confined at Matteawan. They are Harold Weinberg, 33; Pedro Arroyo, 31; Walter Pierce, 19; Steve Wuchich, 41, and Raphael Batista, 35.

Baratta told Justice Supple the matter of security at Matteawan rests with the State Department of Correction.

Hints Surprise In Laos Talks

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP)—Neutralist Prince Souvanna Phouma smiled and told reporters Thursday: "Let me work on this three or four days. Maybe you will have quite a nice surprise."

That was Souvanna's summary of a day of behind-the-scenes talks among Laotians—watched over by U.S., British and Soviet ambassadors—to check prospects for revival of the Laotian three princes' abortive summit conference.

Premier Prince Boun Oum, a rightist, persisted in his refusal to sit with Phouma and Phouma's half-brother, Prince Souphanouvong, who is pro-Communist, to complete negotiations for a coalition government.

But Gen. Phoumi Nosavan, defense minister and strong man of Boun Oum's administration, paid a courtesy call on Souvanna at the latter's guarded villa. And Souvanna's expression of apparent optimism was issued after that meeting.

Hollywood News, Views

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — It's nice to see Marie Wilson back in movies—and so much of her!

When it was known that Marie would be taking a shower in "Mr. Hobbs Takes His Vacation," your reporter was there, soap in hand.

There With Jimmy

It is the third nude scene I have covered this month, the previous participants having been Julia Meade-Tom Poston and Elsa Martinelli-Charlton Heston. This one had Marie and Jimmy Stewart caught in the steamy shower room.

Marie was wearing the traditional uniform for such scenes: the flesh-colored leotard—director Henry Koster sometimes referred to it as a leopard. Normally such an outfit would satisfy all censorial objections, but on Marie it could get a theater raided. Koster had to admonish her repeatedly to hold the shower curtain where it would do the most good.

The scene has Stewart stumbling into the shower room late at night in a resort hotel. He encounters Marie, supposedly a decorous bird-watcher but actually a late-night tippler who is steaming out her hiccups. Stewart struggles to escape, but the door knob comes offf in his hand.

Too Much Marie

The scene had to be re-shot several times. As Koster commented, "we see too much of Marie."

"Mr. Hobbs Takes His Vacation" is making up for an oversight. The films haven't been seeing enough of Marie in recent years. Her last role was as Marie Antoinette ("I lost my head") in "The Story of Mankind," an episodic marvel made in 1957 and apparently seen by no one.

Before that it was "Marry Me Again," a merry romp with Robert Cummings in 1953.

What has she been doing all this time?

"Oh, I've been busy," she said. "I guess we've played 50-60 weeks in Las Vegas in the past few years. And everywhere else, too."

"We" consists of herself and Ken Murray, her longtime sparring mate of "Blackouts."

If anything, Marie's figure is better than before—a stupifying 39-19-37½. Her waist is three inches smaller than when she ruled as queen of the "Blackouts," during its seven-year Hollywood run, the hips shaved an inch. Everything else is the same.

Nehru Denies He Talked With Reds On Goa Invasion

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Prime Minister Nehru said today he did not discuss India's invasion of Goa and two other Portuguese enclaves with the Soviet Union beforehand and had no advance indication of Moscow's support.

He told a news conference "We tried to find some way of escape" from military attack. But he rejected any suggestion that India withdraw from the former Portuguese territory now.

Nehru said the invasion date was postponed twice because of diplomatic approaches by the United States and Britain urging a peaceful settlement. He said the final American effort came too late—only three hours before Indian troops struck.

President Works on '62 Talk

Readying Jan. 10 Congress Message

PALM BEACH, Fa. (AP)—President Kennedy gave priority today to work on his State of the Union Message, with Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman joining the conference sessions.

$3 Billion Increase

Advisers here let it be known Wednesday that work has been concluded on the 1963 budget, that Kennedy has approved it and that it is balanced. It is expected to be in the neighborhood of $92 billion, about $3 billion above this year.

Today, the President turned to the important State of the Union Message which he personally will deliver to Congress shortly after it convenes on Jan. 10.

Pierre Salinger, White House press secretary, said Kennedy probably will spend the rest of the week working on this review of the nation's progress in the past year, both foreign and domestic. It also traditionally includes a prediction of what may lie ahead.

Dillon Joins Talks

Five top-level advisers have been sitting in on the daily sessions with Kennedy. The latest was secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon, who drove here Wednesday from his winter home at nearby Hobe Sound.

After looking in on the elder Kennedy, whose illness has been the center of family attention during this holiday season, the President returned for his own year-end medical check-up.

Dr. Preston Wade, a New York specialist, reported the health of the President, 44, was generally excellent and that his troublesome back condition had improved. But he added that Kennedy will have to wait several months more before he can once again resume vigorous physical activity, such as playing golf.

Back Progress Good

And, said Dr. Wade, the President "must expect to experience, as do all people with similar back troubles, ups and downs and occasional setbacks."

Dr. Wade said the exercises Kennedy has carried on in the past 2½ months have made his back much stronger than it was last summer, and he is "making good progress."

Guilty Plea Is Made by Man in $817,000 Swindle

NEW YORK (AP)—Samuel Rubin, accused of mushrooming a forged $10,000 promissory note into an $817,000 swindle, pleaded guilty Wednesday to three counts of grand larceny.

General Sessions Court Judge George Postel released Rubin, 49, in $5,000 bail pending sentencing Feb. 16. Rubin could get up to 10 years on each count. Asst. Dist. Atty. Leonard Newman had described Rubin as cooperative with investigators.

Rubin's first forged note, for $10,000, occurred in 1945 while he was working for a commercial finance company.

During the next 15 years, the state said, Rubin poured more than $10 million in false notes through a bank account he had set up as a cover.

Principal victims of Rubin's operations were the Chemical Bank New York Trust Co. branch at Broadway and 38th st., which lost $475,000. Other losers were listed as Pam & Co., 370 Seventh Ave., and Cohen-Manheimer Co., 131 W. 30th St., both commercial finance concerns, $47,656 each. Stockholders in Rubin's firms were said to be out $249,288.

Rubin told authorities he always hoped to cover any larcenies with profits of his legitimate businesses, but he added, "I never quite did."

Rubin resided with his wife in a $90,000 home in Atlantic Beach, N.Y. The couple have a married daughter and a son in college.

Last October Rubin, learning that the Chemical Bank was thinking of reviewing all its notes,

VOLUNTEERS ACT TO SAVE HOME — Volunteer firemen of Rifton, St. Remy and Tillson fire companies work furiously Wednesday afternoon to extinguish a fire in the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Duffy and their eight children on Main Street, Rifton. According to Capt. Roy Melbert, the home was heavily damaged and much of the furniture and clothing were destroyed. The home was empty at the time. Duffy was at work and Mrs. Duffy and the children were visiting. An appeal for food and clothing brought almost instant response from neighbors and other Ulster County residents. The family is living in temporary quarters at Rifton Firehouse. (Lakeside photo). Other photo on page 12.

10 Homeless After Fire At Rifton

A Rifton family of 10 was made homeless Wednesday afternoon when flames swept through their 11-room house at Main and Market Streets, virtually destroying the lower floor and causing severe smoke and water damage to the upstairs area.

Mr. and Mrs. John Duffy and eight children: Eileen 16, Ralph 14, Kathleen 12, Michael 11, Mary Anne 7, John 5, Maureen 4, and baby Susan aged one year, are staying in temporary quarters at Rifton Firehouse until they can find a place to live.

Mrs. Duffy told the Freeman that she has received many offers of food, clothing and in some instances money. She said offer of at least one place to live has been made, but she doesn't expect to contact the person until this evening. Among those sending food to the stricken Duffys was the Kingston Lions Club. Duffy is a truck driver for Forst Packing Company, Inc., 113 Abeel Street, here.

Family Out at Time

According to Mrs. Duffy, the family was away when the fire started in the living room near the Christmas tree, about 1:45 p. m. She added that firemen hadn't definitely decided just what caused the blaze, which swept through the five rooms on the first floor of the two-story structure, destroying the interior and contents. She added that the six rooms on the second floor were badly damaged by smoke and water.

Firemen under the direction of Acting Chief Harold Bailey fought the flames. Rifton Vols were assisted by apparatus and men from Tilson and St. Remy.

Rocky Has Door Open For Presidential Bid

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Gov. Rockefeller is keeping a door open for a possible bid for the Republican nomination for president in 1964.

At the same time, he is beginning a formal campaign with a declaration that his sole object is "re-election as governor of the state."

Gives His Views

From what he said at a news conference Wednesday, Rockefeller is entering his campaign for re-election on the premise that:

1. Voters will re-name him governor on the basis of his record.
2. They would have no objection and would even encourage him if he later had an opportunity to win the presidential nomination.
3. A pledge to serve a full, four-year term is therefore unnecessary to win next year.

Plan for 6 Hours

The governor discussed his political future at a joint news conference with several other Republican leaders after a six-hour conference at which they began planning the 1962 campaign.

Rockefeller said this three-year record included economic expansion that produced more jobs, record public works construction and higher state aid to education.

The 1962 Repubican state convention would be held in Buffalo, Syracuse, Rochester or Utica, Rockefeller said. No date was given.

Jury Convicts 11 In Heroin Ring; Feb. Sentencing

NEW YORK (AP)—Eleven defendants in a $150 million international narcotics smuggling conspiracy trial have been convicted.

A federal court jury had deliberated over a two-day period before returning its verdict last night. Judge William B. Herlands ordered all 11 held without bail pending sentencing Feb. 1.

10-Year Activity

The 11 men were accused of being members of a ring which smuggled heroin into this country in the last 10 years.

Before sentencing, Judge Herlands said, he will conduct a hearing on the same date on the question of whether wiretapping

Two Local Youths Die In Crash

Senor, Fiore Are In Trailer Mishap

Two Kingston youths, heading homeward after the Kingston-Mont Pleasant basketball game Wednesday night in Schenectady, were killed early today when a big tractor-trailer rammed into the rear of their disabled car on the Thruway between Catskill and Saugerties.

State police identified the dead boys as Charles Edward Senor, 18, son of Jacob and Alma Senor of 35 Grove Street and Peter Fiore Jr., son of Peter and Edna Fiore Sr. of 71 Lindsley Avenue. Peter would have been 18 next month.

Truck Driver Critical

The truck driver, Francis DiDonna, 36, of 22 William Street, Seneca Falls, is in critical condition in Greene County Memorial Hospital, Catskill, with a compound fracture of the arm, severe shock, lacerations and abrasions and severe scalp injuries.

The Senor boy died of a fractured skull and a fractured neck, while the Fiore boy's death was due to a skull fracture, Coroner Henry Millspaugh of Catskill, reported.

According to Sgt. W. E. Ebel of Kingston Thruway barracks, the double tragedy occurred about 1:15 a. m. today at the 106 mile post on the southbound lane of the Thruway, almost eight miles south of the Catskill interchange, in Greene County.

Apparently Out of Gas

He said the two boys apparently ran out of gasoline and stopped, and the tractor-trailer plunged into them. The terrific impact wrecked the automobile. The big van jackknifed and the corner of the trailer ripped the cab from the tractor, wrecking it. DiDona's log books and wallet were hurled into the snow and state troopers were some time finding them.

The body of the Fiore boy, the sergeant said, was found lying in front of the wrecked automobile, while that of Senor was wedged in the trunk of the vehicle along with a smashed empty gasoline can. He said it took several hours to remove the body of the Senor boy from the wreckage.

Traffic Held Up 5 Hours

Traffic, the sergeant added, was tied up almost five hours

Radel Budget Would Raise City Taxes $3.28 Thousand, $12,000 Library Cut

Hearing Wednesday night on the 1962 city budget fixing $2,555,664.74 to be raised by taxes and a tax rate of $63.38 per $1,000 assessed valuation, revealed that bids for departmental pay raises are left for consideration by the administration of mayor-elect John J. Schwenk.

The hearing, as it did in the airing of this year's budget, dealt largely with the sum listed for the Kingston City Library, which is some $12,000 less than the total allowed for 1961.

Mayor Edwin F. Radel's reply to a bid by Francis T. Arguiewicz, as president-elect of the Kingston Uniformed Firemen's Association, Local 461, for consideration of its Career Incentive Plan, revealed that all requests for salary increases are to be dealt with by the in-coming administration.

Has File of Requests

The mayor said he has a file of requests for pay boosts which are to be left with Mayor-elect John J. Schwenk and the 1962 Common Council for consideration.

These, it was learned today, include a general bid from civil service employes for a 12 per cent increase, with separate "plan" bids from the police and fire departments.

Spokesmen for the library, including members of its board of trustees, emphasized the need for providing the $32,000 asked for, instead of the $22,000 provided in the 1962 budget. The 1961 library budget was $34,005.93.

Rate $3.28 Higher

The 1962 tax rate, as fixed last week, is $3.28 higher than the $60.10 rate in 1961.

The nine items listed totaled $116,000. They included as increases over 1961 of $31,600 in the retirement fund; $6,000 in social security; $13,000 in the fire department, $3,000 in the police department, $2,000 for refuse collection; $22,666 for snow removal due to last winter's heavy snow, plus $15,000 in the regular snow removal fund; $20,000 due to damage by Hurricane Donna, and $3,500 for repair of a broken steam line in the municipal heating system.

There were other lesser additional sums, he said. Last winter's snow removal cost was actually $67,000, but under a plan permitted by the state, it may be paid in installments, and the city's share for 1962 is $22,666

Asks for More

Bids for an increased library budget were made by J. R. Shults, who heads the library board, its trustees, Attorney Hugh R. Elwyn, Chester A. Baltz Jr. former Mayor Frederick H. Stang, and several others, including Harry M. Thayer, general manager of Radio Station WGHQ.

The hearing, which drew an attendance of some 50 persons, including heads of city departments, ended with no specific complaints against the $3.28 tax rate increase.

Schwenk Attends

Mayor-elect John J. Schwenk attended, but did not speak. Among city department heads attending were: Police Chief Robert F. Murphy, Fire Chief James M. Brett; City Assessor James D. Devine; City Treasurer Orrie R. Riehl; City Clerk Raymond A. McAndrew; Public Works Superintendent Charles J. Cole; Building Inspector Joseph F. Smith; Recreation Superintendent Andrew J. Murphy 3rd and Elmore C. Yallum, planning board chairman.

J. R. Shults, who indicated he will not again be president of the library's board of trustees, held that the city actually needs a better library than it has, and he failed to see how the library could function on a budget of $22,000.

Shults emphasized the comparative library budgets and per capita cost for operation in Newburgh, Poughkeepsie and Ellenville, and copies of a full report on the library's finances were passed out to the audience.

Makes Comparisons

Newburgh ,it was noted, with a population of 30,979, has a library budget of $74,723 and a per capita cost of $2.41. Poughkeepsie, with a population of 38,330, has a library budget of $116,327 and a per capita cost of $3.03, and at Ellenville, with a population of 5,003, the library budget is $39,783 with a per capita cost of $7.95. Kingston, with a population of 29,260, has a library budget of $22,000 and a per capita cost of 75 cents.

Attorney Elwyn said he was sympathetic with the desire to cut taxes, but he felt it should

Disputes GOP Contention Of Congress Conservatism

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., disputed today Republican contententions that a wave of conservatism threatens administration programs in Congress.

Mansfield, the Senate Democratic leader, said in an interview his travels during the recess of Congress have convinced him the country "is still on the middle road, politically, and is going neither to the extreme right nor the extreme left."

"There is a need and a place for conservatives in our scheme of political things," he said. "But I would separate the real conservatives from the extreme right wingers who feel that they have the only answers to our problems —those who insist on dealing in black and white when all the world's problems are gray."

Senate Repubican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinoi. told a news conference Wednesday he agrees with House Republican Leader Charles A. Halleck of Indiana that there is a revival of conservatism which could affect Democratic control of Congress in next year's elections.

Halleck previously had said a

Suspend Cop In Probe of Shakedown

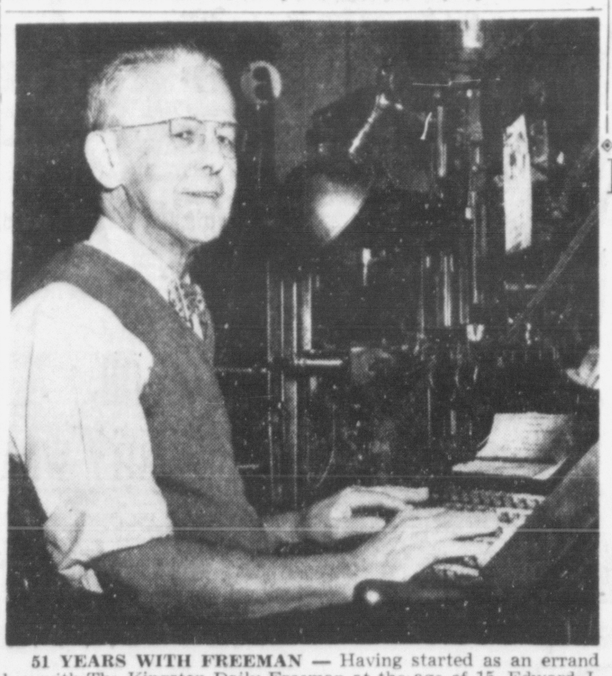

NEW YORK (AP)—Police Captain Vincent J. Mansfield, 43, has been suspended and ordered to appear before a grand jury on complaints that he shook down merchants for Christmas gifts and chiseled money from policemen under his command.

He is accused of telling members of his command that he would overlook infractions of regulations if they paid him.

While under investigation, Mansfield submitted an application for retirement to be effective Friday. This will be held in abeyance until the charges have been disposed of.

Mansfield's suspension from his $10,581-a-year job was announced Wednesday night by Police Commissioner Michael J. Murphy.

Mansfield, who denies the charges, was supervisor of uniformed men in a police division in The Bronx.

51 YEARS WITH FREEMAN — Having started as an errand boy with The Kingston Daily Freeman at the age of 15, Edward J. Perry, a linotype operator, finishes his last story and retires after 51 years and two months Wednesday. He holds the record of being the youngest man to retire from the company with the most years of service. (Freeman photo).

Edward Perry Retires From 51 Years as Freeman Printer

An employe who spent 51 years with the Freeman publishing Company retired Wednesday at the end of the working day.

Edward Steeger, president of Local 322, Kingston Typographical Union, presented him with a gift in cash from the organization.

It was an occasion for sentimentality, and Mr. Perry thanked his co-workers, but stressed that he was "sort of lost for words at a time like this."

Making a tour of The Freeman plant earlier in the day, he said he would have many fond memories for the future. His plans? "I'm just going to take it easy."

Mr. Perry joined The Freeman as an errand boy. The plant was in a portion of the present Cornell Building on Ferry Street. "When it went to the present address 1-3 Broadway, I followed right along," he said.

Moving up as time passed, Mr. Perry learned the printing trade and is familiar with every phase of it.

First he was with the job department which did commercial printing, including books, and legal documents.

When the job department gave way to an expanding newspaper circulation and was discontinued, Mr. Perry became a compositor on the paper and was a linotype operator at the time of retirement.

Wagner Assails School-Aid Plan, Urges Revision

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The state's Diefendorf Commission met today to receive reports of its study of state aid to education in the wake of a renewed demand by New York City's mayor for a new formula for distributing the aid.

Mayor Robert F. Wagner reiterated Wednesday his dissatisfaction with the present formula for state-aid to communities, which he termed outmoded.

He called for "an entirely new formula, based on modern knowledge and needs" as a permanent base for future appropriations.

Wagner said, "We will stand no longer for the system which allows $117 less per year per pupil in state aid for education in New York City and which allows inequities all along the line throughout the state. The time for a change is long overdue."

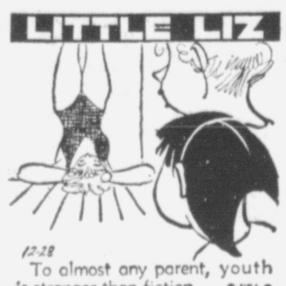

The state presently allocates $800 million a year in aid to education. Law prescribes that $389.40 a year be spent for elementary pupils and $486.75 for high school pupils.

Under the present system, the state pays 42 per cent of the total education costs and the local districts raise the rest themselves through property tax.

The commission, established by Gov. Rockefeller and headed by Charles H. Diefendorf, a Buffalo banker, will make recommendations to the 1962 Legislature on the state aid to education formula.

Trial Is Ordered On Lottery Rule Concerning Bingo

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—A State Supreme Court justice has ordered a trial next month to determine the validity of a State Lottery Commission rule against the running of bingo games more than three times a week in one hall.

A stay on the enforcement of the rule was continued Wednesday by Justice Russell G. Hunt, who acted on a move by 19 New York City veterans' organizations which sought an injunction against the commission.

The rule was issued by the commission last June, in an apparent attempt to prevent profit-making enterprises from capitalizing on renting halls to charitable groups.

At a September hearing on the motion by the 19 organizations, Hunt accused the commission of "trying to do by indirection what you are afraid to do directly."

Presiding at the January term of court will be Justice Kenneth S. MacAffer.

The company reported an operating loss of more than $1,500 for 1960 to the PSC.

No Carrier Service After January 13 Where Dogs Bite

By LOUIS G. PANOS

WASHINGTON (AP) — Unless you have one that's really sure-fire, don't bother to send the Post Office Department any ideas for solving its dog-bite problem.

It has enough. They've been streaming in ever since the department announced last month that it would change its policy on dogs with a yen for mailmen's shank.

The present policy of warning the offending dog's owner—by mail—was adopted three years ago after more than 6,000 carriers reported canine attacks in 1957.

The Post Office said today its new policy, under which the owner will be telephoned to pick up his own mail, will become effective Jan. 13.

But the mailmen's plight caught the imagination of many concerned and inventive citizens and of many who apparently don't much care for dogs. They came up with batches of suggestions, most of them urging the use of special equipment ranging from bats to cats.

A Valier, Mont., man preferred the subtle approach. Give the carrier a cat, he suggested. When the dog attacks, turn the cat loose and "while the dog is chasing the cat, the mailman can get his work done."

Others proposed less dramatic equipment—a water pistol filled with ammonia, a tear gas gun "which is painful but harmless," electric shock canes like those used by livestock auctioneers, dogbite-proof leather boots or even dogbite-proof pants made of aluminum thread.

But a Highland Park, Mich., man would shun these purely defensive measures in favor of the tooth-for-a-tooth philosophy. The Post Office should set up centers for dogs of its own, he said, and these should "be trained to attack any dog attacking a postman."

As in any great pubic debate, even the experts clashed.

But a carrier in Jamaica, N.Y., rebelled in rhyme:

"There was a mailman in Frankfort
"Who fed dogs more than he ort.
"He tendered a strudel
"To a friendly poodle,

Pathologist Is Cleared of Acts In Weiner Case

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—A committee within the Philadelphia County Medical Society has cleared the city's former chief pathologist of any wrongdoing in connection with autopsy reports and testimony at the manslaughter trial of Dr. Albert L. Weiner.

The report Wednesday by the Professional Relations and Grievance Committee stated "there is no evidence that Dr. Campbell improperly altered or falsified any of the autopsy reports in the case of Joseph Brooks."

Campbell was fired Dec. 1 after he testified at Weiner's trial in Camden, N.J. Weiner was convicted of 12 counts of manslaughter in the alleged serum hepatitis deaths of patients. Brooks was one of Weiner's patients.

Campbell has appealed his dismissal from the $22,049-a-year post to the Civil Service Commission.

Katrine Man Stabs Self With Bread Knife

A Lake Katrine man, who according to state police was despondent over personal matters and stabbed himself in the diaphragm this morning in the kitchen of his home, is reported in apparently serious condition today at Kingston Hospital.

Kingston state police identified the man as Raymond Barten, 40, of Dogwood Lane. BCI Senior Investigator Edward Shannon reported that Barten stabbed himself with a bread knife inflicting a wound in the diaphragm.

Barten's wife summoned Fatum Ambulance, who notified troopers at about 8 a. m. The Bartens have three children, a girl, eight, and six-year-old twin girls. Aiding in the investigation were BCI Investigator Joseph Ventriglia and Troopers Thomas J. Crowley and W. E. Wiedemann.

Did Not Reopen

After Lincoln was shot in the Ford Theater, public indignation prevented John T. Ford from reopening the theater. He sold it to the government which rebuilt it for War Department offices and storage. In 1893 the floors collapsed, killing 22 people and injuring 68.

Middle Income State Housing Largest in '61

NEW YORK (AP)—New York State in 1961 has had "the largest single middle-income housing program ever developed in any one year anywhere," State Housing Commissioner James W. Gaynor reports.

In a year-end report to Gov. Rockefeller Wednesday, Gaynor also said:

"As a result of our endeavors during the year, we now list 16,984 middle-income apartments in 30 projects valued at $299,738,653 either under construction or planned for construction in 1962."

The report said this figure was part of the aid given by the state to low-rent and middle-income housing under construction or in the planning stage, together with contributions toward urban renewal programs. This made a grand total of $511,518,653 for all the state-aided projects.

MODIFIED ENTHUSIASM

Business forecasts for 1962 remain on the optimistic side There are a number of good signs. A government bureau, for instance, predicts that auto production in the coming 12 months may exceed this year's output by nearly 25 per cent. In the steel sector, orders are heaviest since 1958. A private economic survey finds that 1962 promises to be the best year in history for American business.

These happy prospects would hardly contribute, under normal circumstances, to any unease on the part of the investing community. But recent dividend trends in the stock market give cause for some concern. Anxiety springs from a steep rise in share prices more than offset by a concomitant decline in yields.

To explain, it should be pointed out that stocks are ordinarily bought to permit the holder to participate in earnings. These earnings, as expressed in divided payments, generally run higher than the interest return possible from investment in bonds. This is the market's way of compensating for the capital risk assumed by the stockholder. But when yield figures for stocks decline, as they have recently, to a low average of 3.03 percent, market sophisticates suspect that many issues may be much over-priced. For it is hard to understand the comparison of the foregoing yield with a 3.10 per cent yield obtainable from the safest investment in the world, U.S. Treasury bonds.

This inverse yield ratio has existed before—in 1928, for instance, in the last full year of the great market boom of that decade. It is this knowledge which dampens some of the enthusiasm Wall Street feels over the coming year.

Efforts are being made to keep scientists in government service. What we need is more men skilled in the science of government.

TO BOOST PRODUCTIVITY

The old argument as to whether there should be more automation has become largely academic. Automation of industry through the use of computers and machines that do what used to be the work of men is swiftly growing. The only question now is how we can best use automation to strengthen our economy.

The importance of strengthening our economy—making it more productive, better able to compete with industry in other countries and to undergird foreign aid that will invigorate free societies abroad—cannot be over-emphasized. If the United States is to compete successfully with the burgeoning productive strength of Europe and Japan, and beat the Communist bloc in the economic race, automation is mandatory.

The reason for this, fundamentally, is that America's economic strength and high standard of living are based on high production per man-hour. The only way to retain that preeminence is to increase production. History shows that this can be done by putting more and better machines to work.

There is a big complicating factor in the rise of automation, however. As machines and electric brains assume more and more of the productive burden, serious disruption may occur in the labor force. Technological unemployment accounts for a substantial part of the nation's present high jobless total.

Any unemployment over and above a normal percentage is a deplorable waste, quite aside from the hardship it inflicts on those unemployed. Somehow, the problem of boosting productivity without fostering such waste and hardship must be solved if our economy is to be as strong as it can and ought to be. The problem is a challenge to the best minds in industry, labor and government. Only their combined efforts, made with the broad public interest in mind, can effectively meet this challenge.

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

GENERAL WALKER AND THE U.N.

In the current troubles which face the United Nations, none is more disturbing than the case of General Edwin A. Walker who has resigned from the American Army and blames the United Nations for his plight.

This comes at a time when Nehru has kicked the United Nations in parts unmentionable and left it lying bruised and weeping. General Walker, before the Nehru occurrence, said:

"Today, our relation and subordination to the United Nations puts every man signing the oath under a double standard. We are sworn to defend America but have to abide by UN decisions. Under these conditions, the oath becomes falsified and fictitious. I could no longer serve in uniform and be a collaborator with this release of our sovereignty to the UN."

This is entirely a new issue. It was assumed that the Pentagon sought to discipline General Walker because he had used permissible military indoctrination to advocate unpermissible domestic politics. On this issue men differed and Congress was to hold a hearing. But General Walker in his statement raises altogether different issues, for his accusation is that he, an American general with a notable record, was punished because the United Nations desired his punishment; that he could not reconcile his moral obligations to the United States with the demands of the United Nations. In effect, the strongest view of this statement than can be taken is that the United Nations expects the American general to betray his own country. General Walker states this in his own words, thus:

"I was not able to continue in the military service with a General's command responsibility since I could make no compromise with the oath of office after censorship had prevented me from giving my troops the training that I was responsible for."

General Walker further said:

"There is a continuous program every night from Moscow, in English, directed at our troops in Europe. The voice is called 'Moscow Molly' by the troops. Her propaganda is immoral, unscrupulous, corrupt and destructive. My responsibilities for training included off-setting this, the Overseas Weekly, and other harmful images of our country and way of life."

Most of us know nothing about this. When the Nazi or the Japanese conducted anti-American propaganda by radio to our troops, we knew all about it and articles appeared in our newspapers telling the American people about it. But there has been silence about "Moscow Molly" just as there is silence about most things anti-American that the Russians do. For some reason, our government propaganda aimed to silence her? Why Soviet Russia despite its outrageous conduct. Why ernment finds it necessary and wise to protect are we not informed about "Moscow Molly"? Why is our press silent on the subject? Why is not govdon't we have an Ivan Ivanovich to tell the Russians how vulgar Khrushchev is and how he disgraces the Russian people in the eyes of the world?

Or if we are doing jobs of this nature, why are the American people not informed? Maybe the USIA is doing a wonderful service, but we would like to be let in on it. Why does one have to wait for an angry general to issue ancient news items from Dallas, Texas, which should have come to us from Washington, or Berlin or Moscow? Our reporters have become diplomats. It is time that employes of the American people ceased to protect the Russian intrigue against the United States.

It would seem that it is policy of our government and has been since Franklin D. Roosevelt recognized Soviet Russia to keep from our people the truth about Russia lest our anger grow so violent that it make peaceful negotiations impossible. The virtue of such a policy is obviously the desire to prevent war, to maintain peace, to wait for the inevitable day when negotiations must come. On the other hand, it has given to Soviet Russia the tremendous advantage of time and opportunity which the Kremlin has understood and not neglected. This has cost us dearly.

The historical question is how much more time are we going to give the Russians. And how long will the disappointment and the anger of the American people contain itself. Should it burst forth at an unexpected time and for unrelated seasons, the damage can be enormous. Nothing is sounder than the truth.

Skin Is Wondrously Sensitive Mechanism

By HAROLD T. HYMAN, M.D.
Written for
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

As you probably know, that portion of the skin that's visible to us is not the true skin at all. It's called the epidermis because it is a covering for the true skin or dermis (epi—means on top of.)

Actually the epidermis consists entirely of layers and layers of heaped up bloodless and nerveless cells that are constantly being shed and reformed. Most of the time we're unaware of this shedding process unless we happen to pare a callus or collect flakes of what we call dandruff on a comb.

If we raise a blister and lift off the cap, we expose a bright red base that's sensitive to the touch and that bleeds easily if we irritate it. That's the true skin or dermis that contains all the working parts through which we keep in contact with the world around us.

Here's part of the inventory of a single square centimeter (2/5 by 2/5 of an inch) of the true skin:

Four yards of nerve twigs ending in some 3,000 sensory cells that act as signal boxes to alert us to what's going on in the vicinity of the particular skin precinct.

Some 25 special apparatuses that let us know when the spot is touched, another dozen to make us aware that we're being exposed to heat, another pair for the registration of cold and perhaps 200 to warn us that the contact is sufficiently unpleasant or dangerous to produce pain.

Then there are about 100 sweat glands to keep the epidermis moist and a few more than a dozen oil glands (sebaceous) to keep it lubricated. Add to these, in hairy regions, some 10 hair follicles that extend deep into the loose tissue below the skin.

Finally, there's this below-skin tissue that permits our skin to have mobility and character that is lacking in the bark of a tree, the equivalent of our epidermis. The subcutaneous tissue contains fat globules that give the attractive plumpness to an infant's cheeks and the unattractive belly roll for those of us who have grown obese; muscle fibers that permit us to give expression to our emotions as when we laugh, cry, wrinkle our brows or sniff with disdain; and scattered elastic bands that make it possible for the dermis to slide over underlying bones, joints and muscle bands or to be stretched, wrinkled or lifted off when such action is necessary for its function or protection.

Washington News

By PETER EDSON
Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — The American Committee for Aid to Katanga Freedom Fighters, referred to in this space previously, is worth a follow-up to anyone interested in how lobby organizations get started and what makes their wheels go round.

On Saturday, Dec. 9, publisher William F. Buckley Jr., of National Review, its editor, James Burnham, and Marvin Liebman, a public relations counsel, had lunch in New York.

NATIONAL REVIEW IS ONE of the more conservative United States magazines, to put it mildly. James Burnham is best known as the author of "The Coming Defeat of Communism." Marvin Liebman has been associated with the Committee of One Million against the admission of Red China into the U.N., and similar groups.

Batting the ball around as three men do at a leisurely lunch, someone commented on the fact that an American student volunteer organization had been formed at Yale to go fight for Katanga.

If a bunch of youngsters could do that, their elders should do more and support them, the three agreed.

Thereupon was born the American Committee For Aid to Katanga Freedom Fighters. It was to have two principal objectives. One was to register opposition to the U.N. in Katanga. The other was to give moral support to Moise Tshombe.

THE THREE DRAFTED A telegram there at the table. Then they drew up a list of people to send it to, asking them to join. "I usually go to the country on weekends," says Leibman, "but this time I stayed in town to get the committee going."

The first 140 names on the list to get the telegram were of people who came immediately to mind as identifiable with conservative causes. But to this list they add the names of 40 well-known liberals whom they thought might go along for purely idealistic reasons. Not one of the 40 replied.

But 80 out of the other 140 to whom wires were sent replied, accepting membership. They include a score of writers and editors, as many professors and smaller numbers of businessmen, organization men, retired government officials.

They got four women, two ministers, Actor Adolph Menjou and two U. S. Senators, Everett M. Dirksen, R-Ill., and James O. Eastland, D-Miss. Dirksen later withdrew.

Some retired generals and editors also declined membership because the original telegraphic invitation referred to buying arms to support Katanga. The military couldn't see doing anything like that against their own country, even though they disapproved the U.N. military action.

ENOUGH MONEY CAME IN with the acceptances to pay for a full page ad in a New York morning newspaper. That got the committee some publicity. Others groups, on their own, organized local committees to finance re-publication of the ad in eight other cities. It was to be published in the Paris edition of another New York morning newspaper.

Altogether, says promoter Liebman, in the first 10 days of their campaign they received about 2,500 letters and $10,000 in cash contributions. That was enough to finance one shipment of medical supplies to Katanga by air.

The committee has stayed away from Michel Strulens, a Belgium operating the Katanga Information Service in New York. Fortunately for the committee, he has stayed away from them and offered them nothing. This way they won't have to register with Department of Justice as agents of a foreign government.

LETTERS WERE TO GO out to 15,000 more people whose names were obtained from selected mailing lists, asking them to join and contribute.

If, after having made their protest and paid their expenses they have any money left they don't know what to do with, the present intention is to give it to Protestant and Catholic missionaries still operating in the Katanga area and to close out the committee's affairs.

Today in National Affairs

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — President Kennedy says he favors a balanced budget for next year. Does this make him a "Right-winger?"

There's a good deal of carelessness nowadays in characterizing persons with whose views one may disagree. Not so long ago the late Sen. McCarthy was accused of making blanket indictments, but somehow today this type of attack is being duplicated in some of the expressions coming from the very people who often employed the term "McCarthyism" to describe it.

Thus, a few years ago, it was vigorously asserted that each individual should be judged on the merits of what he himself said or did and that there must be no "guilt by association." Unfortunately, today some of the writers of booklets who attack "Right-wing" doctrine tend to equate those who happen to be conservative on the matter of government spending with persons who, in their misguided way, make a fetish of attacking religious groups.

Names Calling

It's a far cry from conservatism as such to the views of those who fan the flames of religious bigotry. To see them all lumped together and called "Right-wingers," with an educational foundation financing the publication of such Tommyrot—though disclaiming responsibility for the views expressed—is disheartening.

Indeed, many persons who profess to be true conservatives are bound to resent being put into the same category with those groups that happen to be exponents of some conservative issues and yet associate themselves with movements which are basically anti-Catholic or anti-Semitic. Similarly, people who are truly liberal resent being called "Leftist" because it is a word often applied to Communists.

Conservatism is said to be on the rise in America today, and it may well be that some of the persons who dislike to see this happen are seeking to discredit the movement by calling it all kinds of names. A letter which this correspondent received the other day from a reader said he finds it hard to determine what is meant by "Left Wing" or "Right Wing." He declared that anti-Communism, for instance, is either "right or wrong," and that he can't understand why people who are against communism are often referred to as "conservatives."

Various Classifications

The mishandling of such classifications is not confined to this country. It appears in press association dispatches from abroad in frequent references to "Right wingers" and "Left wingers." Facism in the 1930s in Italy and Germany was called "Rightist" and still is, whereas communism is most frequently referred to today as "Leftist." Yet there isn't any essential difference in the operation of the two ideologies—both are totalitarian and undemocratic.

This writer has read with interest the various characterizations of his own writings by critics and finds it to follow the classifications used. Thus, this correspondent favored the Roosevelt foreign policy throughout the '30s and '40s, approved the Truman decision in 1950 to intervene in Korea to repel outside aggression, applauded the Marshall Plan of aid for Europe from the hour of its inception and supported the reciprocal-tariff idea from the very day Cordell Hull launched his first proposal. Yet all this is brushed aside and the term "Right wing" is employed because of a continued opposition by this writer to Communist subversion, state socialism, and totalitarianism in any form.

If "Right wing" were to be used to denote true conservatism without associating it with the reactionary doctrines of those who don't believe the Federal government should ever intervene in the economic life of the country, then there would be something worthy in the term. Similarly, if "Left wing" merely denoted true liberalism and progressivism and didn't brand as illiberal, for instance, any vehement criticism of the courts, then "Left wing" would be an honorable term, too.

Right and Wrong

But somehow, in recent years, even criticism of the Supreme Court has been condemned as almost traitorous and as hardly to be respected as coming under the right of free speech. The Supreme Court itself was denounced most severely by Thomas Jefferson as late as 1822, but if his own words were quoted anonymously today, they would be called "extremist Right Wing."

This writer supported many of the Eisenhower policies but criticized the sending of Federal troops, instead of Federal marshals, to Little Rock in 1957. Anyone, however, who held that view about the Arkansas episode was at the time called a "Right Winger." But no less a person than Attorney General Robert Kennedy was quoted only a few months ago as saying it was a mistake to send troops to Little Rock and that, instead, Federal marshals should have been dispatched. Does this make him a "Right winger," too?

Perhaps the answer to the mixup over the terms "Right wing" and "Left wing" is to eliminate the "wing" in both classifications hereafter—for there is nothing angelic about them. Indeed, perhaps there would be less confusion if the terms "Right" and "Left" were also dropped. The adjectives "right" or "wrong" could then be substituted in appraising current issues, leaving it to the majority to render the national verdict at the polls.

Do You Remember by Sophie Miller

Since Captain Andrew Hickey, author of book, Story of Kingston first brought to my attention, the perhaps Ming dynasty, blue and white porcelain companion vases in the Kingston City Library, given by Charles L. Freer, I tried to find out more about the giver. These vases can be seen during the regular hours at the library.

I wrote to the Freer Gallery of Art of the Smithsonian Institution, Washington, D. C., and received a very interesting letter from its director along with a handsome illustrated booklet. It is strange, how a man of such achievement as Charles Freer, could be so easily forgotten in Kingston, I find nothing about him nor the vases not matter whom I approach.

They certainly never taught us in the Kingston schools in my time about such men as John Vanderlyn, the famous artist, nor about Charles L. Freer. Perhaps if Judge Clearwater had something to do with teaching us history we would have been more knowledgeable. At this moment I have a great deal of information of Mr. Freer, but nothing in connection with the vases. I found his death notice (he is buried in Kingston) and Judge Clearwater's tribute to him, and other Freeman write-ups in 1919, so perhaps he gave the vases later. All I need is the date of the gift.

The following is part of the "Founder" (of the million dollar Freer gallery) "Charles L. Freer was born in Kingston, Feb. 25, 1856, the son of Jacob R. and Phoebe Jane Townsend Freer, of French-Huguenot ancestry. His first American ancestor was one of the original patentees of New Paltz."

As a boy of 14, after having attended public school, Charles Freer went to work in a cement factory in his neighborhood. At 16 he was a clerk in the general store of John C. Brodhead at Kingston. In the same building with the store were the offices of the New York, Kingston, and Syracuse Railroad of which Col. Frank J. Hecker was the superintendent. Mr. Hecker was attracted by the ability of the young clerk and in 1873, took him into his employ, thus beginning an association that was to endure for life.

After several years of railroad work, Charles Freer went with Colonel Hecker to Detroit, where, in 1880, he took part in the organization of the Peninsular Car Works and became assistant treasurer.

Between 1880 and 1900, Mr. Freer was associated with this company and those which succeeded it. In 1900, after completing his work in the merger with the American Car and Foundry Co., he retired at the age of 44 from active business."

After 1900, to the end of his life, Mr. Freer devoted the greater part of his time and interest to the study and development of his art collections begun during the early eighties. His first field of acquisition was that of etchings and lithographs. Among the earliest objects in the present collection is the set of Whistler etchings, "Venice, Second Series," bought in 1887. A brief period of interest in Japanese prints led to the older arts of Japan—screen paintings and pottery, and later to the classic arts of China. During this period he made frequent trips to Europe, the Orient, Egypt, India, Ceylon, Java, China and Japan. Will have more in a later column.

6 Katanga Deputies Seated, Tshombe Charges War Plans

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP)—Six Katanga deputies took their seats today in the national Congo Parliament. They were expected to demand revision of the Congo's provisional constitution to relax the control the basic law gives the central government over Katanga and the other provinces.

Nine More Due

Nine more Katanga deputies were due from Elisabethville today.

Seeing the first group off from Elisabethville, Katanga President Moise Tshombe said they would hold out for a Congo confederation that would give his rich province considerable independence despite the Kitona unity pact. The central government contended the terms Tshombe put on his deputies' mission were at sharp variance with the agreement he reached a week ago with Congo Premier Cyrille Adoula.

Tshombe charged in Elisabethville today that U.N. troops are preparing for a new military offensive against Katanga and that the U.S. ambassador in Leopoldville, Edmund A. Gullion, is behind it.

Calls News Conference

Tshombe told a hurriedly called news conference that the United Nations is planning to renew hostilities if the Katanga National Assembly fails to meet Jan. 3 to discuss his agreement with Adoula.

His charges against Gullion were apparently prompted because the U.S. envoy, acting on President Kennedy's instructions, helped bring Tshombe and Adoula together at Kitona last week.

Tshombe said in his secessionist capital that the delegates were sent to bargain for a change in the Congo provisional constitution, which provides for a strong central government, and not to sit in the National Parliament.

Basis of Talks

"Our Katanga constitution is the basis of the coming Leopoldville talks," Tshombe declared. "It foresees integration in a federation or a confederation of the Congo. We still insist on a confederation."

This indicated Tshombe had sent the delegation in compliance with Article 5 of the Kitona agreement, in which he agreed "to the participation of representatives of the province of Katanga in a government commission to prepare a new constitution."

Adoula's government, however, expected the Katanga representatives in fulfillment of Article 6 of the agreement, in which Tshombe agreed "to take all measures to permit senators and deputies of Katanga Province to exercise the national functions (that is, participate in the National Parliament)."

The central government said in a communique it hopes the Katangan deputies "will participate actively in the parliamentary debates and that they will accomplish their duty until the close of the session."

The Congo's draft constitution—still to be ratified 18 months after independence—calls for a strong central government.

George Ivan Smith, senior U.N. representative in Katanga, said the Katanga Provincial Assembly will meet in Elisabethville Jan. 3 to debate the Kitona declaration.

"President Tshombe has asked us (the U.N.) to provide guarantees for the delegates during the meeting and also safe conduct privileges as they travel to Elisabethville for the session," Smith said.

Tensions Remain High

As Tshombe maneuvered, tensions remained high in Elisabethville.

Katangan gendarmes Wednesday arrested seven Swedish soldiers of the U.N. task force, charging members of Katanga's security forces had been seized since the informal cease-fire was reached a week ago.

The U.N. reacted cautiously, a spokesman declaring: "We are not taking any military action to get them (the Swedes) returned because we do not want to upset the poitical situation."

In the United States, the Kennedy administration cranked up a campaign in defense of its support of the U.N. effort to end the secession of Katanga.

Sees Danger of War

Speaking in Detroit, G. Mennen Williams, assistant secretary of state for African affairs, said if the Katanga secession becomes permanent, "there is the danger of civil war which may well degenerate into a war of genocide between different tribes in the Congo. Outside military intervention would all too probably follow."

A Negro State Department official, Deputy Assistant Secretary Carl T. Rowan, charged in a speech in Philadelphia that a pro-Katanga propagandist operating in New York had spent at least $140,000 this year getting "some extremely vocal help in dispersing a string of myths and a stream of misinformation about Katanga and the Congo."

Rowan said the propagandist was "a former Belgian civil servant, Michel Struelens, who operates out of some rather plush quarters in New York." He implied that Struelens has the backing of the European-owned Union Miniere Company, whose copper and cobalt mines in Katanga are the chief reason why the Leopoldville regime wants to end the province's secession.

Struelens was not available for comment but a spokesman for his "Katanga Information Service" said, "We are accountable to the Department of Justice and all our records are on file there."

The U.N. civilian operations staff in a report published today said some semblance of administrative order is returning to the Congo after 18 months of chaos.

Would Reduce Term

WASHINGTON (AP) —Lawyers for Irvin C. Scarbeck, former Foreign Service officer convicted of giving U.S. secrets to Polish agents, have filed a motion asking reduction of his 30-year prison sentence. They described it as "harsh and unjust."

Scarbeck, married and the father of three, was convicted two months ago in a trial that brought out his involvement with a dark-haired Polish girl, Ursula Discher, while he was serving as second secretary to the American Embassy in Warsaw.

Book clubs of the U.S sell more than 80 million copies of books by mail annually.

Deaths

NEW YORK (AP)—Konrad Bercovici, 80, writer, musician and chronicler of gypsy lore, died Wednesday. Bercovici, a newspaper and magazine writer, also worked as a writer in Hollywood and wrote some 40 books, many of them about gypsies. He was born in Romania of gypsy parents.

Profits Went to Bring Cheer

Kindhearted Newsboy Gets Rewards for Yule Giving

KINGSPORT, Tenn. (AP) — Kingsport's "littlest Santa," the newsboy who put his profits into the Salvation Army Christmas cheer kettle, had no idea how much goodwill his deed would generate.

The 9-year-old who denied himself to give to others moved hearts across the country — and from throughout the nation gifts and financial aid are pouring in.

The lad, identified only as Gary, was noticed dropping his 2 cents profit from each paper sale into the Salvation Army kettle. When questioned, he said the Salvation Army gave his family a Christmas basket last year.

Gary, one of five children in a family of very moderate means, was the guest of the Exchange Club. He was given a bicycle and a jacket and a savings account was started in his name.

That was only the beginning.

Newspapers and radio stations throughout the nation used an Associated Press story telling of Gary's heart-warming contributions.

Good wishes and contributions for his savings account and Christmas presents for him and his family have been sent to him from throughout the United States. They were addressed to the newspaper, the Exchange Club, the Salvation Army, the Chamber of Commerce, and some bore only the address: "Gary, the newsboy, Kingsport, Tenn."

The fund for him now totals $275.

A Colorado resident sent a $50 check for the youngster's savings account and another check for $25 for his family "for having brought up a boy with such high thoughts."

A man in Fargo, N.D., sent this message, accompanied by a check: "One of the most touching human stories I've ever heard of. Please accept this check to be added to the fund building up for this unusual, remarkable boy."

And from New Brunswick, N.J., came a letter addressed to the Exchange Club, which read: "Dear Sirs, if that newsboy can go for his newspaper profit, we can certainly go for a couple of bucks for his education. Merry Christmas and happy New Year."

AF Probes Buying

VANDENBERG AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP)—The Air Force says investigators are checking reports of alleged purchasing irregularities at this West Coast missile center.

A spokesman disclosed the probe Wednesday and added that the liabilities—if established—are not expected to exceed $2,500.

Dogs Take Big Bite

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Dogs are biters in Los Angeles, with more than 6,000 victims in 1961, says the Department of Animal Regulation

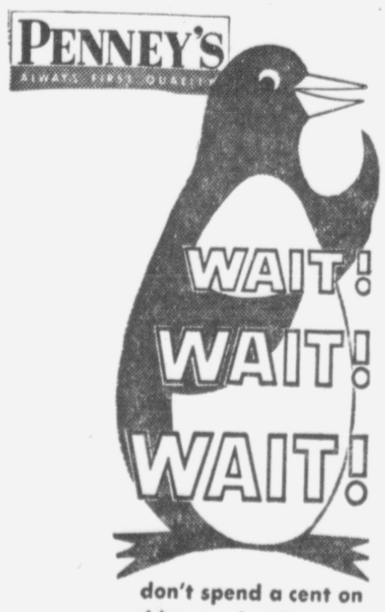

But other creatures from coatis to kninkajous have also gotten in on the feast. Four persons were bitten by apes, say the statistics, with others providing the fare for ocelots and opossums.

Second and third on the list are cats and hamsters, with more than 900 and 150 victims respectively.

COMPROMISE — The Coast Guard is erecting a plywood baffle around its Point Pinos., Calif., foghorn to divert its noise and permit Pacific Grove residents to sleep again. Monterey fishermen want it to stay its own noisy self.

Radel Leaves Pay Raises to Schwenk

Activity Increases

Elwyn said he "had not expected such treatment from this administration" which he regarded as a "friend of the library." When he first became a trustee, he said the library budget was $17,000. Since then, he noted, activity at the library has increased until now it is a "beehive of activity."

In 1961, he said, because of a "book-matching" grant, the city was not required to spend money for books. The library, he said, has a "wonderful staff" and the budget should provide for adequate pay increases. Book circulation, he emphasized, in 1961, to date, was the highest (73,000) since 1949.

Future Service Doubtful

If the library budget is left at $22,000, he held, it is doubtful if service could be maintained. The city must not go backward, but forward, in dealing with its library.

The city, said Harry M. Thayer, should consider its "intellectual health" as well as its physical. More money was provided for other departments, he noted, and even for the collection of refuse. He noted that while Kingston has four permanent library employes, Newburgh has 11 and Poughkeepsie 14.

Thayer said he felt there probably was some lack of misunderstanding in the preparation of the general city budget, perhaps because sufficient facts on the library were not provided in advance. Proper consideration of the library, he held, would bring a better standard for the city's young people.

73,000 Books Circulated

Trustee Baltz felt that many of the city's residents would be amazed at activity and improvements at the library. Work on the children's room, he said, was done by members of the staff. He could not understand, as a business man, he said, "how we can operate on the 1962 budget." He emphasized the 73,000 books circulated, the larger reference section, and the greater general use of the library. Many times, he said, "there is not an empty chair."

John P. Heitzman, retiring 12th Ward alderman, who was among several aldermen attending, said he was amazed to find when he attended the county budget hearing, that only one department head attended. At the city buudget hearing, he said, some 10 department heads were represented. This, he considered "a very good indication of interest."

Would Ask County

Heitzman recalled that some $12,000 extra was included in the 1961 budget because of past debts and was intended "to more or less get them over the hump." He noted that the Radel administration had raised the library budget sum from $17,000 to $22,000, and he proposed that Kingston, as the county seat, should move to get assistance for the library from the Board of Supervisors.

Former Mayor Stang said he had been a member of the library board for "some years," said he realized that budget-making was not easy, and added, "I've had some experience." Questions to be considered, he said, are: "Is this worth while?" "Is expansion warranted," and "Is the money being spent wisely?"

Stang said he did not feel there was a man or woman in the city who wanted "to see us or our children go backward." The library, he emphasized, was a necessity and it has "no expensive employes."

Mayor Radel said it was "not binding" upon him to comment on statements made at the hearing, but in view of some reports he felt a reply was in order.

From 1941 to 1956, he said, the library budget went from $7,500 to $13,400. This period, he noted, included four years in which Stang was mayor. In 1954, he said, the budget was raised by $300, in 1955 there was no raise, and in 1956 $1,000 was added followed by $1,500 in 1957. In his administration, Radel said, the budget was raised to $16,000 and then to $22,000.

Helped Pay Debts

The mayor noted that he had fixed the sum at $22,000 in 1961, but the aldermen, raised it by some $12,000 to cover certain indebtedness. The mayor said it was his understanding that the $12,000 was for meeting commitments, and that after that the library could "operate on regular standard." The sum fixed in the 1962 budget, he said, would not be binding upon the incoming administration.

Trustee Shults said he wanted it understood that the library board had not been profligate with funds. It had asked for $28,000, which it felt was needed in 1959, he reported, but $22,000 was approved. More had been asked for in August, he said, because of added debts, and in 1961, he said, "we stated the full case."

Mayor Radel said the 1962 budget could have been prepared by including all requested pay raises, but he chose to prepare it as a minimal basis. He said he asked department heads in presenting budgets to note proposed salary raises. His 1962 budget, as submitted, he noted, contains no provision for "general department raises."

Deficit Explained

Explaining the indicated deficit of $110,000, the mayor said his administration has been criticized for it, but it was not an actual deficit but a sum due to a change in bookkeeping procedure as required by the State Department of Auudit and Control.

The sum formerly included in debt service is now shown elsewhere. The actual deficit, the mayor noted, is $4,623. A reported $50,000 deficit, he said was made a "campaign gimmick, which apparently worked." Finally, he said, the "opposition party" agreed that the item was a matter of bookkeeping. An item of similar status during the Stang administration, he said, was for $214,000.

Alderman Edward J. Schrowang (R) First Ward, wanted to know why the estimated revenue from parking meters was still $80,000 despite the increased meter rates. The mayor said some $22,000 required for changing the meters, made it about right.

Other Speakers

Others who spoke at the hearing were Robert F. Fitzmaurice, local high school teacher, who said he was embarrassed at being there, because the need for an adequate library sum is an obvious one; Albert E. Feldman, of Fairview Avenue, who proposed an annual improvement program for the library, and Joseph Schneider, of Henry Street.

The latter said he was hopeful of arriving at the hearing and seeing all actual figures in the budget in full detail through to the end of the year. This, the mayor said, could not be done because of regular procedure in dealing with legal notices and other detail pertinent to preparation of the budget.

8 Are Employed

The library report, in listing expenses, included an item of $1,509.29 for salary increases, noting that there have been "no salary increments for two years." The library has eight employes, including a custodian, and some are not on full-time schedule.

The report also notes that Kingston is listed 39th among 42 cities, with population ranging from 20,000 to 55,000, in support given public libraries.

Kingston's 1962 general budget lists $2,826,521.10 in total appropriations with $2,555,664.74 to be raised by taxes. State and county charges listed at $659,449.30, are $3,728.18 under those for 1961. Total appropriations for 1962 are $140,867.13 above 1961, and the amount to be raised by taxes is $137,219.30 higher.

Kingston Savings Adopts 4 PC Rate

The State Banking Department on Wednesday gave permission to Mutual Savings Banks to pay the extra ¼ per cent special annual dividend on funds on deposit one year or longer (instead of two years as previously).

Kingston Savings Bank trustees immediately adopted this newest benefit for depositors. The bank anticipates paying 4 per cent a year on every dollar on deposit one year or more, effective with the quarter beginning Jan 1, 1962, with continuance of favorable earnings. Rate on deposits less than one year is anticipated at 3¾ per cent.

What's behind the 4% headlines?

All of a sudden, many banks in town are advertising four percent on savings and time deposits held for one year or more.

WHAT'S BEHIND IT?

Interest rates at commercial banks are regulated by state and federal authorities. They put a top limit on the amount of interest that the banks may pay. Recently, they raised that limit, effective January 1, 1962.

So some of the banks are increasing the interest they pay on savings and time deposits.

AND SO ARE WE.

In three ways.

One: We'll pay 4% a year at the end of each quarter on savings deposits up to $25,000 that have been in your account one year or more.

Two: We'll pay 3½% a year at the end of each quarter on savings deposits that remain in your account less than one year. Interest will be paid on a savings deposit received during the first 10 calendar days of any calendar month from the first day of such calendar month.

Three: We'll pay 4% per annum on any time deposit having a maturity date 12 months or more after the date of deposit, and 3½% per annum on any time deposit having a maturity date less than 12 months and not less than 6 months after the date of deposit, without limitation on the amount of the deposit.

It's always our policy to give our customers the latest and the best.

Rocky Is Much More Subdued as He Embarks on Fourth Year in Capital

By ROBERT T. GRAY

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Three years as governor of New York State have worked many changes in Nelson A. Rockefeller.

He has been schooled in the hard lessons of practical politics, has learned a good deal about the workings and power of political organizations and has been subdued by personal problems and tragedy.

Awareness Greater

The governor is beginning the fourth and final year of his current term with a greater awareness of what can be done under the governmental-political structure of the state.

He is also more aware of what cannot be done and he is unlikely to espouse publicly again such controversial proposals as mandatory construction of fallout shelters in all private homes.

Rockefeller was inaugurated three years ago Monday after winning an upset victory over incumbent Averell Harriman a Democrat, by 573,000 votes.

Rockefeller's victory while Democrats were winning elsewhere projected him immediately into the ranks of potential candidates for the Republican nomination for president.

Tax First Outbreak

"New York's first, urgent need is to put its financial house in order," the governor told the Legislature in his first annual message. He set out to achieve this by raising taxes to balance the budget without borrowing.

But an angry band of Upstate Republican assemblymen brushed aside arguments about "fiscal integrity" and revolted. Rockefeller's first major proposal as governor bogged down in the councils of his own party.

The tax increase eventually was approved. But relentless pressure on the rebellious lawmakers from state and local GOP leaders, rather than the governor's appeals for orderly fiscal procedures, was credited with bringing about the final approval.

Task Force Troublesome

Rockefeller ran into trouble with another non-political approach to government—the use of the "task force."

The Rockefeller task forces were groups of private citizens assigned to study state methods of dealing with specific subjects—juvenile delinquency, highway safety, power and others—and recommend improvements.

Republican legislators, including the GOP leaders, grumbled that the task forces were supplanting legislative committees.

Recommendations of the task forces, lawmakers complained, showed a complete ignorance of the political realities of government.

The governor dropped the task force approach and soon was dealing with legislative committees and their chairmen.

Rockefeller became a source of concern to Republican leaders in the state and nation during 1959-60. He darted about the country delivering speeches on national and international affairs. His approach frequently conflicted with that of his party's national leaders.

He was looked upon by many Republicans, including some in his home state, as a troublemaker, a frustrated presidential aspirant.

Approach No Asset

As expected, Vice President Richard M. Nixon won the GOP presidential nomination, with Rockefeller holding the New York delegation from Nixon until the very end.

Rockefeller campaigned for Nixon but there remained an undercurrent of opinion that the governor's overall approach to the 1960 national election was not an asset to the GOP.

As a result of his governmental and political lessons in recent years, Rockefeller has become the very model of an organization man—solicitous of the views of the national leadership, a public champion of the patronage system and a more experienced political practitioner.

He no longer expounds from national forums that there is a need to revitalize and reinvigorate the Republican party. He advanced this argument, ironically, before the party lost the national election.

Less Exuberant

Rockefeller's personal life came to the fore as 1961 ended. He and his wife, who had been married 31 years, separated and announced they would be divorced.

And the governor's youngest son, Michael, 23, disappeared into the sea last month while exploring a jungle area of New Guinea.

The governor now is less exuberant in public, does not produce the big grin and wave that had become standard.

He has limited his news conferences to questions "in the public domain" and will not discuss his private life.

Ahead of him is an election year in which he must defend his record, the good and the bad of it, and must await to see whether his impending divorce will affect his vote-getting appeal.

The question of whether he still has a chance of winning the presidential nomination despite the planned divorce also could be answered by the state voting next year.

The governor embarked on his first year in office with a lavish, inaugural ball that included two orchestras, a ballet company, drum- and -bugle corps, singers and other performers. The last year of that term is beginning on a far different note.

Utica Mayor Is For Water First, Check Cost Later

UTICA, N.Y. (AP) — Jess L. Hall, father of eight, went to city hall to put an end to two weeks of having to lug water from neighbors' homes —and high laundry bills.

He went away with Mayor Frank M. Dulan's promise Wednesday that the city would repair a pipe damaged by workmen razing a condemned house, which was supplied by the same water line as the Hall home.

The mayor overruled the city water board, which had maintained it was the home owner's responsibility to link with city mains. The repair cost was estimated at $200.

Rather than accept the board's decision, Hall, a tool company employe, chose lugging the water. He appealed to the Mayor.

"Let's get water in there first and then find out whose responsibility it is," the mayor said. "We can't have eight children without water."

Mrs. Hall had complained that, because she had to send the family washing to a laundry, the bill for the last two weeks came to $30.

Traffic Death Toll . . Count Passes 2,000 . .

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—The Traffic Death toll this year is approaching the 1960 mark of 2,077, which was the lowest in a decade, the State Motor Vehicle Department reports.

The unofficial count shows that the 1961 toll has passed 2,000. An official count of the December total to date was not available.

The 227 traffic deaths recorded in November sent the 1961 toll to 1,902 by Dec. 1. The final month of the year usually produces a high number of highway deaths, the department said.

MERRY SPIN FOR CAB METER — To make sure they wouldn't miss sailing aboard their cruise ship, these three Californians hired a taxi in Indianapolis, Ind., and ran up a $337 fare getting to New York. Fatal Collision

Wilson's wife, Marjorie, 63, was taken to Nathan Littauer Hospital in Gloversville.

Urges Candidates For Governor Be Primary Choice

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Democratic congressman has urged Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller to recommend that candidates for governor and U.S. senator in New York State be chosen at primary elections rather than at state party conventions.

New York State Republican and Democratic party organizations now are preparing for next year's conventions where delegates will pass on candidates for those posts.

Rep. Victor L. Anfuso of Brooklyn has written Rockefeller and the state's legislative leaders to recommend support of legislation for direct primary elections, which he called "more democratic" than the present system.

Rockefeller and New York Senator Jacob K. Javits, both Republicans, are up for reelection next year.

"The people of New York State will no longer tolerate" the selection of candidates in a smoke-filled room by a few politicians," Anfuso wrote.

SAVANNAH, N.Y. (AP)—James Reed, 12, of Savannah, was injured fatally Wednesday when he was caught in the power intake of a farm machine on his family farm in this Wayne County community.

Conference Starts On Plans About Bistate Program

TRENTON, N. J. (AP)—Democratic Gov. - elect Richard J. Hughes of New Jersey sent two representatives to New York City today to start hammering out details of an agreement he says may end a year-long bistate stalemate.

In an unusual step, he sounded out the sentiment of the State Assembly's Democratic majority on the bistate arrangement Wednesday, with newsmen present.

Representing Hughes at the meeting today Dwight R. G. Palmer, state highway commissioner, and Stephen B. Wiley, Gov. Robert B. Meyner's personal counsel. They will confer with aides of New York Republican Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller.

Their meeting is the aftermath of another held last week between Hughes and Rockefeller. Once the aides have worked out the details, Hughes and Rockefeller will meet again, in hopes of settling the long dispute over two projects proposed for the Port of New York Authority—purchase of the Hudson & Manhattan railroad and construction of a world trade center in Manhattan.

FOOD FOR AMERICANS

This 'Toddy' Uses Soups and Pickles

ONE FOR the road—in safety. This Midnight Toddy of canned soups and relish is delicious as well as sensible.

GAYNOR MADDOX
Newspaper Enterprise Assn

For a New Year's Eve party that stays happy all the way home, try serving a large tureen of steaming hot punch made with canned soups spiced with sweet pickle juice just before guests hit the road. Tastes great. Better serve hot hero sandwiches with it. Then all can face 1962 well fortified.

Midnight Toddy
(Makes 8 to 10 servings)

1 can (10½-ounces) condensed beef broth
1 can (10½-ounces) condensed tomato soup
½ cup sweet pickle liquid
4 cups water
2 tablespoons prepared horse-radish
¼ teaspoon tabasco
1 cup heavy cream, whipped
¼ cup sweet pickle relish, well-drained
Lengthwise sweet gherkin slices

Combine condensed beef broth, condensed tomato soup, pickle liquid, water, horse-radish and tabasco; mix well. Cook over low heat, stirring frequently, until serving temperature is reached. Turn into punch bowl. Fold pickle relish into whipped cream. Top punch with cream mixture. Serve in punch cups or mugs garnished with sweet gherkin slices on wooden skewers.

Hot and Hearty Hero Sandwiches
(Makes 8 to 10 servings)

1½ cups diced cooked chicken
1 can (4½-ounces) deviled ham
¾ cup mayonnaise
1 cup grated Swiss cheese (about 4-ounces)
⅛ teaspoon pepper
½ cup chopped dill pickles
1 15-inch loaf French bread
Dill pickle strips
Canned pimento strips

Combine chicken, ham, mayonnaise, cheese, pepper and ½ cup chopped dill pickles; mix well. Cut bread in half lengthwise. Spread pickle mixture on cut surfaces of bread. Top with pickle strips and pimento strips. Place on ungreased baking sheet. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 20 minutes. Cut into serving pieces.

News on Foreign Trade, Tariffs, Europe Market Can Be a Bit Confusing

By GEOFFREY GOULD

WASHINGTON (AP) — Like a football game without a scorecard, the current welter of news about foreign trade, tariffs and the European Common Market can be a little confusing.

Great upheavals are taking place in world trade, and new forces are changing the map. They may affect millions of Americans, from the cotton farmer in southwest Arkansas to the man who puts spokes in the wheels in a New England bicycle factory.

The major factor that is changing old patterns of trade in the free world is the European Economic Community, or Common Market. Here is an attempt to provide a scorecard on the Common Market, with basic answers to basic questions:

Q. What is the Common Market?

A. It is an agreement between six European nations — France, West Germany, Italy, the Netherlands, Belgium and Luxembourg —to lower tariff barriers between each other over a period of years to the vanishing point. At the same time they are setting up a common external tariff to deal with the rest of the world as a unit.

Q. How is it doing?

A. It is doing rather well. The six nations are ahead of schedule in lowering their internal tariffs, and business is booming under the stimulus. So much so that Great Britain, which stood aloof from the Treaty of Rome, now wants in even though it would disrupt the British Commonwealth and cause other changes in the British way of life, such as converting its ancient currency system to a decimal system. Denmark, Ireland and Norway are likely to join too. Sweden, Austria and Switzerland would probably like to join, but must tread carefully to preserve their East-West nutrality.

Q. What does this mean to us in the United States?

A. It means that if we want to continue trading in the rich common market, we must negotiate a low external tariff for the Common Market countries. Proponents of liberalized foreign trade, with the Kennedy administration as a chief drumbeater, say we must be able to offer the Common Market reduced United States tariffs in return. This, in simplified terms, is what the big, bloody fight shaping up in Congress next year is about. Protectionist, or high tariff sentiment is strongly represented in Congress. Almost every congressman or senator has plants in his district that might be hurt by freer entry of foreign goods.

Canal Wall Collapses

ST. CATHARINES, Ont. (AP)—A 150-foot long section of tie-up wall on the Welland Canal collapsed Tuesday and canal authorities estimated the damage at $50,000.

The wall, part of the 1959-60 program to speed up ship movements through the canal, consists of cement piers on pilings. The mishap is not expected to hamper traffic when the canal reopens in the spring.

The canal was drained for inspection and repairs last week for the first time since the 1959-60 work. The wall, near Lock 3, was for ships to tie-up while awaiting lockage.

The Welland carries all ship traffic between Lakes Erie and Ontario and has had heavy use since the opening of the St. Lawrence Seaway.

$170,000 Yield Seen

NIAGARA FALLS, N.Y. (AP)—The Niagara Falls City Council has passed a five per cent room-occupancy tax intended to raise $170,000 in revenue from hotels, motels and rooming houses.

The council voted 3-1 Tuesday night for the tax, which will go into effect Jan. 1.

The $170,000 that the tax is expected to produce was appropriated in the city's $12,057,947 budget for 1962, which was adopted last July.

Examiner Urges Union Declared Red-Infiltrated

WASHINGTON (AP) —A hearing examiner has recommended that the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers be declared a Communist-infiltrated organization, Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy announced today.

If the recommendation of Francis A. Cherry, the examiner is adopted by the Subversive Activities Control board, the union will be ineligible to bargain for or represent employes under the National Labor Relations Act.

The Labor Department directory of labor unions lists the union as having 200 local unions with a total 100,000 members. Its national headquarters are in Denver, Colo.

Cherry's recommendation came after more than four years of hearings ended last May, during which nearly 150 witnesses were heard.

Cherry, a member of the five-man Subversive Activities Control Board, held that the union was "substantially directed, dominated or controlled by individuals who are (or have been) actively engaged in giving support to the Communist party of the United States."

English has been adopted as the second language of Indonesia, former Dutch colony in the East Indies.

Voters Apathetic To Amendments On Nov. Ballot

ALBANY — Because so many of the 5,745,231 voters in New York's November 7 election overlooked or did not bother with the seven proposed amendments to the State Constitution, none of the amendments was decided by a majority of those who actually went to the polls.

Amendment No. 6, calling for state-backing of $500 million in Dormitory Authority construction loans to colleges generally was regarded as the most controversial of the proposed amendments. The Citizens Public Expenditure Survey, a tax research organization, reported that official returns show 3,316,257 voters, or 52.7 per cent of those who went to the polls, did not vote on the proposal. It was defeated by the "NO" votes of 25.1 per cent of those who went to the polls, with 22.2 per cent voting in favor of it.

Although more people voted on Amendment No. 1 than on any of the others, a majority of 51.1 per cent left it blank. The amendment, which provided for the reorganization of the state's court system, became law with only 40.1 per cent of those going to the polls indicating they favored it.

Defeated Amendment No. 5 was left blank by 57.7 per cent. A total of only 22 per cent of those who went to the polls voted against it and 20.3 per cent voted for the proposal. If approved, it would have permitted the state, in time of economic recession to by-pass the constitutional restriction against more than one single purpose bond issue being submitted to the people in a general election.

Of the other four amendments, Amendment No. 2 enabling a reorganization in the executive branch of the state government was passed by the 32.3 per cent favoring it, against 12.2 per cent opposed and 53.5 per cent leaving it blank;

Amendment No. 3 authorizing the state to back a $100 million Port Authority bond issue was passed by the 28 per cent who favored it against 17 per cent opposed and 55 per cent who ignored it;

Amendment No. 4 authorizing $50 million in state-backed loans for a Job Development Authority was passed by the 27 per cent favoring it against 16.6 per cent opposed and 56.4 per cent leaving it blank;

Amendment No. 7 involving use of forest preserve lands for a highway relocation was defeated by the 25.3 per cent opposing it against 17.8 per cent favoring it and 56.9 per cent who ignored it.

matter of Fact

Ever look at the meat counter at the supermarket and wonder why one type of meat is so much redder than another. For example, why is beef darker than pork? The color of meat is due to the amount of hemoglobin in different animals. Cows have a greater amount of hemoglobin than pigs do.

Patton Critical of Study

Freeman Criticized By Farmers' Union

WASHINGTON (AP)—The leader of a national farm organization which in general has been friendly to Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman has criticieed a recent study by the department.

In his first year in office, Freeman generally has had the support of the National Farmers Union and the National Grange. A third group, the American Farm Bureau Federation, has opposed his programs based on more price supports and more regulation of production. The Farm Bureau wants the government out of farming.

Now the secretary is running into criticism from President James G. Patton of the Farmers' Union over a department study of long range farm plans.

This study—which may or may not become the basis of the Kennedy administration farm policies—proposes to balance farm production with demands by withdrawing land from production and imposing limits on marketings. These programs would offer farmers price supports and payments to help offset income lost from idled land and marketing limitations.

The study also emphasized proposals for training low-income people to leave farming for other work. Patton described this as a "negative approach."

"What is really needed," he said, "is much more credit at reasonable rates to enable young people to enter the modern, highly capitalized business of farming and to enable perfectly fine farmers to expand their less-than-economic operations into units which would return a fair standard of living."

Indict Senator, Two Others in Clergy Wiretap

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP)—A federal grand jury has indicted a state senator and two other Baton Rouge men in connection with the wiretapping of telephones of two clergymen who had signed a declaration denouncing racial discrimination.

The indictments were returned Wednesday after a long investigation.

Lawrence A. Hall, a private detective, was cited in two counts alleging he intercepted phone conversations and made them public. One conversation was between Rabbi Marvin Reznikoff and Wade Mackie, executive director of the American Friends Service Committee. The other was between Mackie and The Rev. Benjamin Irvin Cheney, former pastor of the Broadmoor Baptist Church and now a resident of Atlanta.

Sen. Wendell Harris, a leading segregationist and a member of the state sovereignty commission, and Leon Patterson, head of a Baton Rouge equipment firm, are charged with transmitting the information to various persons, including Frank Voelker, chairman of the sovereignty commission; John Deer, its chief investigator; and Sargent Pitcher, East Baton Rouge Parish district attorney.

Burglary Attempt

Police were notified at 9:04 p. m. Wednesday of what appeared to be an attempted burglary at Myers Electric, Inc., 779 Broadway. Special Officer Joseph Myers reported that a glass had been broken at the rear of the building and a screen had been ripped. Mrs. George Ballou, of 202 West Chestnut Street yesterday afternoon reported the theft of a sled which had been given her son as a Christmas present. It was taken from a porch, she said.

matter of Fact

Ever thought of a sea star as a glutton? Sea stars begin to eat voraciously when very young. One less than 3/8 of an inch across ate over 50 young clams of half that length in six days. Mussels and oysters are their favorite food. They open the shells of these animals by attaching their arms to each valve and pulling steadily.

Financial and Commercial

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up 1.20 at 263.40 with industrials up 2.10, rails up .40 and utilities up .50.

Advances of most key stocks were fractional but here and there was a gain of a point or better.

Brokers saw the rise as essentially technical in nature. The rally began Wednesday as the list posted its first clear-cut advance in 10 sessions. Many stocks were low enough to become more active as buys again. At the same time, most yearend tax selling was apparently out of the way

High quality issues paced the continued upsurge. Investment funds replenished their supplies of blue chips to dress up their annual reports.

Industrials carried the burden of the advance. Rails and utilities were ahead on balance. Some of the best early prices were shaded as trading wore on.

A number of issues were unchanged and there was an assortment of small losers.

Douglas Aircraft fell more than 3 points before paring a point from the loss.

Cluett, Peabody spurted more than 4 points. General Foods held most of an early 3-point rise. DuPont lost more than a point.

The leading steels were all ahead fractionally. Among motors, Chrysler and General Motors held fractional advances while Ford lost more than a point.

Most of the top chemicals displayed fractional gains but Air Reduction was down about a point.

A rise of about a point by United Air Lines highlighted airline issues which were unchanged to slightly higher.

Electronics were narrowly mixed. Oils showed a slight upside tendency on balance. Nonferrous metals were mixed.

LIVING ROOM WRECKED — Two volunteers, Arthur Saari and John Grady of Rifton Fire Company survey the damaged living room of the John Duffy home on Main Street, Rifton, which according to fire officials was heavily damaged by fire Wednesday afternoon. Capt. Roy Melbert said the fire apparently started in the living room where a Christmas tree, presents, furnishings and clothing were destroyed. Firemen from Tillson and St. Remy assisted the Rifton Vols. Acting Chief Harold Bailey of Rifton was the officer in charge at the scene. George Kidd of Rifton called in the alarm. printing trade," the retiring compositor said. "It sure is a far cry now from the days when I started and type was set by hand. I've seen a lot of machinery come into The Freeman, and the working staff grow."

He recalled installation about four years ago of teletype setters which set type by means of punched tape. They're okay, he remarked, but he preferred setting copy manually to tending one of the "iron monsters."

Two brothers learned the printing trade at The Freeman also, Leo and Aloysius, both of whom are deceased.

Youngest With Most Years

Mr. Perry is proud of his continuous service record. "Others had more time in the trade than I, but not with the same firm for 51 years," he said.

"I'm proud of the fact that I'm the youngest man with the most years of service ever retired from The Freeman," he smiled. He's 65 having been born September 1, 1896.

Mrs. Perry is the former Margaret K. Scherer of Connelly. They were married June 25, 1922 at St. Peter's Church by the Rev. John P. Neumann, pastor, now deceased. His daughter Mildred married Herman Seelbach. The Perrys have two grandchildren, Alan Seelbach, a senior at Kingston High School and Joanne Seelbach in the third grade at St. Peter's School.

Mr. Perry is a veteran of World War I, having seen action overseas with the 51st Pioneer Infantry in all of the battles that glorify its records in service.

He is a member of the 51st Pioneer Infantry Association, Kingston Post 150, American Legion and Joyce-Schirick Post 1386, Veterans of Foreign Wars, also Local 322, Kingston Typographical Union and the Freeman Social Club and the 20-Year Club of the Company. He also belongs to Weiner Hose Company No. 6 and the Holy Name Society of St. Peter's Church which he attends.

Disputes GOP

"wave of conservatism apparent throughout the country" might sweep the GOP into control of the House.

Dirksen was a little more cautious in his political estimates.

But he agreed with Halleck's contention that younger people are becoming more interested in Republican policies than they have in the recent past.

Concern About Spending

Asked why this was, he replied: "The young people have been watching all of these spending programs and they are getting concerned about the debts they are going to have to pay. There is an amazing interest among them in politics."

Dirksen made it clear that Republicans will bear down in the new session on efforts to balance the budget. He said he would be ready to vote for higher taxes if that is necessary to bring about a balance. But he added that Republicans will want to concentrate first on cutting non-essential spending.

In a lengthy discussion of Kennedy's projected request for broad authority to negotiate tariff reductions, Dirksen indicated he would support only a one-year trial program. He left little doubt he thinks Republicans will insist on inserting escape clauses to protect threatened industries.

gressman Samuel S. Stratton of Schenectady as the first declared candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor.

The governor entered a discussion of national politics by saying, as he has in the past he would not pledge a full, four-year term.

But he added a new note to that explanation when he stated that "the peope of this state have their tradition of interest and concern in national affairs."

Asked to elaborate, the governor said that national and international affairs "affect very importantly the lives of the people here in this great state."

He added, however, "Let me say that I have but one plan and one object and that is to seek renomination and re-election as governor of the state. I have no other plans for any other office."

Rising Multiple Pushes Shares Up

From time to time, readers ask me just how the spectacular market gains in some growth stocks occur. Earnings progress is, of course, of prime importance in value increases but there is another factor which gets less attention despite the fact that it has a powerful effect on prices, too. This item is the price-earnings ration or the so-called "multiple" of earnings at which a common stock sells.

American Home Products has been a fine example of the effect of a rising multiple. Eleven years ago AHP sold in the five-dollar range on earnings of $0.50 for a multiple of ten ($5 divided by $0.50). Only recently, though, the shares sold at $80 on earnings projections of around $2.15 for a multiple of about 38. In other words, during the past 11 years, AHP's earnings rose an impressive 330 per cent, but investors who owned the shares saw the value of their holdings soar a spectacular 1,500 per cent.

Clearly, the upward revision of the earnings multiple from 10 to 38 was the factor contributing most to this performance. And the revision was the result of increasing recognition given the shares by the financial community.

Management's efforts to raise earning power began to be more widely appreciated as sales pushed ahead, profit margins improved and finances strengthened. Investors became more and more eager to buy such a promising issue and the shares continued to climb.

Of course, all growth stocks haven't had as splendid a record as AHP but a number have done at least as well, and it is this fact which keeps my staff, plus hundreds of other investment groups, constantly on the lookout for still unrecognized situations. The good ones are few and far between, but if you can uncover unusual values in their early stages, you may be handsomely rewarded.

Earnings gains will help push your share prices up but a potentially more important factor will be the rising multiple—a sign that many other investors have recognized your stock and are willing to pay increasingly higher prices for it.

The two boys, he said apparently had been to the basketball game between Kingston High School and Mont Pleasant High School in Schenectady. They evidently had gone to the Amsterdam area following the contest since their Thruway ticket indicated they had entered the highway from that interchange between 11 p. m. and midnight.

According to Coroner Millspaugh, the truck driver was heard to mutter as he was being placed in an ambulance that he saw no lights on the automobile.

The bodies of the two youths were taken to the morgue at Greene County Memorial Hospital where Dr. Joseph Bellamy of Hudson, hospital pathologist, performed autopsies.

State police said the automobile was the property of Constantine Boulokos of Kingston, an uncle of the Senor boy and the tractor-trailer was owned by Francis and George Souhan of Seneca Falls.

Identified by Ring

State police said they were delayed in identifying the Fiore youth since he had no papers or wallet on his person, but added that relatives gave the first clue when they identified a ring on the body as that of Fiore.

Assisting Sgt. Ebel in the investigation were Troopers R. A. Miller and R. L. March, both of the Kingston Thruway barracks.

School Board Hears Plan for Civil Defense

NEW PALTZ—The New Paltz Central School Board at its recent meeting had as its guest Major Edgar Timmerman, director of civilian defense for Ulster County.

The board had invited him to speak on what action should be taken by the school in case of a bomb attack. He said that "the Go Home Movement is no longer in effect, since there is no way of knowing in advance whether there would be time for the children to reach their homes." He further said, "the schools should be prepared to house them for from two hours to two weeks, and shelters at the schools should allow at least 10 square feet per person. It would be necessary to keep the shelter well stocked with food and water in case the two week period was necessary."

The board approved a one-year Sabbatical leave for Mrs. Loretta Dimsey, a fourth grade teacher.

As the citizens' committee has unanimously approved the need for more classroom space in the school, the board agreed to work closely with the committee on any plans under consideration. It was decided to meet with Flemming and Silverman, Newburgh architects in January to begin planning another building program.

The $500,000 invested on a time deposit at the State of New York National Bank will become due in January. The board voted to leave it for another three months.

It also approved the purchase of an overhead projector for classroom and study use at a cost of $400.

Fredrick Dippel, supervising principal, read a letter from Morris Osborn, chief of the bureau of school business management saying that the New Paltz Central School will be one of 60 schools in the state which has been chosen to have the new accounting system next year.

To Propose Nuclear Spending

Rockefeller Will Encourage Nursing Home Use in Message

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) —Gov. Rockefeller will place before the Legislature a plan to encourage greater use of nursing homes by persons who are illl but not in need of the more costly facilities of a hospital.

The proposal will be one of several recommendations in the governors annual message to the Legislature Jan. 3.

At the same time, Rockefeller will recommend that the state expand its participation in the field of atomic power by creating a public authority with power to spend up to $30 million on nuclear projects.

The projects would include a $5-million, nuclear-powered facility on Long Island to convert sea water to fresh water for domestic use.

The authority also would operate some facilities on a stated owned site in Cattaraugus County to reprocess nuclear fuels and store atomic wastes.

Other roles for the authority include the construction of a facility at a yet unchosen site to serve the electronics and other industries using nuclear techniques. The authority would redeem its bond issues with feees received for its services.

In his nursing home plan, the governor will propose:

1. That an interdepartmental state committee on health and hospitals and the Joint Legislative Committee on Problems of the Aging draft a program for improving the physical facilities and medical services available in nursing homes.

2. That the state help those homes, possibly through a plan of low interest loans, to improve their quarters.

3. That prepaid hospital-insurance plans, such as Blue Cross, allow subscribers to use the lower cost nursing facilities, when possible rather than regular hospitals.

The plan drafted by the state will set up standards for nursing homes but will not be mandatory. Existing laws now set basic safety standards that must be observed.

The governor's atomic-development program represents a greater role for the state than envisioned when the Office of Atomic Development was created in 1958.

The authority will take over from the atomic-development office jurisdiction of the Western New York Nuclear Research Center at the University of Buffalo but actual direction of the center will remain the responsibility of the school.

Bank Officials Attend Banquet Marking Merger

The Highland Savings and Loan Association introduced the officers and directors of the Savings and Loan Association of Kingston to the guests at a well-attended dinner at the Hotel Di Prima Wednesday evening.

The dinner was given by the Highland Savings and Loan Association in recognition of the merger of the two associations effective Jan. 1.

Many guests representing the organizations and civic groups of the Highland community were represented, along with the members of the boards of directors of both associations.

Following the dinner, Walter R. Seaman, president of the Highland Savings and Loan Association, welcomed the visitors. He then presented the directors of the Highland Savings and Loan Association to the group.

Reviews Highlights

Mrs. John F. Wadlin, treasurer of the Highland Association, gave some of the highlights of the background of the association which was organized on April 29, 1920. She reviewed former managers and directors of the association and discussed the start of the school savings program, which was an important milestone for the association.

Seaman then introduced the officers of the Savings and Loan Association of Kingston; Alfred D. Ronder, president; H. Van Wyck Darrow, executive vice president; S. D. Scudder Jr., secretary and Edward M. Huben, treasurer.

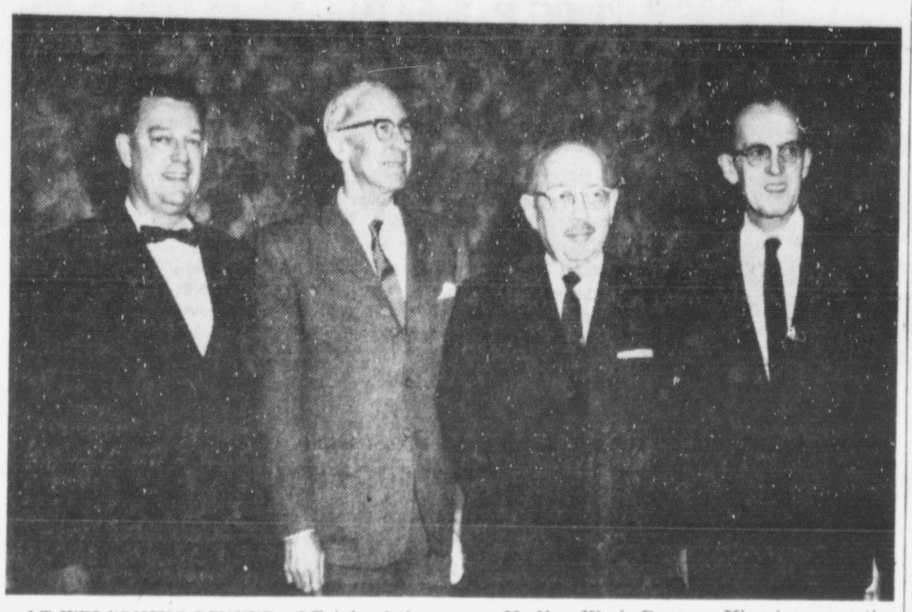

President Ronder spoke about the benefits of the merger to both associations and to the community. He indicated some of the background and growth of the Savings and Loan Association of Kingston in the past. He then introduced the directors of the Savings and Loan Association of Kingston.

Introduces Staff

Darrow, executive vice president, was called on to introduce the members of the executive staff and the staff at the Highland office. At that time, he announced that Eugene Noe would be the manager of the Highland office.

He then introduced William R. Stall, assistant vice president; Edward R. Dunn, assistant treasurer; and H. Edward Carter, assistant secretary. He also introduced Mrs. Ann Raible and Mrs. Daisy Mackey presently at the Highland office.

The combined assets of the merged association on Jan. 1 will be approximately 19 million dollars, Ronder said. It was also announced that 1962 would be the 70th anniversary of the Savings and Loan Association and that appropriate celebrations are being planned.

Collapse Could Mean Laos War

Aims to Keep Negotiations Up on Coalition Government

By RENE-GEORGES INAGAKI

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP)—Neutralist Prince Souvanna Phouma met with King Savang Vathana today and said he would try to keep alive negotiations to form a coalition government.

Souvanna Phouma, who has been designated to head the new unity regime, warned collapse of the talks could plunge Laos into an East-West war as well as civil conflict.

Souvanna and his pro-Communist half-brother, Prince Souphanouvong, were given the brushoff by pro-Western Prince Boun Oum Wednesday when they arrived here for talks. But they remained in the capital under heavy guard.

Boun Oum challenged Souvanna's self-proclaimed neutrality and bluntly declared he was not prepared to bargain over cabinet posts in the proposed new government intended to ensure Laos' neutrality.

Souvanna Phouma and Souphanouvong, whose military forces won control of more than half of Laos earlier this year, had come to Vientiane expecting to dicker with Boun Oum over the distribution of cabinet portfolios among their three factions. They already had agreed the 16-man cabinet would include four Boun Oum adherents, eight neutralists and four Pathet Lao men.

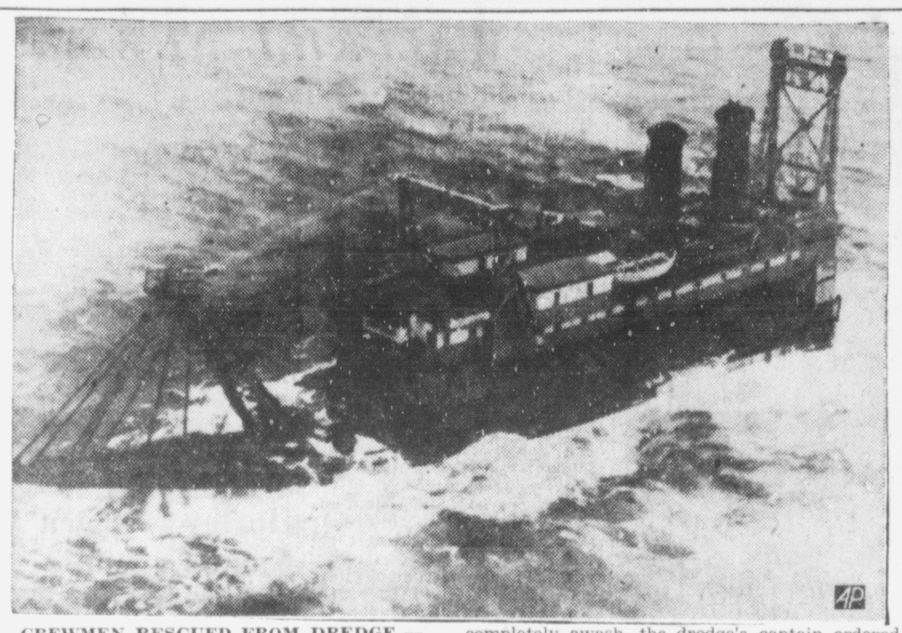

After a meeting of less than an hour, Boun Oum said Souvanna should draw up a coalition cabinet and submit the list to the other political groups for their approval. He also demanded that the eight neutralists be divided equally between "Vientiane neutralists" and "Souvanna neutralits" and that the key posts of defense and interior be given to his own conservative faction.

Some officials of Boun Oum's government said the premier was angered by Souphanouvong's airport speech on arrival, in which he made a violent attack on Boun Oum and his American backers.

Souvanna conferred with King Savang Vathana for half an hour and later was visited briefly by Ngon Sananikone, economics minister in the Boun Oum government. Prince Souphanouvong also went to the palace for a 45-minute audience with the king.

Western diplomats and International Control Commission officials were openly concerned that failure of the three political princes to come to an agreement would lead to new hostilities with international ramifications.

The three princes were brought together in the capital only after strong pressure from the 14-nation Geneva conference that has agreed on a policy of neutrality for the Southeast Asian kingdom.

1962 Plates Not Lawful Till 1st

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—The Motor Vehicle Department reminded motorists today that 1962 registration plates must not replace current plates before Jan. 1.

The department made an exception for buses and taxicabs, and this had led to some confusion, a spokesman said. The new plates may be used on those vehicles anytime after Friday.

The spokesman explained that the exception was made because many buses and cabs would be on the road the night of Dec. 31 and they must display the new plates Jan. 1. Passenger cars and station wagons need not display them until Jan. 31. The deadline for commercial vehicles is Jan. 15.

Sees Cancer Rise SmallFromBombs

By FRANK CAREY
Associated Press Science Writer

DENVER, Colo. (AP)—Only a small percentage rise in the incidence of cancer may be expected from bomb test fallout, a British researcher said today.

Dr. Philip R. J. Burch also offered the concept that fallout-type radiation may, in most instances, help produce cancer only if nature has paved the way.

He said there is suggestive evidence that in many instances where radiation is linked with cancer, it acts merely as a supplement to spontaneous changes which have occurred in body cells of certain people leaving them vulnerable.

Burch, a University of Leeds scientist, is doing visiting research at the Atomic Energy Commission's Oak Ridge, Tenn., laboratory.

He told the American Association for the Advancement of Science that studies among people exposed to wartime bomb radiation at Hiroshima and Nagasaki suggest:

1. Radiation may hasten the development of cancer in a vulnerable person whose spontaneous cellular changes have not reached the critical point.

2. Radiation might provide the final trigger to touch off cancer in persons who have some vulnerability but who otherwise might escape cancer.

He said that at the low levels of radiation provided by the natural "background" of the earth—and by fallout—the most important cancer-producing effect of radiation is likely to be this "supplementary" one.

But he estimated that for "background" radiation this would mean a responsibility for only between a tenth of one per cent to one per cent of all spontaneous tumors. And, he added, if nuclear testing in the future does not exceed the rates of the past, cancers linked with fallout should not produce more than a 0.04 per cent rise above the level of spontaneously caused cancers.

Mice have six to ten litters of young a year, with six to eight mice in each litter.

U.S. Will Export Steroids to Reds For Medical Use

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Atomic Energy Commission has approved the export to the Soviet Union of a small quantity of radioactive steroids for use in medical research.

Steroids are a group of chemicals which include such compounds as cholesterol, the sex hormones and cortisone. Those in the approved shipment, the AEC said Wednesday, are made radioactive with carbon 14. This will permit the movement of the compounds to be traced through the bodies of experimental animals. The substances are used in studies of metabolism.

The export license was granted to the Worcester Foundation for Experimental Biology at Shrewsbury, Mass. The materials, involving 60 microcuries of carbon 14, will be shipped to Dr. Nicolai A. Yudaev of the U.S.S.R. Academy of Medical Sciences in Moscow.

The AEC emphasized that the material to be exported has no military value.

He died of an internal hemorrhage Tuesday, the family said Wednesday. Hendrix had been superintendent of the optical department of Mt. Wilson and Palomar observatories for 15 years.

Her complaint was filed Wednesday.

TWU Rejects Pay Package, Vote to Strike Jan. 1st

NEW YORK (AP)—Members of the Transport Workers Union rejected a money package offer Wednesday night and voted a strike New Year's Day of all bus and subway lines.

About 5,000 transit workers attended the mass meeting, called to consider a Transit Authority offer totaling about 16 cents an hour in a two-year contract.

Prior to the meeting, TWU President Michael J. Quill raised the possibility of a wildcat walkout in advance of midnight New Year's Eve, when the present contract expires.

"Even church meetings get out of hand," Quill said. "People get carried away."

The TWU seeks a reduction of the five-day, 40-hour work week, to four days and 32 hours—plus a 15 per cent wage increase.

The Transit Authority has refused even to consider the shorter work week.

Talks to avert a threatened electrical workers' strike got nowhere Wednesday. The deadline also is midnight New Year's Eve.

Employers have rejected the electricians' demand for a five-day, 20-hour work week with no reduction in pay. The workers currently receive $4.40 an hour in a five-day, 30-hour week.

Every Home Hit In Va. Explosions

NORTON, Va. (AP)—A series of explosions wrecked a powder plant and destroyed or damaged every home in the tiny mountain village of Sutherland Wednesday. Twenty-six persons were injured.

Five explosions were touched off by a fire in the Whitaker Atlas Supply Co. The company sells blasting powder for mining operations.

The final explosion — which shook buildings and broke glass as far away as 10 miles—knocked down five nearby houses and heavily damaged the remaining 15 in Sutherland.

Twenty one persons were treated and released at Norton Hospital. Five others were admitted with serious injuries.

At Norton, six miles away, the explosion shattered plate glass windows along the city's main street.

Feels Teachers' Will Benefit by Collective Talks

CHICAGO (AP) — The head of the teachers union predicted today that in the next five years public schools will attain new, higher standards under collective bargaining.

Carl J. Megel, Chicago, president of the AFL-CIO American Federation of Teachers, made the forecast at the annual midyear meeting of the federation's executive council.

A national pattern was set, he said, when New York City teachers elected by a nearly 2-1 vote the United Federation of Teachers, Local 2 of the AFT, as their bargaining agent.

"It is only logical now that other large and small American federation of teachers' locals will take similar steps," Megel said. "The public will find that teachers who walk upright in their own behalf are better teachers."

Day-to-Day Headaches Confronted Latter

Kennedy's First Year More Subtly Perilous Than Ike's

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) —The biggest difference in the first White House year of Presidents Kennedy and Eisenhower was in the kind of world they inherited.

Eisenhower's first year had more day-to-day headaches; Kennedy's a more frightening core of danger.

At home Eisenhower had to contend with Sen. Joseph McCarthy and, overseas, with the Korean War. As a result of both the country was frustrated, torn apart, full of suspicion.

Mild Year for JFK

That whole year was a badly troubled one for the new President.

Kennedy, in his first year, has had comparatively a mild time of it at home. The extreme right-wingers were his only McCarthy-like problem. And so far they've been just a petty annoyance.

But overseas, while he had no Korean War to settle, he had to face a situation far more subtly perilous than Eisenhower encountered.

When the latter became President in 1953 the United States, with its hydrogen bomb, was still the most powerful nation. The Russians made trouble but not enough to risk a war.

They didn't have their first hydrogen blast until August, 1953. By the time Kennedy moved in this year, they not only had hydrogen bombs but the missiles to deliver them.

Some Temporary Relief

Thus the whole American-Russian relationship was different for Kennedy. War, death and annihilation now had an immediacy only imagined when Eisenhower took over the White House.

Eisenhower even got a temporary relief from Russian pressure —with Stalin's death in March, 1953—when the Kremlin leaders became more concerned with themselves than with the American President.

It was the opposite for Kennedy, as a result of Stalin's death. By the time he took office Premier Khrushchev was the new, unchallenged, and extremely self-confident Russian boss.

There was another difference, too.

The old-fashioned Stalin, while he lived, relied more on muscle than he did on propaganda or persuasiveness. He pushed only where he thought he had a quick chance for gain, as in Korea and the Berlin blockade.

Heat From Reds Limited

So the heat from communism was limited for Eisenhower. Its real effort at the time, aside from the fighting against the French in Indo-China, was concentrated in Korea.

The more imaginative Khrushchev, able to feel more confident than Stalin because of his bombs and missiles, is poking at Kennedy around the world with propaganda, trade, aid, militant local Communists.

Through all this both Kennedy and Eisenhower have exhibited one trait in common: A well-controlled restraint, a non-belligerency, in dealing with their adversaries at home and overseas.

Thus, instead of starting fires or adding to them through emotion, lack of self-discipline or immaturity, they have tried to keep the ones created for them under control.

Of the two men Kennedy seems more the master in his own house. The outstanding example is in the conduct of foreign affairs.

Same Future Beckons

Kennedy does the important talking for his administration on foreign policy. His secretary of state, Dean Rusk, acts as his technician and adviser but says little.

While Eisenhower personally was restrained in foreign affairs, he let his secretary, John Foster Dulles, do such belligerent and flamboyant talking that the administration seemed to have two voices.

For Eisenhower his first year turned out to be just a comparatively mild forerunner of much worse to come in the years ahead. Kennedy probably has no illusions it will be any different for him.

SAIL-PLANE—A small drone version of the experimental Flex Wing aircraft is being investigated by the U.S. Marine Corps at its desert facilities at Twenty-Nine Palms, Calif. The plane would be powered by a gasoline engine in the rear. Launched by troops in the field, it would serve as a reconnaissance or spy plane. Like its larger counterpart, the drone has a "wing" of fabric and is a light armful for Ryan Aeronautical Co. employe Cecil Craigo to carry.

Railroad Retirement Board Interviews Set

A representative of the Railroad Retirement Board will be at the Post Office, Main Building, 496 Broadway, Room 3, Kingston, Wednesday, Jan. 10, from 10 a. m. to 4 p. m.

He will assist the railroad worker, his wife, widow or survivors in retirement and survivor problems and answer any inquiries which they may have in connection with the Railroad Retirement and Unemployment Insurance Acts.

Economists Must Relax From Life In Their Schools

NEW YORK (AP) — College economists, dealing with the hard facts of monetary life, must relax too. Some of them go about it through art mediums — such as painting, wire and wood sculpting, and drawing.

An exhibition, in which a dozen economists are taking part, opened Wednesday at the Commodore Hotel, presented by the American Economic Association.

One of his most enthusiastic fans is his wife, Daliah, who noted: "What you see (in the sculptures) is not even half of it. You must see the fantastic shadows the shapes create."

Another exhibitor is Prof. William J. Baumo, chairman of economic study at Princeton University. He specializes in free-form sculptures from wood blocks "as I whittled with a knife when a boy."

Baumo's economics' colleagues regard him as a "ringer," since he has studied for years at the Arts Student League here. Baumo also is showing some of his paintings.

Fat Airmen Are Told to Reduce

The order has gone out to more than 100 flight crews and about 2,000 ground crewmen to reduce to 10 pounds below the maximum permitted weight.

"If you stick to the figures in the book and take a man off a diet as soon as he reaches the permitted maximum, he'll be five pounds overweight again in a couple of weeks," said Lt. Col. James Asher, flight surgeon at Bentwaters Base in Suffolk.

Asher said the reducing drive was a precaution against coronary heart disease.

"We've had one man 28 suffering from the disease and he was overweight," the doctor explained.

The average day's menu at the bases serves a man about 3,000 calories, but "where necessary we will put men on a diet which will cut the calorie intake by half," Asher said. As a start, the fatties have been told to cut out bread, potatoes, candy and liquor.

Ulster Savings Will Pay 4 PC Interest

Ulster County Savings Institution, following Wednesday's action by the State Banking Board, took action to pay 4 per cent on all funds already on deposit a year.

Prior to yesterday's action by the state board, savings banks were limited to payment of the 4 per cent interest rate on deposits of two years or more.

U.S. Approves Dobrynin As New Envoy for Reds

WASHINGTON (AP) — Anatoly Fedorovich Dobrynin, who is fluent in English, knows the United States well and likes international politics, will be the new Soviet ambassador to Washington.

The State Department said Wednesday that Dobrynin's appointment to succeed Mikhail A. Menshikov had been approved here. As a matter of courtesy, the host nation is asked to approve the envoy of another nation and consent is usually a formality.

Officials here said the appointment probably means no change in the basic Soviet policy toward the United States.

Dobrynin, 42 to Menshikov's 59, spent about eight years in the United States, both with the embassy here and the United Nations secretariat in New York. He speaks French as well as English, and in 1960 became head of the American countries division of the Soviet foreign ministry.

Dobrynin is not a high Communist party official. He has been a career diplomat since 1946. Menshikov is a member of the party's central committee.

Menshikov announced earlier this week that he would return to Moscow next month, completing almost four years as ambassador here. His new assignment has not been announced.

Bullet Wound Fatal To Young Sodus Boy

SODUS, N.Y. (AP) —Charles Wood, 14, died today of a bullet wound suffered during target practice with two other youths.

State Police said the boy and his companions were firing a rifle Wednesday at ice in a creek near this Wayne County village east of Rochester. A piece of ice flew up and hit a youth holding the .22-caliber rifle. He slipped, the rifle discharged, and the bullet struck Wood, police said.

The dead boy was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Wood of Sodus.

Bank Promotes Business With Its Decorations

In another display Indians attack a stage coach as a reminder that savings must be secure as they are in safe deposit boxes at the bank, not like the valuables carried in old stagecoach strong boxes.

Prosperity for Some

And that can spell increased prosperity in 1962 for the makers of electronic computers and for some 1,300 data-processing centers.

This trend is on the authority of these makers and of the operators of centers who have a stake in fostering it. But they say that the majority of the 25,000 or more firms using this way of doing their figure work say it helps cut operating costs as well as being time-saving and convenient.

Production and sales for industry and trade as a whole are mounting just now faster than profits—and sometimes even while profits are falling. So the urge is strong to find any means of improving the profit margin.

Computer experts who have been to the Soviet Union say that the Soviets also have turned to their big computers as aids in industrial production and more recently are using them in the bigger state-owned department stores —where you wouldn't expect profits to be an objective.

Western Europe increasingly is leaning on the electronic devices to guide its spectacular drive to greater prosperity.

Predict Big Jump

A big jump in the sale and rental of computers, and of their use in the many data centers around the nation, is predicted by the leading makers. To name only a few: International Business Machinese, Remington Rand, Burroughs, National Cash Register, General Electric, Thompson Ramo Wooldridge.

The makers' sales and rentals this year topped a billion dollars. Rentals next year are expected to hit $1.3 billion.

Operators of independent data-processing centers (those not run by makers of the machines) predict that by the end of 1962 about 10,000 computers of various sizes will be installed at rentals of at least $100,000 a year per unit. Among such operators on a large scale are, to name only a few: Automated Procedures Corp.; C-E-I-R, Inc.; Statistical Tabulating Corp.; and Sessions Co.

Outlook Is Bright

PITTSBURGH (AP)— An increase in business is in prospect for electrical manufacturing industry in 1962, according to president Mark W. Cresap Jr. of Westinghouse Electric Corp.

Cresap said Wednesday that his firm should receive an eight to 12 per cent increase in orders and a slightly lower boost in billings next year.

The bright outlook, Cresap said, is based on three potential conditions—greater defense expenditures, greater increase in consumer sales, and a larger outlay for capital equipment.

Glancing Over TV Bill of Fare

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—It took a ot of advance planning and plotting, but Betty White has grounded herself for almost 10 days in Los Angeles and is celebrating the holiday season at home.

Miss White, almost a regular panelist on CBS' "To Tell the Truth," and one of Jack Paar's favorite guests on his NBC show, is pursuing the travelingest career in television. Last year she made 34 flying roundtrips between Hollywood and New York. This year she managed to cut the trips to about 20—mostly by making longer stays at the New York end.

Betty, a pretty TV performer who grew up in Los Angeles, finds transcontinental commuting a stimulating and (financially) rewarding experience. Recently she stayed put on the West Coast long enough to play a woman senator in her first movie, "Advise and Consent," and is in the market out there for acting roles.

Betty's holiday at home isn't entirely a leisure period, however. On New Year's day she will act as NBC's commentator during the two-hour Tournament of Roses parade—an assignment now becoming an annual special job.

CBS is thinking seriously about breaking up that old "Gunsmoke" gang. On the network's planning boards now for next season is a weekly variety show, "TV Tonight," which would star Dennis Weaver as host. Obviously, Dennis can't keep on paying Chester, Matt Dillon's lovable sidekick. But on the other hand, what is "Gunsmoke" without Chester to provide the chuckles?

And speaking of "Gunsmoke," perhaps the program-pickers have been announcing the demise of the Western too soon. In the most recent Nielsen ratings, the three most popular shows are, in the following order, "Wagon Train" "Bonanza" and "Gunsmoke."

Cleary Becomes New Buffalo City Editor

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)— James R. Cleary, 42, will become a city editor of the Buffalo Courier-Express effective next Monday, executive Editor Cy King has announced.

King said Cleary would share the dual editorship with James R. Schrader. The new city editor succeeds Edward H. Lewis, who is retiring Jan. 1, 1962 after 20 years with the morning newspaper.

Donald T. Barry, 34, has been named an assistant city editor in the appointments made Wednesday.

Contract Worth Risk of Set

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

One of the basic principles of expert dummy play is that it is worth-while to risk going down an extra trick in order to give yourself a chance to make your contract.

In the Lenz system, the opening bid of three of a suit was the strongest bid and the opening bid of two merely a very good hand. Hence, his opening two heart bid. With no score, I might well have passed that bid, but we had 30 to our credit and I responded two spades whereupon he closed the bidding at three hearts.

Mrs. Culbertson opened the deuce of clubs. Sidney played low from dummy and Ely won the trick with the king.

This established Sidney's queen of clubs as a good trick, but Sidney promptly threw it away.

As it was, when he got around to a further club play Sidney was able to finesse dummy's ten and discard a losing diamond on the ace.

He still had to lose one trick in each suit, but the bid was only three and he made it.

Note that if Ely had held the jack of clubs, Mr. Lenz would have been down.

RECEIVE AWARDS—The Eagle Rank Badge was presented to Robert Burnett, (left) and a 30-year-pin and tie clasp was given to Committee Chairman Floyd L. Spencer for his dedicated service to Troop 12 as scoutmaster, seascout skipper and founder of the Boy Scout Troop 12 Drum Corps. Presentation ceremonies were held during a court of honor and Christmas party of Troop and Post 12 at Old Dutch Church Hall Tuesday night.

Troop and Post 12 Hold Honor Court

Eagle and Star Scout advancements and recognition for 30 years of scouting service by a committee chairman were features of the annual Troop and Post 12 court of honor and Christmas party held Tuesday night at Bethany Hall of Old Dutch Church.

Senior Patrol Leader Jerry White conducted the opening ceremonies.

Extends Greetings

The Junior Leader Training Course awards were presented by Saugerties Assistant District Commissioner Harry Slobodian to Jerry White, Peter Wells, Thomas McCullough, Fred Ickes, Herbert White, Richard Scism, Harold Liberty, and Ralph Shapiro.

To open the Court of Honor an impressive Tenderfoot investiture was given for Wayne Havens, John McSpirit, Robert Stingle, James Hall, and Charles Buboltz.

First Class rank was awarded to Donald Burnett by Assistant Scoutmaster Liberty.

Russell Witkowski and Michael Greenwald received Life Rank from Assistant Scoutmaster Gerald Sampson. Advancement Committeeman Raymond Wells presented Michael Greenwald with Citizenship in the Home and World Brotherhood merit badges, Russell Witkowski with Reading and Hiking merit badges, Bruce Whistance with Coin collecting and Stamp Collecting merit badges. Fred Ickes with Citizenship in the Home and Jerry White with Printing merit badge.

Explorer Advisor Fred Burnett, assisted by Scoutmaster Shapiro awarded the badge of the Eagle Rank to Robert Burnett. Robert then presented an Eagle necklace to his mother.

During his Scouting career Robert has held every junior leader position in the troop, served as senior patrol leader on two National Jamborees, was vice president and president of Post 12, as well as being honorary mayor of Kingston. He also received the troop and post honor awards for outstanding service. In the Order of the Arrow, Robert has held the offices of Kingston chapter chief, Half Moon Lodge vice-chief, and this year was chief of the lodge. He is a vigil honor member of the Order of the Arrow. This past summer he served as activities director at Camp Tri-Mount Scout Reservation.

Recognized by Troop

A 30-year veterans pin and tie clasp was presented to Committee Chairman Floyd L. Spencer by Ralph Shapiro for his dedicated service to Troop 12 as scoutmaster, seascout skipper and founder of Troop 12 Drum and Bugle Corps. He is also recipient of many Scouting awards including the Silver Beaver, which is the highest award a council can bestow upon a volunteer scouter.

Christmas gifts were given to the troop and post leaders, first by the Mother's Club and then also by the scouts. After a game which entertained everyone present, an echo taps ceremony brought the party to a close. Refreshments followed.

2 Teamster Unions Ordered to Open Books for Probe

DETROIT (AP) — Two Teamsters Union locals, including Teamsters President James R. Hoffa's home Local 299, are under orders to open their records to federal investigators starting Jan. 3.

An order that government investigators be given full access to records of Local 299 and Local 614 at Pontiac, Mich., was signed Wednesday by U.S. Dist. Judge Thomas P. Thornton.

Thornton specified, however, that inspection would be allowed only on records from Jan. 1, 1959 to Dec. 27, 1961. The order specified that inspectors be given adequate quarters at both locals to examine the records "without interference from the presence of" union members.

The order apparently ended an 11-month batte by the Teamsters against new authority for the secretary of labor to inspect union reports under the Landrum-Griffin Act.

Wash Every Mountain

ANAHEIM, Calif. (AP) — Cleaned many mountains or washed down a few rockets lately? It's a daily job at Disneyland.

The park's maintenance chief says he just rolls a fire truck up to the attractions and aims its hose at the daily collection of grime.

There are also more routine tasks—waxing floors, scraping gum, washing streets, picking up paper.

Commuters Would Save Money Under Central Proposal

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Central Railroad has asked permission to consolidate all monthly commuter tickets into one "flash type" ticket, effective Feb. 1. The plan would result in savings for some commuters.

The railroad asked in its application Wednesday to the State Public Service Commission that it be allowed to combine present restricted (five days a week) tickets and unrestricted (seven days a week) into a single monthly unrestricted ticket.

The new ticket would be sold at the present restricted ticket fares. This would mean the same cost per trip to those who already use restricted tickets. It would mean slight savings for present holders of unrestricted tickets.

The 26-trip ticket would be discontinued. Holders of these tickets would be able to buy the new unrestricted ticket. Some commuters would pay a little more per trip, some a little less.

The railroad also asked that its Manhattan trip tickets be invalid for use on trains leaving Grand Central Terminal between 5 p.m. and 6:30 p.m. each weekday. These tickets are sold at a 25 per cent discount and are designed to stimulate travel outside of the rush hours.

On weekdays the tickets will continue to be restricted to use on trains scheduled to arrive at Grand Central after 10:30 a.m. The tickets are used without restrictions on Saturdays, Sundays, and holidays. There would be no change in this.

Group Asks JFK Permission to Buy Surplus Masks

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP)—The field secretary for the Congress of Racial Equality — CORE — has asked President Kennedy to let Negroes buy surplus gas masks so "we might continue our peaceful demonstrations here in the Southland."

The CORE official, the Rev. B. E. Cox of High Point, N.C., said after his release from jail Wednesday that he made the request to Kennedy in a telgram.

Baton Rouge police used tear gas Dec. 15 to quell a demonstration by about 1,500 Negroes protesting racial discrimination.

Favors Milk Dating

NEW YORK (AP) — Lew Wallace, a former professional fight manager, of Staten Island, has filed a taxpayer's suit in the State Supreme Court seeking an order directing the state to allow reinstatement of milk dating.

An affidavit filed with the suit Wednesday challenged Gov. Rockefeller's signing of the legislative bill which wiped out New York City's requirement of dating milk containers and bottle caps.

Wallace contended that the signing of the bill was "arbitrary, capricious, frivolous and a sham." He said the law is against public policy and prevents necessary protection of consumers against "sour, spoiled and stale milk."

A hearing on the suit will be held Jan. 9.

GOPPlansProbe Of Pa. Colleges

HARRISBURG (AP)—Pennsylvania Republicans are planning to call on the 1962 legislature for a sweeping investigation of alleged pressures at the Commonwealth's 14 state colleges.

House Minority Leader Albert W. Johnson, R - McKean, said Wednesday the GOP would introduce a resolution asking the General Assembly to set up a special bipartisan committee of six House members and six senators to conduct the probe.

The resolution, Johnson explained, would vest the committee with subpoena powers and appropriate $20,000 for expenses. The committee would be directed to report its findings by Sept. 1, 1962, two months before Pennsylvania elects a governor and U.S. Senator.

"Our call for an investigation is based on charges by Dr. T. Noel Stern following his dismissal Sept. 13, 1961, as president of West Chester State College for what the trustees called 'a lack of confidence in his administrative performance'," Johnson said, adding:

"Four days after his dismissal, Dr. Stern issued a white paper concerning his disputes with the politics-minded board of trustees, and called upon the Department of Public Instruction to investigate the charges.

"Dr. Stern's request for justice got a cold shoulder from the Department of Public Instruction and from the Lawrence administration."

Weekly Food Review

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A wide variety of pork cuts will be served at many American dinner tables this weekend to help usher in a happy new year.

Pork Top Attraction

Pork loin will be the top attraction in many supermarkets in the Northeast, Southeast and Midwest, although traditional regional favorites also play a part in pork's popularity. Fresh ham, for example, is an old favorite in the Northeast, but in the Southeast it's hog jowls and blackeye peas.

Other pork items on sale include fresh picnic shoulders, smoked ham, sausage and bacon.

All this gives the housewife who produced a turkey for Christmas Dinner a chance to vary the holiday menu a bit. For those who chose ham a week ago, turkeys remain an outstanding bargain in many areas. The biggest birds are the biggest bargain in the Southwest. Broiling and frying chickens also are a top buy in the Southwest., but are higher in the Midwest and Southern California.

Beef Bargains Scattered

Beef bargains are scattered this week, although chuck roast finds favor in parts of the Southeast and Midwest. Ribs of beef are 8 to 9 cents a pound higher in the San Francisco area because of big demand from hotels and restaurants.

Bargain prices for a variety of salad makings make green salads a good bet to go with whatever meat is selected. Supplies of lettuce are plentiful from California, Arizona and Texas, while tomatoes from California and Florida and California avocados also are plentiful and cheap. Cabbage for cole slaw also is abundant, with Texas offerings running above normal.

Other outstanding buys among vegetables include carrots, onions, potatoes, celery, squash and lettuce. Good buys in some sections are broccoli, eggplant, green onions, spinach, green beans, corn, cucumbers, peppers, radishes and sweet potatoes.

Fruit counters boast of apples, avocados, grapefruit, oranges and cranberrries, while the good buy list includes limes, coconuts, bananas, lemons, pears and tangerines.

Philly on Alert For Snow Threat

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The city declared an emergency alert today following weather bureau predictions of a heavy, day-long snow fall throughout the state.

Emergency coordinator Donald C. Wagner said emergency headquarters was to open at 7 a.m. to organize standby snow removal crews.

The weather bureau said a deepening storm in central north Carolina would move northeastward off the Virginia coast bringing rain mixed with snow to the southeastern Pennsylvania.

The weather bureau at international airport said snow mixed with rain started falling at midnight in Harrisburg and other parts of Central Pennsylvania.

In the east, snow fell most of the night in Hazleton and Scranton.

What About I.Q. Tests?

If you think your child is brighter than his I.Q. score shows, the man to talk to is Dr. Henry S. Dyer, Vice President of the organization which prepares many of the standardized tests used in American schools and colleges, the Educational Testing Service in Princeton, New Jersey.

Surprisingly enough, Dr. Dyer is on your side. At least he will give you the benefit of the doubt.

"Tests," he says, "are not infallible." He will even agree that they are sometimes erratic, up one day and down the next, and that there are many individual talents and traits—such as creativity and ambition—that they do not measure at all.

As a consequence, Dr. Dyer attaches at least as much importance to your estimate of your child's potential, based upon long experience, as he does to a teacher's or psychologist's, based only upon test performance. A combination of the two — personal evaluation and impersonal testing—is so far, he believes, an unbeatable formula for predicting what kind of mark your child will make in school and later on in a career. Colleges that use both in selecting students for admission have been able to reduce their academic failures to about two per cent, Dr. Dyer says. This compares with colleges in general with an academic failure rate of about 50 per cent.

Questioned in connection with the publication of an article—"Let's Look Again at Those I.Q. Tests"—in the December Reader's Digest, Dr. Dyer takes strong exception to the writer's contention that, because standardized tests are fallible, they should be abolished.

"The problem is not one of doing away with tests," he explains, "but getting people to use them intelligently, and creatively, as well as cautiously."

Although tests are fallible they are not nearly so much so as a teachers grades which, Dr. Dyer believes, may reflect not only her mood of the moment but her opinion of the child, his academic history, the color of his skin, his social habits, and the way he is dressed.

"Ordinarily," Dr. Dyer says, "a good intelligence test, running for an hour or perhaps two hours, is 40 per cent more accurate than teacher's grades for purposes of assessing a student's basic skills."

A common cause of confusion about testing is the conviction that I.Q. tests measure "Innate ability," and that learning, as a result of experience at home and in school do not effect I.Q. scores. Learning, Dr. Dyer believes, very definitely effect I.Q. scores.

"I.Q. tests," he says, "are not the mystical, magical things that many people have supposed. They are designed simply to measure the basic skills that a student needs to do ordinary, academic work in school and college; the verbal and the mathematical skills.

"They don't tell you how well a pupil will cope with his subjects, or how well he can manage people, or sell soap, or captain a football team. They were never intended to do these things."

Confusion also arises over tests failure to measure the special qualities of genius which are often exhibited in rebellion against school work of any kind, including the kind that I.Q. tests score.

Although Dr. Dyer insists that I.Q. tests are not designed to pick out Einsteins and Edisons, both notoriously poor students, he doubts very much that students of this type are uniformly poor-scorers. In fact, he feels that tests have often helped teachers to "discover" students whose ability was not apparent in their academic work.

"If you have ever been in the company of a group of students who were top-notch scorers on intelligence tests, I think you have found that they are not the docile type, that they are not just the glibe type, that many of them are deeply reflective thinkers."

YW Parents Class Opens January 10

Shaw-Myers Wedding Is Announced Here; Ceremony at Church of Messiah, Rhinebeck

Miss Evelyn May Shaw, granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Jones and daughter of Mrs. Evelyn Mae Shaw of 177 Downs Street, this city, exchanged nuptial vows with Charles O. Myers, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Myers of Wall Street, West Hurley, on Sunday, Dec. 24 at 1:30 p. m. in Church of Messiah, Rhinebeck.

Officiating during the double ring ceremony was the Rev. Robert Creech, cousin of the bride. Mrs. Ella W. Caffey was soloist and George Hull was the organist.

The church was decorated with red and white carnations.

The bride was given in marriage by her grandfather. She wore a gown of creme colored brocade fashioned with a fitted bodice, long sleeves tapered to points over the wrists and a Sabrina neckline. The full skirt which featured side panniers and a peplum swept back into a chapel length train. The wide illusion veil was shirred to a princess crown of pearls. She carried white carnations on a prayer book.

Miss Lois Blackwell of Sawkill served as maid of honor in a pink nylon gown. She carried blue and white carnations. Miss Leta Blackwell of Sawkill served as bridesmaid and Miss Mary Myers was junior bridesmaid. They wore blue nylon dresses with lace headpieces and carried pink and white carnations.

Lou Egbertson of West Hurley was best man and ushering were Dan Purfield of Rhinebeck and Ronnie Every of West Hurley.

COFFEE KEEPS HER AWAKE

Q: I find that I can no longer drink coffee late at night as it keeps me awake. When visiting friends in the evening and the hostess serves coffee and cake, would it be permissible to ask her if I may have tea instead of coffee?

A: You should not ask your hostess for tea which she may not even have in the house. All you can do is to say, "No thank you, I find it keeps me awake" and hope that she will offer you something else.

A Come-and-Go Party

Q: My husband and I will soon be celebrating our 25th wedding anniversary and we would like to give a reception on that day for our many friends and relatives. As our house is not large enough to accommodate all of them at the same time, we thought of making it a "come-and-go party." Will you please tell me how we can word the invitations so that the guests will do just that and not remain throughout the afternoon?

A: If you invite guests to come in between certain specified hours—say four to six o'clock—It should be taken to mean that they are expected to come in any time between these hours, stay a short while and leave. Some guests may come early and stay late but a majority of them will "come and go."

Difficulty in Eating Peas

Q: I find it very difficult to eat peas. They always slide all over the plate and very often wind up on the tablecloth. Would it be proper to mash them between the tines of the fork and eat them that way, or would this be considered bad table manners?

A: Correctly, you push the ends of the tines of the fork under the peas and lift a not-too-big mouthful onto the fork. If you find this difficult to do, it would be permissible to mash a few peas with the tines of the fork and eat as you would mashed potato.

Over 100 Attend Girl Scouts 1st Campers Reunion

Over 100 Ulster County Girl Scouts assembled at the Old Dutch Church Wednesday for the first annual campers' reunion of Camp Wendy, Ulster County's Girl Scout camp.

Many of the 1961 staff members, led by Mrs. Mary Groft, Camp Wendy's 1961 director, were on hand to meet the campers. Mrs. Groft, who directed one of the most successful seasons in the history of the camp, has recently agreed to return to Camp Wendy for the 1962 season.

During the afternoon, the girls had an opportunity to renew many of the friendships made during the past season. Also, plans were outlined for the 1962 camping season.

Camp Wendy, near Wallkill, is ideally suited for a girl's camp. Over 64 acres of fields and woods surround picturesque Lake Louise. Housing at Camp Wendy includes tents, cabins and Adirondack shelters. There are facilities for every kind of summer sport and recreation. A healthy program of education including camping skills, nature study, and getting-along-with-others highlights every camper's day.

During the six-week 1961 season, 300 Ulster County Girl Scouts attended two-week sessions at the camp. Among the recreational facilities they participated in were archery, swimming, boating, cook-outs, sleep-outs, campfire-sings and many others.

Camp Wendy is directed according to the rules established by the National Girl Scouts' Division of the American Camping Association. Waterfront regulations are planned to meet the requirements of the American Red Cross. Experienced counselors supervise every activity.

The first annual Camp Wendy reunion was planned by Mrs. George Markow and Mrs. Eugene Abramsky. Assisting them was a committee of girls elected by the campers of the 1961 season.

On the committee were Bonnie Thoben of New Paltz; Barbara Hoffman, Saugerties; Pamela Mattice, Highland; Sharon Hoffman, Saugerties; Mary Dixon, Ellenville; Patricia Craft, Ellenville; Lynn Faurie, Milton; and Tory Burkhart, of New Paltz.

Refreshments were served by members of the committee.

New Broadway Play Gets Good Review

By WILLIAM GLOVER
Associated Press Drama Critic

NEW YORK (AP) —Clear the track for "Subways Are for Sleeping."

Big, fast and funny, the musical roared into the St. James Theater Wednesday night with Sydney Chaplin and Carol Lawrence as star performers.

Crowding them closely in the applause department are Orson Bean and Phyllis Newman, a pair of hilarious cutups, and the batch of brilliant dances created by director and choreographer Michael Kidd.

A trio of veteran Broadway hitmakers—Jule Styne, Betty Comden and Adolph Green—base the show on Edmund G. Love's book about a bunch of screwball New Yorkers.

The Styne score includes a couple of haunting ballads, and the dialogue and lyrics by Comden and Green are slickly witty.

Winsome Miss Lawrence is cast as a magazine writer sent out to examine those denizens of the big city who resourcefully devise complex schemes for avoiding steady work and fixed residence.

Among them she discovers Chaplin, a provider of tips on odd jobs and warm basements; Bean, an ex-millionaire who gleefully rotates among fiends for room and board; and Miss Newman, who has solved the money problem by never leaving her unpaid-for hotel room.

"Subways Are for Sleeping" will keep you wide awake.

School District Merger Approved

Proposed merger of the Staatsburg Union Free School district and the Hyde Park district has been approved by the State, according to Walter G. Clifford, superintendent of the Hyde Park district.

Approval was a layout of the proposed Central School District 1, Towns of Hdye Park, Clinton, Rhinebeck, Poughkeepsie and Pleasant Valley. The layout was prepared by State Commissioner of Education James E. Allen Jr.

Superintendent Clifford said the next step will be submission of petitions for a referendum on the merger and a request that polls be open in both districts and the ballots mixed before counting.

Petitions for the referendum will require only 100 signers in each district. The superintendent said the districts expect to submit them on Tuesday and voting probably will take place in January, 1962.

The Hyde Park district obtained 1,000 signatures on its petition seeking the merger.

Staatsburg Union Free School district had 600 signatures of qualified voters.

ASK THE DESIGNER by gaile dugas

Dear Gaile: I would like to know what part of my present wardrobe is suitable and what I should plan for in arranging for our first trip to Florida the latter part of February. (We will be attending my brother's wedding at the University of Miami campus chapel at 8 p. m., a candlelight service.)

I seem to favor black in my dress clothes but delight in colorful shoes and hats. I have a black peau-de-soie, a strapless black lace sheath with jacket and a black silk shantung sheath. Are these suitable? I have a white winter coat with white fox collar and a black faille dress coat.

My mother has a problem, too. She is in her 60s with beautifully styled silver hair. What should she wear? The bride's mother is wearing ice blue. — Mrs. S. D.

Dear Mrs. S. D.: It is the expert opinion of designer Harvey Berlin that black would Not be chic in the South. He says:

"Rather than black, I suggest you consider orange sherbet, misty blue, bluish pink, raspberry or cafe brown. Either chiffon or Chantilly lace would be a good choice but nothing beaded, please.

"As for a wrap, at that time of year you could use a little mink stole or jacket. Or, a lined cashmere sweater, a lacy or silk chiffon stole. Any one of these could pick up or match the color of your dress. As for your shoes, they should be dyed to match your dress.

"Your mother might consider a Chantilly lace in a wonderful shade of pinky mauve, a true mauve or a mint green. Any of these would set off her hair beautifully."

Dear Gaile: Our vacation for January 15th to Februrary 15th presents some problems. I would appreciate your advice. We will spend one week in Arizona, one week in Las Vegas and a week in southern California. We are driving so luggage is no problem.

I have sweaters, skirts, slacks in beige and a pale blue, beige wool dress, beige cotton brocade dinner dress. I also have a gray wool suit, black knit dress, black silk dinner dress, navy afternoon dress, white wool coat, mink jacket and accessories for all those things. What bothers me is: will my clothes be right for Arizona?—Mrs. C. H. J.

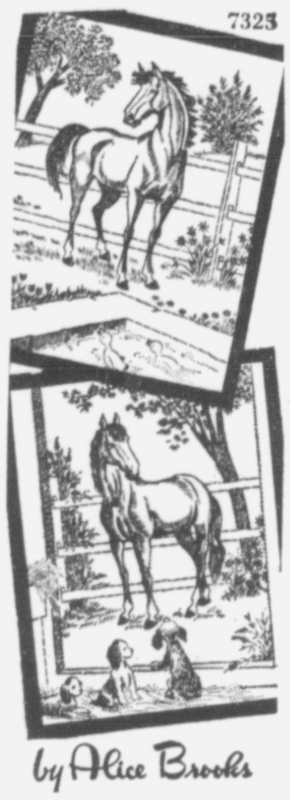

Dear Mrs. C. H. H.: Designer Hannah Troy says they will not. She suggests that you leave those black things at home since they are too citified for Arizona — or southern California. She says:

"You will need some cocktail dresses in vivid colors for southern California. But these will do for dinner, too; you won't need real evening clothes for any of these places.

"You will want shorts and slacks in white to be worn with white, low-heeled shoes and silk shirts or sweaters in turquoise, deep coral, citron and orange. Buy some turquoise shoes to wear with those beige dresses. And have your shoes dyed to match your new cocktail clothes."

Mont Pleasant Drubs Kingston High, 67-44, in Cage Tilt

Winners Gain Command Late In 2nd Period

Mont Pleasant of Schenectady broke a 19-19 tie with a run of nine straight points late in the second period and went on to trounce Kingston High, 67-44, last night in a contest that looked as if it might be held on a gridiron.

A total of 43 fouls were called by the referees but most of them were'nt tooted until final stages of the game when both sides were sprinkled with reserves. Until then, John Duffner and Mike Ferraro of Kingston had been banished on five personals and more than once, players from both sides did some heavy pushing under the boards.

A great first period by Ferraro kept the locals in contention. But the superior manpower of the home side started to assert itself late in the second quarter. The final half was a romp for the winners.

Kingston might have made a closer game of it if the Maroon players were able to connect at the charity stripe. They made only 10 conversions in 30 attempts. Ronnie Thomas, who finished with 16 points, missed seven of nine foul shots.

The clubs will meet in a return engagement Friday night at the Kate Walton Field House. Pleasant has lost only to Linton in six outings. Kingston has a 3-2 mark. John Falvey, who has been injured, will not play in Friday's tilt.

SHS Tourney Postponed, Will Be Held Friday

The finals of the third annual Saugerties High School cage tourney, slated for tonight at the SHS gym, have been postponed until Friday.

Athletic director Bill Straub of Saugerties said that reports of poor driving conditions forced the postponement.

The schedule for Friday will remain the same as the one for tonight. Middletown will play Cairo in the consolation tilt, slated for 7 p. m., and Albany Academy will meet the Sawyers at 8:30 for the title.

Pleasant JV Cagers Stop KHS, 58-28

Arkansas Counts On Lance Alworth

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Nimble-footed Lance Alworth of Arkansas will help the Razorbacks even the odds against Alabama's formidable defense when the two teams meet New Year's Day in the Sugar Bowl.

Alworth, a native of Houston, Tex., was the big gun in Arkansas' attack this year. He's been timed in 9.6 seconds for the 100 yard dash and 21.4 for the 220.

The remarkable Alworth ran this year for 516 yards—an average of 4.69 per carry—and caught 18 passes for another 320 yards. He also punted 32 times for a 35.3 average and led the nation in punt returns with an average of 12 yards on 28 thrusts.

The Sugar Bowl is a sell-out for the Alabama-Arkansas clash. The 83,000 tickets were gone the day ticket sales began.

The Razorbacks flew into Baton Rouge Wednesday for their final workouts. At Biloxi, Miss., rain hampered Alabama's drills.

Byrne had an apparently safe lead, 50-38, over Hayes starting the final period but it took a pair of baskets in the final 20 seconds by Fred Orr to clinch the decision after the losers had battled from far back.

Bruce Ruffner, Bruce Wiederspiel and Walt Harder were in double digits for the unbeaten squad while George Carpouzis, George Uhl and Tom Fiore paced the losers.

Kaye rimmed eight buckets and seven free throws to pace the Cafeteria quintet. The winners had comfortable margins at the quarter stops. Gary Barnes and Al Brown aided in the victory while Don Kamosa and Pvt. Jim Massa paced the losers.

Arkansas Coach Picks Ole' Miss

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Mississippi generally is favored to beat Texas in the Cotton Bowl Monday but the Longhorns will be glad to know that a man thoroughly qualified to give an opinion thinks they have an even chance of victory.

The man is Frank Broyles, coach of Arkansas, a team that lost to Mississippi 16-0 and to Texas 33-7. Arkansas was the only mutual opponent.

"I took a poll of my football team and the players voted 50-50 but my coaching staff gave Mississippi a slight edge—with fullback Billy Ray Adams in there. But with Adams out, I would say the teams are about equal and I would call the game a tossup," said Broyles.

Adams, injured in an automobile after the season was over, will miss the Cotton Bowl.

The Arkansas coach said Mississippi had the finest line a team of his ever played against and that Texas had the finest backfield. Broyles declared that "Texas can move the ball on anybody and Mississippi will have to play great on defense."

RoseBowlCoaches Do Some Jabbing

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) —In what should be the touchy phase of practice for their New Year's Day Rose Bowl meeting, the two coaching rivals today drawled quips at each other.

"I couldn't stand a mutinous squad," cracked Murray Warmath of Minnesota when asked why he didn't limit his squad to two meals daily as UCLA's Bill Barnes is doing.

Told of Warmath's comment on his practice of feeding the Bruins a 10:30 a.m. breakfast and a 5:30 p.m. dinner, Barnes retorted:

"I'm doing better than Warmath. He doesn't feed his boys anything, trying to starve them for Rose Bowl revenge."

Barnes explained his two-a-day feeding program was an effort to keep his boys "on the lean and hungry side."

Warmath, who was snarling at his Gophers Tuesday following the Christmas Day layoff, said things went smoothly in Wednesday's two-hour session.

Barnes said the Uclans had a "very good workout" Wednesday. "Our passing was very good—all three tailbacks were passing effectively," said Barnes, once tutored by Warmath as a Tennessee assistant.

Ohio State, UCLA to Meet Tonight, But Not in Rose Bowl

By DON WEISS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Memo to Woody Hayes: Hey coach, Ohio State is going to play UCLA after all. But don't pull back those Christmas cards with the drooping roses. The game is not in your sport.

The Ohio State Buckeyes, stopped by a faculty committee from accepting a Rose Bowl football invitation to play the Uclans at Pasadena, will bring it off in basketball instead—tonight in the semifinals of the Los Angeles Classic.

The Bucks, unanimous choices as No. 1 among the college hoopsters again this season, made it eight in a row with a hard-earned 59-49 first round victory over Washington at the Los Angeles Arena Wednesday night. Jerry Lucas, the two-time All-America, led with 20 points and a bundle of rebounds for the Bucks, who'll meet a UCLA team that toyed with Army 86-72 in its tournament opener.

The other semifinal matches fourth-ranked Southern California, an 80-63 winner over Purdue, and unranked Utah, which whipped seventh-ranked West Virginia, 84-83.

Two Other Tourneys

Ten other major tournaments will be in action tonight, including such choice pairings as defending NCAA champ Cincinnati vs. LaSalle and unbeaten Dayton vs. Wisconsin in the Holiday Festival at New York; and Villanova vs. third-ranked Duquesne in a semifinal battle of unbeatens in the Quaker City tournament at Philadelphia.

The All-College matches Bowling Green, which knocked Seattle out of the unbeaten ranks 70-61 Wednesday night, against Wichita, 71-69 victor over Texas A&M in overtime; plus a game between Tuesday's winners, Houston and Utah State.

Here are Wednesday night's key games:

Los Angeles Classic—Lucas' 20 points and rebounding, John Havicek's 12 points and solid defense by the whole club kept Ohio State in control against Washington, although the Huskies once got to within four points in second half. Southern Cal (8-1) got 19 points apiece from John Rudometkin and Chris Appel and held All-America Terry Dischinger to 12—less than half his average—in romp over once-beaten Purdue. Gary Cunningham's 21 points, 17 in first half, triggered UCLA's rout of Army; and Billy McGill, the nation's leading scorer, netted 39 points—a tournament record—as Utah (9-1) spilled West Virginia to its second loss in eight starts.

Big Eight—Mike Wroblewski's 20 points led fifth-ranked Kansas State (8-1) over Nebraska; and Missouri (5-4) upset Oklahoma State (7-2) 60-44 with a second half rally.

Far West at Portland, Ore.—Washington State, with Terry Ball scoring 23, spilled California 61-54, and Oregon State crushed Michigan 89-54. Tonight, it's Idaho-Portland and Oregon-Michigan State, completing the first round.

All-College at Oklahoma City—Bowling Green (6-1), down by 11 at the half, routed Seattle in second half, with 6-8 Nate Thurmond leading the way with 18 points. Then Wichita, with a 9-1 record including a one-point upset of Cincinnati, edged Texas A&M in overtime as Ernie Moore scored after swiping an Aggie pass with 11 seconds left.

Guf South at Shreveport—Richie Goldberg's 24 points led Mississippi Southern's 81-72 triumph over Louisiana Tech; and Centenary downed Murray (Ky) 81-69.

Kentucky, ranked sixth nationally, headed the teams playing in nontournament activity. The Wildcats, with Larry Pursiful hitting for 25 points and Cotton Nash and Carroll Burchett 16 apiece, thumped Yale 79-58 for their seventh victory in eight starts. Ralph Wells scored the ast four of his 21 points in overtime for Northwestern's 64-62 decision over Princeton; St. Louis snapped a four-game losing streak, 81-72 over Notre Dame; New Mexico State whipped Brigham Young 70-64 and Marquette branch, 930.

Aussies Finish Davis Cup Rout

MELBOURNE, Australia (AP) —Australians Rod Laver and Roy Emerson completed a 5-0 rout of Italy in the Davis Cup challenge round today, then settled back to await professional offers from tennis promoter Jack Kramer.

Both are reported interested in joining the Kramer troupe for a swing through Australia beginning next month.

Although Kramer hasn't spoken, he is expected to offer the two young Queenslanders contracts similar to those accepted by Americans Butch Buchholz and Barry Mackay right after the Davis Cup competition last year. They were guaranteed about $30,000 for three years.

Laver turned back Italian ace Nicola Pietrangeli in a five-set match after Emerson had routed Orlando Sirola, 6-2, 6-3, 4-6, 6-2. Laver finaly prevailed over Pietrangeli 6-3, 3-6, 4-6, 6-3, 8-6.

Laver and Emerson hold all the major amateur tennis titles of 1961. Laver won the Wimbledon championship and Emerson took the Australian and U.S. titles, the latter in an upset of Laver.

SCHOLASTIC CORNER

By ED PALLADINO

The best way to start a controversy is to sit down and try to select an all-star team. Whether the sport be a major one such as baseball, football or basketball or whether it be lacrosse, the avid fan and the armchair quarterback will find fault in the selection and attempt to make a better one.

After much soul-searching thought, we have attempted to select the ten best DUSO League basketball performers since the post-war period. Bear in mind, that when we say since the post-war period, we are not taking into consideration many of the top cagers in the league in the early 1940s. Frankly, basketball has changed by leaps and bounds since before the war and it's unfair to try and compare those performers with the later day ones.

We haven't been around since the post-war period began and many of the selections have been made only after some talks with the veterans of the hardwood sport, those who have been on the scene many more years than this observer.

We also took into consideration the fact that players were judged, not on one great season but on two or even three seasons of top grade high school basketball. Many performers at the schools didn't reach their peaks until they played college ball. To mention two from Kingston, they would be Frank Koenig and Marty Kaye.

In picking our top ten choices, we are not placing them on a first or second team or picking them by positions. They are our selections as the ten best cagers in the DUSO League and here they are:

FOUR FROM KINGSTON

Kingston is represented by four players. They include Ronnie Scheffel, Dick Bezemer, Skip Brodhead and Joe Uhl. From Newburgh we pick Dick Tyler and Mickey Burkoski. From Poughkeepsie our choices are Monty Stickles and Garry Mendez. Alex Osowick represents Port Jervis and Bob Laskowitz is our choice from Fallsburgh.

Why does Kingston have four representatives? The reason is simple. During the late 1940s, the early 1950s and then last season, the Maroon cage teams completely dominated the league.

Scheffel is the best known of the foursome. He scored 845 points in two full seasons and part of a third. Ronnie had great speed and tremendous shooting ability as a high school player. He later went to North Carolina State and was a backcourt star for Coach Ev Case.

Bezemer was a good player as a junior and tremendous as a senior. He tallied 454 points in his final year and totaled 714 for two seasons. Dick also starred in college, at Rollins in Florida.

Brodhead was the first KHS player to score more than 1,000 points. He had 1,066 for three seasons. Skip was fast and could shoot. He also played defense and did a good job. There's no doubt he would have been a good college player if he stayed in school.

Uhl takes a back seat to nobody in all-around ability. Joe tallied 1,282 points in two-and-a-half seasons, set all the modern scoring records at Kingston and was still a good team player. He's now at Boston University and is leadirg the frosh team in scoring.

POUGHKEEPSIE HAS A PAIR

Poughkeepsie, which came back into the DUSO in the early 1950s, has had two great players and they were members of the team which beat Kingston in that memorable thriller back in 1954. Stickles scored over 1,100 points for Poughkeepsie in three years of varsity play and had a single game high of 46. Though he didn't play basketball in college, he could have. That he became an All-American grid star is a tribute to his athletic abilities.

Mendez was a solid player for Sam J. Kalloch. He had a soft outside shot and was a good boy on the backboards. Garry played his college basketball at Hobart College in Geneva.

Tyler and Burkoski, the two NFA greats, will long be remembered. Tyler tallied 54 points in a single game for the Goldbacks. He was a teammate of Scheffel's at NC State. Burkoski scored 1324 points in four years of DUSO play. He made the Hilly City team as a freshman and started each season. Mickey played with Manhattan College and captained the Jaspers his senior year. He's now jayvee coach at Newburgh.

Osowick has the individual single game high in the DUSO with a fantastic 62 points, made during the 1957-58 season. He also holds the season record, getting 484 markers in 1956-57. Ossie's best shot was a rainbow hook but he also was deadly with a jumper. He's a junior at Manhattan and starts on the cage squad.

Laskowitz kept Fallsburgh in the limelight for three years. He was certainly one of the best ever to come from that small school, which no longer competes in the DUSO city league.

MANY OMISSIONS

In picking our top ten we have omitted many names. Such stars as Mendy Ringel of Monticello; John Lawrence of Liberty; Ed Mack, Jay Bauer and Dick Beams of Port Jervis; Leo Elwell, Lee J. Nelson, Jim Gordon, Deke and Charley Johnson and Steve Albrecht of Poughkeepsie; Ed Weaver, LeRoy Hooker, Joe Albany, Mike Rienzo and Bob Ghear of Kingston; Wayne Mauer of Liberty; Marty Tannenbaum of Ellenville; Jim Merritt of Middletown; Aaron Podhurst of Fallsburgh and Bob Spreer and LeRoy Riley of Newburgh come to mind. There are probably others we have overlooked.

However, we would like to have those ten stars and coach them through four years of college. They figure to win most of their games.

Injury Puts End To Schayes' Mark

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Dolph Schayes' record performance of 706 consecutive games during the regular season and 765, including playoffs, in the National Basketball Association has been halted by an injury.

The 33-year-old Syracuse veteran missed Wednesday night's game due to emergency surgery on his right cheek bone. It was shattered in a collision with Al Attles in a game in Boston Tuesday night.

A hospital spokesman said he doubted Schayes could play for several weeks. It was the first game the veteran forward missed since Feb. 17, 1952.

The Nats missed Schayes as they lost to Los Angeles 119-111. Elgin Baylor led the Lakers with 48 points while teammate Jerry West added 28. Lee Shaffer was high for the Nats with 23 points.

In the nightcap of the doubleheader Philadelphia defeated New York 131-119 as Wilt Chamberlain pushed in 53 points to go over the 50 mark for the 20th time this year.

In other Wednesday night games, Jack Twyman pushed in 34 points to highlight a 142-117 Cincinnati victory over St. Louis. Detroit beat Chicago 121-93 behind the scoring of Gene Shue, who collected 26 points.

New Paltz Five, Red Hook Beaten By Big Margins

Roosevelt Central and Valley Central raced to easy victories last night in the opening round of the first annual New Paltz Central School cage tourney. The Presidents swamped the host school, 66-42, in the second game after Valley Central had knocked off Red Hook, 55-42.

Roosevelt had too much height and manpower for the Huguenots. Art Bell, Pete Brenner and Jim Jeffrey, all standing well over six feet, controlled the backboards and did most of the scoring for the winners, who received limited service from Wes Bialosuknia, their injured star.

Ken Freer rimmed 16 points for New Paltz but his efforts weren't successful. The winners led 15-6, 35-17, and 48-29 at the quarter stops.

It took Valley Central more than a quarter to get warmed up but once the Vikings started to find the range, their match with Red Hook became lopsided. The Hookers led, 12-9 after the first period but by halftime the winners had a 28-17 margin. Red Hook scored a total of five points in each of the second and third periods.

Twelve players saw action for Valley Central and ten of them dented the twine.

Shrine Games Clubs Lacking A Quarterback

By HARRY JUPITER
Associated Press Sports Writer

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The lineups for the 37th Shrine East-West football game Saturday are set—except for the quarterbacks.

Both head coaches, Joe Kuharich of the East and Jim Owens of the West, still were trying to decide today between a pair of outstanding quarterbacks on each squad.

Kuharich said he probably wouldn't decide until game time whether the East quarterback would be Roman Gabriel of North Carolina State or Ron Miller of Wisconsin.

Owens had a similar problem, trying to choose between John Had olf Kansas and Mel Melin of Washington State.

The West loaded its biggest men into its defensive line in hopes of halting East smashers Ernie Davis of Syracuse and Bob Ferguson of Ohio State, a sensational pair of All-America runners.

The East stacked up what might be an all Big Ten line for its defensive unit, with six Big Ten linemen and Nick Buoniconti of Notre Dame.

Kuharich still was undecided too on whether he woud use Angelo Daberio of Notre Dame or Gary Baliman of Michigan State as the East flanker back. Daberio is the smallest man on either squad at 5-foot-8 and 165 pounds but the ittle guy from Donora, Pa., is rugged.

In addition to the quarterback, the West offensive backfield stacked up as Curtis McClinton of Kansas and Mack Burton of San Jose State at halfbacks and Ron Bull of Baylor at fullback.

Glenerie Bridge Club Results

Miss Dorothy Maroon and Dr. Habeeb Maroon of Kingston posted a fine 60 per cent game to take first place on the North-South side as the Glenerie Bridge Club held its monthly master point game recently at the Stuyvesant-Kingston Hotel.

On the East-West side, Steve Pauker and Dr. Murray Fletcher of Kingston turned in a fine 55 per cent game to take top honors.

Second on the North-South side went to Mrs. Sherman Kent and Mrs. I. H. Wheatcroft of Kingston with a 57 per cent game. Third went to Herbert Gartner and I. H. Wheatcroft of Kingston with a 56½ per cent game. Fourth was won by Mr. and Mrs. Robert Yallum, Kingston, with a 53 per cent game.

Second on the East-West side went to Mr. and Mrs. Stanley London of Kingston with a 54½ per cent game. Third went to Dr. and Mrs. John Olivet of Kingston with a 53 per cent game and fourth went to Harry Thayer of Kingston and Dr. Paul Perlman of Woodstock with a 52 per cent game.

LSU, Colorado Increase Tempo

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — "Pick up your feet, you big horse."... "Don't throw the ball away." ... "Come back and run that one again boys, you looked a little ragged."

These were the sounds of the practice field Wednesday as Colorado and Louisiana State picked up the tempo aimed at their Orange Bowl football collision Monday.

Cold Holds Icy Grip on Many Areas

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Cold weather held an icy grip across the Midwest today and some of the frigid air dipped deep into parts of the Southland.

Snow, sleet and rain created hazardous driving conditions in the north and middle Atlantic regions and parts of the South. Light snow fell in northern Alabama, North Carolina and eastern Tennessee.

Three inches of snow covered areas in northwestern North Carolina and in Tennessee, three inches of ice- and snow-slicked areas in the Cumberland plateau. Temperatures in most of the wet belt were near or below freezing.

Light snow also fell in the Middle Mississippi Valley, the eastern Great Lakes region and the extreme northern Plains.

Below zero again hit areas in Wisconsin, Iowa, Minnesota, Upper Michigan and Illinois. Temperatures dropped below zero in parts of northern Illinois as the cold air moved east and southward from the snow-covered sections of the Midwest.

Coldest air appeared centered in Wisconsin during the morning. It was -15 in Wausau, -12 in Green Bay and -10 in La Crosse. It also was -10 in Marquette, Mich., and -8 in Minneapolis.

Temperatures moderated to near normal levels in most of Florida after unseasonable cold earlier this week. Readings were mostly in the 50s and 60s, with Miami reporting 62.

Snow to Measure About 4 Inches Or More in N.Y.

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — Wet snow peppered much of New York State today, and the Weather Bureau forecast four or more inches by nightfall in parts of the southeastern portion.

The bureau said the snow would taper off to flurries tonight, except for scattered squalls. Tonight was expected to be windy and temperatures were likely to range from near zero in some mountain valleys, through the teens to the low 20s in New York City.

Wednesday night's overnight low temperatures were mostly in the 20s and 30s.

MSH Security Is Not Sufficient Baratta Insists

Security at Matteawan State Hospital for the Criminally Insane, Beacon, should be at least equivalent to that taken and utilized in state prison, Dutchess County District Attorney Raymond C. Baratta on Wednesday told Supreme Court Justice Leonard Supple.

Baratta's comment came just before Justice Supple discharged the June Supreme Court grand jury which investigated security at the Southern Dutchess institution after five inmates sawed their way to freedom with a smuggled in saw last July 28.

Baratta called the cost of enclosing the entire Matteawan property within a wall or fence financially prohibitive. He recommended that certain buildings on the hospital grounds should be completely secured by prison-type walls or fences.

The district attorney said his office found windows and bars on some of the Matteawan buildings were not adequate and without protection of steel screening, which would prevent illegal passage of articles and contraband from the outside.

The Supreme Court grand jury handed up a six-count indictment charging the five inmates involved in the unsuccessful dash for freedom with conspiracy and escape.

The five inmates who escaped and were captured by authorities are still confined at Matteawan. They are Harold Weinberg, 33; Pedro Arroyo, 31; Walter Pierce, 19; Steve Wuchich, 41, and Raphael Batista, 35.

Baratta told Justice Supple the matter of security at Matteawan rests with the State Department of Correction.

Hints Surprise In Laos Talks

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP)—Neutralist Prince Souvanna Phouma smiled and told reporters Thursday: "Let me work on this three or four days. Maybe you will have quite a nice surprise."

That was Souvanna's summary of a day of behind-the-scenes talks among Laotians—watched over by U.S., British and Soviet ambassadors—to check prospects for revival of the Laotian three princes' abortive summit conference.

Premier Prince Boun Oum, a rightist, persisted in his refusal to sit with Phouma and Phouma's half-brother, Prince Souphanouvong, who is pro-Communist, to complete negotiations for a coalition government.

But Gen. Phoumi Nosavan, defense minister and strong man of Boun Oum's administration, paid a courtesy call on Souvanna at the latter's guarded villa. And Souvanna's expression of apparent optimism was issued after that meeting.

Hollywood News, Views

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — It's nice to see Marie Wilson back in movies—and so much of her!

There With Jimmy

It is the third nude scene I have covered this month, the previous participants having been Julia Meade-Tom Poston and Elsa Martinelli-Charlton Heston. This one had Marie and Jimmy Stewart caught in the steamy shower room.

Marie was wearing the traditional uniform for such scenes: the flesh-colored leotard—director Henry Koster sometimes referred to it as a leopard. Normally such an outfit would satisfy all censorial objections, but on Marie it could get a theater raided. Koster had to admonish her repeatedy to hold the shower curtain where it would do the most good.

The scene has Stewart stumbling into the shower room late at night in a resort hotel. He encounters Marie, supposedly a decorous bird-watcher but actually a late-night tippler who is steaming out her hiccups. Stewart struggles to escape, but the door knob comes offf in his hand.

Too Much Marie

The scene had to be re-shot several times. As Koster commented, "we see too much of Marie."

"Mr. Hobbs Takes His Vacation" is making up for an oversight. The films haven't been seeing enough of Marie in recent years. Her last role was as Marie Antoinette ("I lost my head") in "The Story of Mankind," an episodic marvel made in 1957 and apparently seen by no one.

Before that it was "Marry Me Again," a merry romp with Robert Cummings in 1953.

What has she been doing all this time?

"Oh, I've been busy," she said. "I guess we've played 50-60 weeks in Las Vegas in the past few years. And everywhere else, too."

If anything, Marie's figure is better than before—a stupifying 39-19-37½. Her waist is three inches smaller than when she ruled as queen of the "Blackouts," during its seven-year Hollywood run, the hips shaved an inch. Everything else is the same.

Nehru Denies He Talked With Reds On Goa Invasion

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Prime Minister Nehru said today he did not discuss India's invasion of Goa and two other Portuguese enclaves with the Soviet Union beforehand and had no advance indication of Moscow's support.

He told a news conference "We tried to find some way of escape" from military attack. But he rejected any suggestion that India withdraw from the former Portuguese territory now.

Nehru said the invasion date was postponed twice because of diplomatic approaches by the United States and Britain urging a peaceful settlement. He said the final American effort came too late—only three hours before Indian troops struck.
